Won't Run, Gov. Dewey Says

Winchell Testifies He Does Not Know Who Gave Him 'FBI Letter'

Broadcaster Says He's 'Pretty Sure' McCarthy Didn't

WINCHELL AT HEARING — Walter Winchell, newspaper columnist, sits in the hearing room shortly before taking the witness chair yesterday before senators looking into censure charges against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis). From the witness stand, Winchell testified he does not know who gave him a copy of the secret "FBI letter" McCarthy presented at the McCarthy-Army hearings. Winchell said it was not McCarthy who gave him the paper and that he did not think any member of McCarthy's staff had handed it to him. (AP Wirephoto)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—Walter Winchell testified today he does not know who gave him a purported copy of the secret "FBI letter" in the McCarthy-Army dispute but: "I am pretty sure that it was not Sen. McCarthy."

The columnist and broadcaster also swore it was not—to the best of his recollection—any member of the Republican Wisconsin senator's staff who handed him the hotly controversial document, though he declared he wouldn't name the person who gave it to him even if he did know.

Winchell appeared under subpoena as the third and last witness called by the special Senate committee investigating censure charges against McCarthy, who is scheduled to begin presenting his defense tomorrow.

"Forgery," Flanders Says

Only a few hours earlier Sen. Flanders (R-Vt), originator of the censure charges, said a "clear violation" of the espionage law appears to have been involved in the transmittal of the secret document to Winchell.

He said the "letter" amounted to a forgery and that McCarthy appeared to have broken the law by concealing the identity of the forger.

Flanders said in a memo made public by the committee that McCarthy either gave Winchell the document himself or knew who did. In either case, Flanders said, McCarthy's action "would seem to constitute a serious violation of the law."

McCarthy declined to comment on Flanders' statement.

The "letter" in question was produced by McCarthy last May during the hearings in his row with Army officials. It concerned a hunt for spies at Ft. Monmouth, N.J., and Atty. Gen. Brownell ruled it would be against the nation's interest to make it public.

Ervin May Be Challenged

Winchell wrote in his syndicate column at the time that he had a copy of the "letter," and today Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) and other members of the investigating committee asked him all about it—without much result.

Winchell figured also in another development today, although it didn't come into the open during the hearing. Sources close to McCarthy indicated the senator may question the impartiality of Sen. Ervin (D-NC), a member of the six-man committee, on the basis of information Winchell broadcast Sunday night.

McCarthy declined comment on the report. Ervin told newsmen he knew of no basis for challenging his impartiality.

Winchell said Ervin was quoted in the Winston-Salem, N.C. Sentinel and Journal on Aug. 1 as saying:

"I am a lawyer and as a lawyer I know you cannot convict a man on hearsay evidence. Personally I have formed an unfavorable opinion of the junior senator from Wisconsin (McCarthy) since going to Washington."

Handed Folded Copy

Winchell testified under oath that somebody handed him a folded copy of the "letter" as he stood talking with some other newsmen outside the hearing room during a brief recess of the McCarthy-Army inquiry. He said he "didn't take a very good look" at the person who gave him the letter and could only say it was a white man, probably in civilian clothes.

Winchell said he told FBI Di-

Miss. Governor Calls For School Abolition Plan

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 7 (AP) — Gov. Hugh White—vowing last-ditch legal warfare in support of segregation—today urged the Mississippi Legislature to approve a constitutional amendment giving itself power to abolish public schools.

The governor urged the amendment to "meet a crisis we did not seek" in a speech to a joint session of the Senate and House of Representatives two hours after the Legislature opened a special session.

"We shall resist . . . by every legal means at our command," said White, referring to the U.S. Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in public schools.

"Last Resort"

But state leaders emphasized abolition of Mississippi's public schools would be a "last resort."

Even if adopted by the Legislature, the amendment would have to be approved by a vote of the state's race-conscious citizens.

This is the way the amendment would work:

1. The Legislature by a two-thirds vote could abolish public schools throughout the state, or

2. Individual counties and school districts could abolish their public schools and set up private school systems, if local option received legislative approval by a simple majority vote.

Details Not Worked Out

Actually, details of the local option method have not been worked out. Neither have details of a private school system.

"We have explored every possible solution," said White in his 20-minute speech, broadcast over a Mississippi radio network. "May we never yield and may success crown our united efforts is my humble prayer."

Reports Large Ship Afire Unconfirmed

VIGO, Spain, Sept. 7 (AP)—Maritime monitors throughout Europe heard a report tonight that a large unidentified freighter was ablaze off the northwest coast of Spain. But vessels which rushed to the area could find neither the stricken ship nor the one which reported the fire.

The first report of the blaze came from the British fishing vessel Suzy, which reported the big ship was burning some 15 miles north of Cape Villano.

A short time later the Spanish coastal radio station here received a message from the Israeli freighter Henrietta Szold saying she had proceeded to the position given by the Suzy and could find neither the blazing ship nor the fishing vessel.

NOT CANDIDATE — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, shown in New York yesterday, said last night that under no circumstances would he be a candidate for re-election this fall. The Republican governor gave no hint as to whom he favored as his successor. He has held the governorship for 12 years but twice was defeated in bids for the presidency. (AP Wirephoto)

Southeast Asia Pact To Be Inked In Manila Today

MANILA, Wednesday, Sept. 8 (AP)—The formal signing of an eight-nation pact against aggression in Southeast Asia—particularly in Indochina—was scheduled for today as the Manila conference drew to a close.

Three days of secret meetings reportedly produced a treaty acceptable to all except for the wording of two articles. These deal with armed retaliation in case of attack and a guarantee of the principle of self government for the peoples of Asia.

The formal signing was set for 4 p.m. (3 a.m. Wednesday EST).

Foreign ministers and secretaries or their representatives will sign for Britain, Australia, New Zealand, France, Thailand, Pakistan, The Philippines, and the United States.

Warning To Red China

The pact calls for military assistance if necessary to the Indochina states of Laos, Cambodia and South Viet Nam.

It serves as a warning to Red China that the United States now has a legal right to start shooting if those states are attacked.

Although Indochina could not be considered a party to the treaty because of the agreement at Geneva, Guy le Chambre of France succeeded in having affixed to the draft a "document of protocol." This specified that the three states would benefit from both military and economic provisions.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles made a major concession when he agreed to delete from the treaty the word "Communist" to make the pact effective against aggression of all kinds in Southeast Asia.

Family Rows Different

Dulles said Communist aggression was considered an attack on the United States but it must be understood that family squabbles among non-Communist nations were a different matter.

He stood firm, however, against making the Pacific pact—which still has no formal name—on the order of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Philippines and Thailand insisted the pact should say—as does NATO—that any attack against one signatory nation would be considered an attack against all.

The Pacific draft provides that countries must satisfy requirements of their constitutions before going to war.

Mother Sighs "Wonderful" As Quads Start To School

LATROBE, Pa., Sept. 7 (AP) — School bells rang today for the 6-year-old Zavada quadruplets and it brought a sigh of "wonderful" from their mother. It was the quads' first day in 1st grade.

"Now maybe I can get some of my housework done," commented Mrs. Barbara Zavada. "You don't know how wonderful it is to have the children in school."

The quads—a boy, John Michael; and three girls, Barbara Rose, Anna Mary and Bernadette Elizabeth—began 1st grade at St. Vincent parochial school in West Latrobe.

It was a busy day for Mrs. Zavada. She arose at 6 a.m., packed individual lunches, dressed each and then drove them to school in the family car.

Perhaps the biggest chore for Mrs. Zavada was packing their lunches. Each took a different sandwich.

Barbara Rose wanted ham, Anna Mary said she preferred chicken, Bernadette asked for minched ham—and John Michael—well to make things easy for mom, he settled for ham too.

The girls were all dressed in identical blue print dresses. John Michael wore tan trousers and a tan shirt. You couldn't expect him to wear a blue print—now could you?

"They were very eager to go," said Mrs. Zavada. "In fact they kept pressing me to get started. Well, we finally did and got there in plenty of time."

100 Junks, Gunboat And Five Motorized Vessels Damaged

TAIPEH, Formosa, Wednesday, Sept. 8 (AP)—The Nationalists struck savagely by air and sea yesterday for the second straight day at a menacing Red buildup near their island fortress of Quemoy.

The Defense Ministry announced the plane damaged more than 100 military junks, a gunboat and five motorized vessels. This is the sort of fleet which would be used in any invasion of Quemoy, which lies 120 miles across Formosa Straight from Formosa.

Antiaircraft Fire Ceases

The ministry also claimed that when the planes and warships had done their work, antiaircraft fire ceased on Amoy, seven miles from Quemoy. Fires raged in two fortresses at Amoy and on nearby Tatung Island.

(Peiping radio in a broadcast for home consumption said 42 Nationalist planes and five warships took part in the attack. It claimed one plane was shot down and 19 damaged. It said 18 persons were killed and 2 injured by the raiders, who dropped 62 bombs.

(The broadcast, heard in Tokyo, said the warships and artillery of Quemoy opened up on Amoy and Communist shore guns returned the fire.)

Craft Spotted Near Amoy

The Defense Ministry communique reported the Nationalists spotted the concentration of surface craft at Wuyu Island, near Amoy, and at the coastal base of Chihmei, which lies behind Amoy.

While some planes smashed at the surface craft, others joined in the attack on Amoy and again worked over Tatung Island, which had been hard hit the day before.

The Nationalists in this vest pocket war were stepping up their offensive - defensive operations to protect Quemoy, with its 30,000 troops and 40,000 civilian inhabitants. There has been action ever since last Friday, when the Reds hit Quemoy with a record shelling.

Holiday Traffic Toll 6-Year Low

[By The Associated Press]

Traffic deaths during the long Labor Day weekend touched a six-year low point for the holiday.

The showing was termed "encouraging" but the total still was regarded as "tragically high."

The final tabulation today showed there were 364 traffic deaths, 92 drownings and 83 deaths from other accidental causes. The total was 539.

The number of lives lost in traffic was the smallest for any Labor Day period since 1948, when 293 were killed.

The over-all total also was the lowest for the Labor Day period since 1948, when 407 deaths were reported.

Traffic deaths also fell under the 390 predicted by the National Safety Council. Ned H. Dearborn, president of the council, said the Labor Day holiday toll was "tragically high" but added that it was "encouraging because it followed the downwaard trend of traffic deaths in America."

The Labor Day holiday record for slaughter was set in 1951, when traffic fatalities added up to 461 and the all-accident death total soared to 658.

Charles Lindbergh's Mother Dies In Detroit

DETROIT, Sept. 7 (AP)—Mrs. Evangeline L. L. Lindbergh, 78, mother of the famous flier, died today at her suburban Grosse Pointe Park home after a long illness.

Her son, Brig. Gen. Charles A. Lindbergh, who gained international fame in 1927 when he flew the Spirit of St. Louis nonstop across the Atlantic, was to fly to Detroit from New York to arrange funeral services.

Mrs. Lindbergh had lived in retirement for the last 12 years after a long career in the Detroit public school system.

Kids' Aim Improves

MOLINE, Ill., Sept. 7 (AP)—Pupils reporting at Maple Grove School for the start of classes today found 62 window panes had been broken during the night. Last year on the eve of school reopening 51 panes were smashed.

Ike Congratulates Korean War Hero

Countercharges By Russia Seen In Plane Attack

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Sept. 7 (AP)—The Soviet Union is expected to make a strong diplomatic counter-attack in the Security Council to meet the United States' call for U.N. action in the shooting down of an American bomber by Russian planes.

Such a course was predicted tonight by Western diplomats as the Security Council delegates prepared for a meeting to consider the case.

Lodge Asks U. N. Action

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U.S. delegate to the U.N., last night asked the council to consider "the situation arising from the unprovoked attack on a U.S. Navy plane by aircraft of the Soviet Union over international waters on Sept. 4."

The U.S. Navy reported the American patrol bomber was well off Russian territory when two Russian jet fighters shot it down. Nine of the 10 crew members were rescued.

Soviet deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky had no comment on the American action in the security council but was expected to come out fighting when the council meets.

U. S. Downed Red Planes

Some Western diplomats speculated Vishinsky would raise in the council the incident off Hainan Island in July when U.S. carrier-based planes shot down two Chinese Communist planes which attacked them as they searched for survivors of a British airliner.

The Chinese Reds demanded U. N. action then but nothing was done about it.

A U.S. delegation spokesman said tonight the United States also is engaged in consultations with Britain and France about the procedure to be followed. These procedures delayed, possibly until tomorrow, formal submission of the official letter calling for council action.

Florida Alerted For Hurricane

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 7 (AP)—Hurricane Edna, packing 115 mile an hour winds, thundered through the Bahama Islands tonight toward the alerted Florida mainland.

Hurricane warnings already flew over all the Bahamas as the fifth tropical storm of the season aimed a punch at the colonial capital, Nassau. Hurricane winds of 100 miles an hour swept over San Salvador, or Watling Island, where Columbus made his first landing in the new world.

At 5 p.m. the storm was centered about 225 miles east southeast of Nassau. That position was about 390 miles east-southeast of Miami.

The storm was moving toward the west - northwest at 12 miles an hour.

Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster here, said hurricane warnings could be expected in Florida during the night or early tomorrow after the storm's future path had been pinpointed.

Ike Expresses Regret

DENVER, Sept. 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower tonight expressed sincere regret over the decision of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York not to seek another term.

Reporter Proves Johnny-On-Spot

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 7 (AP)—Reporter David Welty of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph was Johnny on-the-spot early today.

Just a few seconds after he stepped off a 900-pound steel cover of an underground transformer, an explosion ripped it out of the ground. Welty stopped to get the story.

A Duquesne Light Co. spokesman said the transformer apparently had become overheated and exploded.

Wife To Testify Today In Death Of Crippled Vet

LA PLATA, Md., Sept. 7 (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Hicks, wife of a crippled veteran who may have been murdered, was scheduled to appear before a Charles County grand jury at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

State's Attorney Robert T. Barbour said the 25-year-old woman will be one of two witnesses to testify.

The jury is investigating the death of Lewis A. Hicks, found dead in his car March 28 after it had crashed into the foundation of his home at nearby Port Tobacco.

Mrs. Hicks told police she was with her husband in the accident, but suffered only minor injuries.

Hicks' death was at first ruled accidental, but police reopened the case when it was learned the throttle of the car had been taped down. The legless veteran's wheel chair was found battered and bent in the unmarked trunk of the car.

Police have not been able to give an explanation for the smashed wheel chair or the taping of the throttle.

Mrs. Hicks left the La Plata area for Richmond, Va., shortly after her husband's death.

Soviet-Swedish Accord

MOSCOW, Sept. 7 (AP)—The Soviet Union said tonight it has reached agreement with Sweden for cooperation in air-sea rescue operations in the Baltic. The announcement gave no details of the agreement.

President Given 'Very Favorable' Report On Health

DENVER, Sept. 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower got a "very favorable" preliminary report today on the state of his health, and then cheerfully presented the nation's highest decoration—the Medal of Honor—to two Korean war heroes.

The President, looking chipper and smiling broadly, returned to his summer White House desk this morning after spending the night at nearby Fitzsimons Army Hospital. He had gone to the hospital 24 hours earlier for what an aide described as his annual physical checkup.

Tests Still Incomplete

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, told newsmen the Army doctors gave the President a "very favorable" preliminary report. Hagerty added that various laboratory tests won't be completed for several days.

Shortly after his return, Eisenhower presented the honor medals to infantry 1st Lt. Benjamin F. Wilson, 33, of Vashon, Wash., and Medical Corps Master Sgt. Ola L. Mize, 23, of Gadsden, Ala.

There were these other developments at the summer White House today:

1. The President drafted a reply to a telegram from Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) urging that the United States sever diplomatic relations with Russia. The summer White House reiterated the reply would not be made public here, but continued to indicate Eisenhower would reject Knowland's proposal.

Advisory Group Completed

2. Eisenhower completed membership of a five-man advisory committee which will study his proposed 10-year, 50 billion dollar national highway program.

3. Dr. Gabriel Hauge, Eisenhower's adviser of economic affairs, arrived from Washington and brought the President up to date on problems in that field.

Jewels On Crashed Plane

SHANNON, Ireland, Sept. 7 (AP) A KLM spokesman said tonight a quantity of diamonds and "much other valuable cargo" were still aboard the Dutch airline's super-Constellation which crashed into the River Shannon Sunday, causing 28 deaths.

Bud Fisher, Who Won Fame With "Mutt And Jeff," Dies

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Cartoonist Bud Fisher, a comic strip pioneer whose "Mutt and Jeff" became just like members of the family to millions of Americans, died today of cancer. He was 69.

Fisher, ailing for a year or more, became critically ill about three weeks ago at his Park Ave. home. He was moved to Roosevelt Hospital and died there this morning.

He had no close relatives.

It was Fisher's interest in horse racing which inspired the famous cartoon—now nearly a half century old—and won him fame and earned him millions.

Fisher, born Harry Conway Fisher in Chicago, journeyed west shortly after the turn of the century and got a job in the art department of the San Francisco Chronicle.

On his days off he went to the race track. He was soon impressed by horse-players who went about snooping and eavesdropping, trying to pick up a tip for a sure-fire thing.

One day he went into the Chronicle and showed the managing editor a sketch of a figure he based on the race track charters he had been observing.

This figure had a nose about as long as an anteater's, and had the name of "A. Mutt."

The Chronicle editor liked the idea, and agreed to run a comic strip featuring A. Mutt. Thus, in 1907, was born the first of the two cartoon characters who became national by-words and the subjects of films, books and theater skits.

Mutt proved highly popular immediately. Jeff, his sawed-off partner, didn't join him until three years later.

Declares He's Not Candidate For Any Office

N.Y. GOP Leader Does Not Mention Possible Successor

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said tonight he will not under any circumstances be a candidate "for any public office this fall."

"After the most thorough and even painful consideration," he said in a statewide telecast, "I have concluded that the time has come for me to return to private life. I shall not under any circumstances be a candidate for any public office this fall."

In announcing his decision to quit the governorship he held for 12 years, Dewey gave no hint as to whom he favored as his successor.

U.S. Sen. Irving M. Ives has been most frequently mentioned as a possibility for the Republican nomination for governor at the GOP state convention in Syracuse Sept. 22 and 23 if Dewey did not seek reelection.

Ives Not Mentioned

Dewey's speech made no mention of Ives. Ives was not available for comment but to a reporter a few hours before Dewey spoke, Ives said, as he has said before:

"I am not a candidate."

That appeared to leave up in the air—temporarily, at least—the question of whom the Republicans will get behind to meet a Democratic challenge to regain control of the state capitol.

Dewey promised, however, to take an active part in the campaign to elect his successor.

Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and Averell Harriman, former mutual aid chief, have been mentioned most frequently for the Democratic nomination to be decided at a convention starting Sept. 21 in New York City.

Wagner Also Prospect

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York also is regarded in some circles as a Democratic possibility, although he has said repeatedly he is not a candidate.

Dewey was active in 1952 in nominating Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the presidency. It was not yet clear how much influence Dewey would continue to wield in Republican circles now that he is stepping down from a powerful elective office.

Dewey is rounding out his third four-year term as governor.

Longshoremen Rescue 'Minnie'

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Longshoremen's hearts today proved stout enough—with the help of an air drill—to melt concrete, and tough Minnie the Moocher survived a week in a tomb.

Minnie is an alley cat, mother of a litter of eight. Her first glimpse of life six years ago was of Brooklyn's Pier 33, and Pier 33 has been her virtual horizon since.

The burly stevedores who frequent the pier adopted her as their own. She was a plague to waterfront rats.

Six days ago Minnie crawled down under Pier 33 to keep cool. Shortly thereafter, because the pier needed repair, a gang of men with concrete mixers appeared, and lo, 600 feet of 15-inch concrete blossomed where none had been before.

Presently longshoremen began to wonder where Minnie had strayed.

Several days passed. Finally someone remarked on the faint but persistent meows that rose from below the pier. Then members of Minnie's litter took to scratching at a certain spot.

Today half a dozen longshoremen, ASPCA agents and members of the concrete gang gathered there. A powerful air compressor was called into play and shortly an eight-inch hole had been drilled right through the 15 inches of concrete.

There was frightened Minnie, alive by virtue of a small air space that had kept her perch from being sealed off entirely.

Today's Chuckle

The tourist had just arrived in California, delighted with the way his car had withstood the rigors of the trip.

"How are the roads?" he was asked.

"Well, this guy Lincoln laid out a great highway, but that Frenchman De Tour was no road builder at all."

The Labor Day holiday record for slaughter was set in 1951, when traffic fatalities added up to 461 and the all-accident death total soared to 658.

Charles Lindbergh's Mother Dies In Detroit

DETROIT, Sept. 7 (AP)—Mrs. Evangeline L. L. Lindbergh, 78, mother of the famous flier, died today at her suburban Grosse Pointe Park home after a long illness.

Her son, Brig. Gen. Charles A. Lindbergh, who gained international fame in 1927 when he flew the Spirit of St. Louis nonstop across the Atlantic, was to fly to Detroit from New York to arrange funeral services.

Mrs. Lindbergh had lived in retirement for the last 12 years after a long career in the Detroit public school system.

Kids' Aim Improves

MOLINE, Ill., Sept. 7 (AP)—Pupils reporting at Maple Grove School for the start of classes today found 62 window panes had been broken during the night. Last year on the eve of school reopening 51 panes were smashed.

Ike Congratulates Korean War Hero

Declares He's Not Candidate For Any Office

N.Y. GOP Leader Does Not Mention Possible Successor

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said tonight he will not under any circumstances be a candidate "for any public office this fall."

"After the most thorough and even painful consideration," he said in a statewide telecast, "I have concluded that the time has come for me to return to private life. I shall not under any circumstances be a candidate for any public office this fall."

In announcing his decision to quit the governorship he held for 12 years, Dewey gave no hint as to whom he favored as his successor.

U.S. Sen. Irving M. Ives has been most frequently mentioned as a possibility for the Republican nomination for governor at the GOP state convention in Syracuse Sept. 22 and 23 if Dewey did not seek reelection.

Ives Not Mentioned

Dewey's speech made no mention of Ives. Ives was not available for comment but to a reporter a few hours before Dewey spoke, Ives said, as he has said before:

"I am not a candidate."

That appeared to leave up in the air—temporarily, at least—the question of whom the Republicans will get behind to meet a Democratic challenge to regain control of the state capitol.

Dewey promised, however, to take an active part in the campaign to elect his successor.

Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and Averell Harriman, former mutual aid chief, have been mentioned most frequently for the Democratic nomination to be decided at a convention starting Sept. 21 in New York City.

Wagner Also Prospect

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York also is regarded in some circles as a Democratic possibility, although he has said repeatedly he is not a candidate.

Dewey was active in 1952 in nominating Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the presidency. It was not yet clear how much influence Dewey would continue to wield in Republican circles now that he is stepping down from a powerful elective office.

Dewey is rounding out his third four-year term as governor.

Countercharges By Russia Seen In Plane Attack

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Sept. 7 (AP)—The Soviet Union is expected to make a strong diplomatic counter-attack in the Security Council to meet the United States' call for U.N. action in the shooting down of an American bomber by Russian planes.

Such a course was predicted tonight by Western diplomats as the Security Council delegates prepared for a meeting to consider the case.

Lodge Asks U. N. Action

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U.S. delegate to the U.N., last night asked the council to consider "the situation arising from the unprovoked attack on a U.S. Navy plane by aircraft of the Soviet Union over international waters on Sept. 4."

The U.S. Navy reported the American patrol bomber was well off Russian territory when two Russian jet fighters shot it down. Nine of the 10 crew members were rescued.

Soviet deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky had no comment on the American action in the security council but was expected to come out fighting when the council meets.

U. S. Downed Red Planes

Some Western diplomats speculated Vishinsky would raise in the council the incident off Hainan Island in July when U.S. carrier-based planes shot down two Chinese Communist planes which attacked them as they searched for survivors of a British airliner.

The Chinese Reds demanded U. N. action then but nothing was done about it.

A U.S. delegation spokesman said tonight the United States also is engaged in consultations with Britain and France about the procedure to be followed. These procedures delayed, possibly until tomorrow, formal submission of the official letter calling for council action.

Florida Alerted For Hurricane

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 7 (AP)—Hurricane Edna, packing 115 mile an hour winds, thundered through the Bahama Islands tonight toward the alerted Florida mainland.

Hurricane warnings already flew over all the Bahamas as the fifth tropical storm of the season aimed a punch at the colonial capital, Nassau. Hurricane winds of 100 miles an hour swept over San Salvador, or Watling Island, where Columbus made his first landing in the new world.

At 5 p.m. the storm was centered about 225 miles east southeast of Nassau. That position was about 390 miles east-southeast of Miami.

The storm was moving toward the west - northwest at 12 miles an hour.

Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster here, said hurricane warnings could be expected in Florida during the night or early tomorrow after the storm's future path had been pinpointed.

Ike Expresses Regret

DENVER, Sept. 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower tonight expressed sincere regret over the decision of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York not to seek another term.

Reporter Proves Johnny-On-Spot

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 7 (AP)—Reporter David Welty of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph was Johnny on-the-spot early today.

Just a few seconds after he stepped off a 900-pound steel cover of an underground transformer, an explosion ripped it out of the ground. Welty stopped to get the story.

A Duquesne Light Co. spokesman said the transformer apparently had become overheated and exploded.

Wife To Testify Today In Death Of Crippled Vet

LA PLATA, Md., Sept. 7 (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Hicks, wife of a crippled veteran who may have been murdered, was scheduled to appear before a Charles County grand jury at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

State's Attorney Robert T. Barbour said the 25-year-old woman will be one of two witnesses to testify.

The jury is investigating the death of Lewis A. Hicks, found dead in his car March 28 after it had crashed into the foundation of his home at nearby Port Tobacco.

Mrs. Hicks told police she was with her husband in the accident, but suffered only minor injuries.

Hicks' death was at first ruled accidental, but police reopened the case when it was learned the throttle of the car had been taped down. The legless veteran's wheel chair was found battered and bent in the unmarked trunk of the car.

Police have not been able to give an explanation for the smashed wheel chair or the taping of the throttle.

Soviet-Swedish Accord

MOSCOW, Sept. 7 (AP)—The Soviet Union said tonight it has reached agreement with Sweden for cooperation in air-sea rescue operations in the Baltic. The announcement gave no details of the agreement.

President Given 'Very Favorable' Report On Health

DENVER, Sept. 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower got a "very favorable" preliminary report today on the state of his health, and then cheerfully presented the nation's highest decoration—the Medal of Honor—to two Korean war heroes.

The President, looking chipper and smiling broadly, returned to his summer White House desk this morning after spending the night at nearby Fitzsimons Army Hospital. He had gone to the hospital 24 hours earlier for what an aide described as his annual physical checkup.

Tests Still Incomplete

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, told newsmen the Army doctors gave the President a "very favorable" preliminary report. Hagerty added that various laboratory tests won't be completed for several days.

Shortly after his return, Eisenhower presented the honor medals to infantry 1st Lt. Benjamin F. Wilson, 33, of Vashon, Wash., and Medical Corps Master Sgt. Ola L. Mize, 23, of Gadsden, Ala.

There were these other developments at the summer White House today:

1. The President drafted a reply to a telegram from Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) urging that the United States sever diplomatic relations with Russia. The summer White House reiterated the reply would not be made public here, but continued to indicate Eisenhower would reject Knowland's proposal.

Advisory Group Completed

2. Eisenhower completed membership of a five-man advisory committee which will study his proposed 10-year, 50 billion dollar national highway program.

3. Dr. Gabriel Hauge, Eisenhower's adviser of economic affairs, arrived from Washington and brought the President up to date on problems in that field.

Jewels On Crashed Plane

SHANNON, Ireland, Sept. 7 (AP) A KLM spokesman said tonight a quantity of diamonds and "much other valuable cargo" were still aboard the Dutch airline's super-Constellation which crashed into the River Shannon Sunday, causing 28 deaths.

Miss. Governor Calls For School Abolition Plan

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 7 (AP)—Gov. Hugh White—vowing last-ditch legal warfare in support of segregation—today urged the Mississippi Legislature to approve a constitutional amendment giving itself power to abolish public schools.

The governor urged the amendment to "meet a crisis we did not seek" in a speech to a joint session of the Senate and House of Representatives two hours after the Legislature opened a special session.

"We shall resist . . . by every legal means at our command," said White, referring to the U.S. Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in public schools.

"Last Resort"

But state leaders emphasized abolition of Mississippi's public schools would be a "last resort."

Even if adopted by the Legislature, the amendment would have to be approved by a vote of the state's race-conscious citizens.

This is the way the amendment would work:

1. The Legislature by a two-thirds vote could abolish public schools throughout the state, or

2. Individual counties and school districts could abolish their public schools and set up private school systems, if local option received legislative approval by a simple majority vote.

Details Not Worked Out

Actually, details of the local option method have not been worked out. Neither have details of a private school system.

"We have explored every possible solution," said White in his 20-minute speech, broadcast over a Mississippi radio network. "May we never yield and may success crown our united efforts is my humble prayer."

Reports Large Ship Afire Unconfirmed

VIGO, Spain, Sept. 7 (AP)—Maritime monitors throughout Europe heard a report tonight that a large unidentified freighter was ablaze off the northwest coast of Spain. But vessels which rushed to the area could find neither the stricken ship nor the one which reported the fire.

The first report of the blaze came from the British fishing vessel Suzy, which reported the big ship was burning some 15 miles north of Cape Villano.

A short time later the Spanish coastal radio station here received a message from the Israeli freighter Henrietta Szold saying she had proceeded to the position given by the Suzy and could find neither the blazing ship nor the fishing vessel.

Mother Sighs "Wonderful" As Quads Start To School

LATROBE, Pa., Sept. 7 (AP)—School bells rang today for the 6-year-old Zavada quadruplets and it brought a sigh of "wonderful" from their mother. It was the quads' first day in 1st grade.

"Now maybe I can get some of my housework done," commented Mrs. Barbara Zavada. "You don't know how wonderful it is to have the children in school."

The quads—a boy, John Michael; and three girls, Barbara Rose, Anna Mary and Bernadette Elizabeth—began 1st grade at St. Vincent parochial school in West Latrobe.

It was a busy day for Mrs. Zavada. She arose at 6 a.m., packed individual lunches, dressed each and then drove them to school in the family car.

Perhaps the biggest chore for Mrs. Zavada was packing their lunches. Each took a different sandwich.

Barbara Rose wanted ham, Anna Mary said she preferred chicken, Bernadette asked for minched ham—and John Michael—well to make things easy for mom, he settled for ham too.

The girls were all dressed in identical blue print dresses. John Michael wore tan trousers and a tan shirt. You couldn't expect him to wear a blue print—now could you?

"They were very eager to go," said Mrs. Zavada. "In fact they kept pressing me to get started. Well, we finally did and got there in plenty of time."

Bud Fisher, Who Won Fame With "Mutt And Jeff," Dies

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Cartoonist Bud Fisher, a comic strip pioneer whose "Mutt and Jeff" became just like members of the family to millions of Americans, died today of cancer. He was 69.

Fisher, ailing for a year or more, became critically ill about three weeks ago at his Park Ave. home. He was moved to Roosevelt Hospital and died there this morning.

He had no close relatives.

It was Fisher's interest in horse racing which inspired the famous cartoon—now nearly a half century old—and won him fame and earned him millions.

Fisher, born Harry Conway Fisher in Chicago, journeyed west shortly after the turn of the century and got a job in the art department of the San Francisco Chronicle.

On his days off he went to the race track. He was soon impressed by horse-players who went about snooping and eavesdropping, trying to pick up a tip for a sure-fire thing.

One day he went into the Chronicle and showed the managing editor a sketch of a figure he based on the race track charters he had been observing.

This figure had a nose about as long as an anteater's, and had the name of "A. Mutt."

The Chronicle editor liked the idea, and agreed to run a comic strip featuring A. Mutt. Thus, in 1907, was born the first of the two cartoon characters who became national by-words and the subjects of films, books and theater skits.

Mutt proved highly popular immediately. Jeff, his sawed-off partner, didn't join him until three years later.

Longshoremen Rescue 'Minnie'

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Longshoremen's hearts today proved stout enough—with the help of an air drill—to melt concrete, and tough Minnie the Moocher survived a week in a tomb.

Minnie is an alley cat, mother of a litter of eight. Her first glimpse of life six years ago was of Brooklyn's Pier 33, and Pier 33 has been her virtual horizon since.

The burly stevedores who frequent the pier adopted her as their own. She was a plague to waterfront rats.

Six days ago Minnie crawled down under Pier 33 to keep cool. Shortly thereafter, because the pier needed repair, a gang of men with concrete mixers appeared, and lo, 600 feet of 15-inch concrete blossomed where none had been before.

Presently longshoremen began to wonder where Minnie had strayed.

Several days passed. Finally someone remarked on the faint but persistent meows that rose from below the pier. Then members of Minnie's litter took to scratching at a certain spot.

Today half a dozen longshoremen, ASPCA agents and members of the concrete gang gathered there. A powerful air compressor was called into play and shortly an eight-inch hole had been drilled right through the 15 inches of concrete.

There was frightened Minnie, alive by virtue of a small air space that had kept her perch from being sealed off entirely.

Today's Chuckle

The tourist had just arrived in California, delighted with the way his car had withstood the rigors of the trip.

"How are the roads?" he was asked.

Maryland's Holiday Highway Death Toll One Sixth Of 1953's

[By The Associated Press]

Maryland got through the long Labor Day weekend with only three highway deaths for what safety experts said was the best holiday driving record in modern history.

There were two drownings to make the accidental death total five as compared to a total of 24 deaths over the 1953 Labor Day weekend.

There were 18 killed on the state's highways last year—six times as many as died over the 1954 Labor Day weekend.

Paul E. Burke, executive director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission said it was tragic that there were any deaths at all, but pointed out the driving record was the best of any holiday in recent times.

"We had feared the State's traffic death count over Labor Day would be six to ten," Burke said today.

A one-car crackup just before midnight Monday resulted in two deaths. Joseph Kelly Tennyson, 42, of Avenue, St. Mary's County, was dead on arrival at St. Mary's Hospital, Leonardtown, and George Herbert Payne, 22, of Loveville, also St. Mary's County, died Tuesday morning of injuries.

The accident happened on Maryland 520 near River Springs in St. Mary's County. A third man, James Ritchie Downs, 31, of Clements, also St. Mary's County, was in fair condition in St. Mary's Hospital with a fractured pelvis.

State Police said the car left the road on the left side, came back to the right side and finally turned over three times.

Vincent Turner, 70, of Philadelphia, was the other traffic victim. He was hit by a car as he crossed U. S. 40 east of Baltimore early Monday.

The drowning victims were Frank Valore, 32, of Reading, Pa., and Jenkin Newton, 68, Negro, of Berlin, Worcester County.

Valore drowned Sunday when his boat turned over off White Crystal Beach, Cecil County. Newton fell from a pier while fishing about two miles from his home.

Police Holding Fatal Shooting Eyewitness

SALISBURY, Md., Sept. 7 (AP)—State police said today they have an eyewitness to the fatal shooting Sunday of Fred C. Carmine at nearby Quantico.

The officers said they were holding, at his own request for safekeeping, Morris Townsend, about 50 who told police he was sitting about 12 feet from the scene of the shooting.

Arthur J. Nichols, 43, has been charged with the fatal shotgun shooting of Carmine Sunday during an argument over a gallon of wine.

Townsend told officers Nichols threatened him with the shotgun also, but he ran three miles to the home of Carmine's brother, Lorenzo.

Troopers said Nichols was shell-shocked during World War II and has been a patient in Eastern Shore State Hospital in Cambridge twice.

Teeners Seized In Beach Raids

OCEAN CITY, Md., Sept. 7 (AP)—State's Attorney Jack Sanford said today parents from Baltimore should be asked to attend Worcester County Juvenile Court hearings for about 75 teen agers rounded up in raids on teen-age beach beer parties.

"Actually, the parents are worse than the kids," said Sanford, "allowing them to come here without proper chaperones."

The youngsters were rounded up in a series of early morning beach raids by a jeep-driving deputy sheriff, Edward Lee Carey, with State Police Sgt. Edward McGee and Trooper Everett Burns.

The officers "got enough beer to start a brewery," Sanford said.

He said the raids were ordered after complaints from residents about teen agers carousing on the beach north of Ocean City. Complaints ranged from excessive noisemaking to vandalism.

Sanford said he would confer with the First Judicial Circuit Court to determine what course will be followed in disposing of the cases. The officers took the names and addresses of the youngsters, but the majority were not taken to jail.

Baltimore Opens Its Schools To Negroes

BALTIMORE, Sept. 7 (AP)—About 143,000 Baltimore children quietly began a new era in race relations today as the city opened its schools for the first time to Negro and white children alike.

At least 16 public schools had mixed classes on the first day of school.

Registration was not tallied according to race so it was not possible to determine the exact number of schools with both white and colored children.

The only school disturbance reported today was over the condition of one of the school buildings. About a third of the school body at school No. 200 remained home in protest.

A huge open cesspool, closed off with a broken fence, was one of the main issues at the primary school. Parents claimed it was dangerous and pointed also to a number of eroded gullies about two feet deep on the property.

The school was formerly a Negro school, but is now primarily white.

Elementary schools with mixed enrollments were mainly located in neighborhoods composed of both races.

There was proportionately more integration on the secondary school level and it appeared all but one or two of the city's high schools would have Negro students.

Some had only a few. At Eastern High, where the enrollment is about 2,000 there were only seven Negro students today.

At Baltimore Polytechnic High School, Negro students were no novelty. They were admitted last year to the accelerated course because there was nothing equal to it in any of the Negro schools.

In the counties, segregation continued. The difference in policy between Baltimore and the counties stems from differing interpretations of the U. S. Supreme Court ruling banning race segregation in public schools.

Baltimore City Solicitor Thomas N. Biddison viewed the ruling as rendering the city ordinances providing for segregation as unconstitutional. Acting on Biddison's interpretation, the Board of School Commissioners ended segregation.

Attorney General Edward D. E. Rollins had another interpretation, for the state. He said segregation was still in effect under State law until the Supreme Court implements its decision, an action expected after methods of carrying out the ruling are discussed before the Supreme Court in October.

However, parochial schools were taking in Negro students.

Demo Leader Fined

OCEAN CITY, Md., Sept. 7 (AP)—Lynwood Duncan, 52, of Pocomoke City, vice chairman of the Worcester County Democratic State Central Committee, was fined $52.50 today on charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Trial Magistrate James B. Robbins acquitted Duncan on another charge of tampering with a motor vehicle.

Queen Annes Co. Officials Called To Election Probe

CENTREVILLE, Md., Sept. 7 (AP)—County officials and leading candidates for office were on the list of 65 witnesses summoned to appear tomorrow before a Queen Annes County grand jury probing charges of irregularities in the June 28 primary election.

Special State's Attorney Howard Wood III said the list of witnesses included:

Joseph M. George of Sudlersville, former member of the State Roads Commission and a former state senator.

County Commissioners Harry F. Callahan and E. Oliver Legg.

Registrar of Wills Edward Earl Coursey.

County Treasurer Claude Lowery.

The grand jury investigation was touched off by Hyman Pressman of Baltimore, an attorney for George P. Mahoney, during Mahoney's unsuccessful attempt to take Queen Annes County nominating votes away from H. C. Byrd, the Democratic nominee for governor.

Pressman said he had five affidavits from voters who said they were paid money to vote for Byrd. Pressman demanded an investigation, but asked that State's Attorney Clayton C. Carter, a candidate for nomination as a county commissioner, be disqualified.

Carter later disqualified himself, and Judge William R. Horney of the Second Judicial Circuit named Wood to direct the investigation.

The grand jury session originally was to have started today, but was postponed a day because the foreman, Harry C. Rhodes, is also county school superintendent and was occupied with the reopening of schools.

Wood earlier said it will probably take the grand jury two or three days to complete the questioning of all witnesses.

Fisherman Reports Big Rock Fish Catch

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Sept. 7 (AP)—The biggest catch of rock fish to be reported in many years was brought in here today by Frank Beck, a commercial fisherman who said he had a catch of 40 tons.

Queen Annes Co. Officials Called To Election Probe

CENTREVILLE, Md., Sept. 7 (AP)—County officials and leading candidates for office were on the list of 65 witnesses summoned to appear tomorrow before a Queen Annes County grand jury probing charges of irregularities in the June 28 primary election.

Special State's Attorney Howard Wood III said the list of witnesses included:

Joseph M. George of Sudlersville, former member of the State Roads Commission and a former state senator.

County Commissioners Harry F. Callahan and E. Oliver Legg.

Registrar of Wills Edward Earl Coursey.

County Treasurer Claude Lowery.

The grand jury investigation was touched off by Hyman Pressman of Baltimore, an attorney for George P. Mahoney, during Mahoney's unsuccessful attempt to take Queen Annes County nominating votes away from H. C. Byrd, the Democratic nominee for governor.

Pressman said he had five affidavits from voters who said they were paid money to vote for Byrd. Pressman demanded an investigation, but asked that State's Attorney Clayton C. Carter, a candidate for nomination as a county commissioner, be disqualified.

Carter later disqualified himself, and Judge William R. Horney of the Second Judicial Circuit named Wood to direct the investigation.

The grand jury session originally was to have started today, but was postponed a day because the foreman, Harry C. Rhodes, is also county school superintendent and was occupied with the reopening of schools.

Wood earlier said it will probably take the grand jury two or three days to complete the questioning of all witnesses.

Fisherman Reports Big Rock Fish Catch

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Sept. 7 (AP)—The biggest catch of rock fish to be reported in many years was brought in here today by Frank Beck, a commercial fisherman who said he had a catch of 40 tons.

Scientists To Use New International Language At Meeting Sept. 12-17

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP) — "Interlingua," the new international language of science, will be used for the first time at a big league medical meeting here next week.

The occasion will be the 2nd World Congress of Cardiology which is expected to attract physicians and researchers from more than 40 countries. They will discuss latest advances in the field of heart and blood vessel diseases.

The gathering, to be held Sept. 12-17, is being combined with the 27th scientific sessions of the American Heart Assn., and is heralded by its sponsors as "the largest and most important cardiovascular meeting ever held in the Western Hemisphere."

As an aide toward helping doctors from different countries understand one another, abstracts of scientific papers will be published in the Congress program in Interlingua.

This is a combination of all the common elements of the Western languages now in use—principally Spanish, French, Italian and Portuguese. It is described by Congress officials as a language "almost immediately familiar to anyone who has any knowledge of these (other) tongues."

"Interlingua has a potentially limitless vocabulary, just like English," officials of the meeting said.

"Of the words in the large-volume English Webster dictionary, at least 100,000 have corresponding words in Interlingua. Its grammar is simple and it does not use regional idioms. As used at a medical meeting, however, Interlingua is more easily recognizeable to physicians familiar with technical terms and Latin derivations."

This international language has been in use for some time in certain scientific journals.

"Oklahoma" is the Choctaw Indian word for "red people."

SOUTHERN BELLES — Eight lovely girls from south of the Mason and Dixon Line give out with their best smiles as they pose for the cameramen at the start of the annual Miss America pageant at Atlantic City yesterday. The title will be awarded Saturday night. British Trade Union Chiefs Get Soviet Bid

LONDON, Sept. 7 (AP)—The boss of Russia's trade unions tonight invited a delegation of British trade union leaders to visit Moscow and discuss "problems of common interest" to workers of both countries.

The invitation was extended in a message of greeting from Nikolai Shvernik, chairman of the Central Council of Trade Unions of the U.S.S.R., to the British Trades Union Congress Moscow radio said.

This was the second recent Soviet overture to British Socialists. A Labor party delegation headed by former Prime Minister Clement Attlee visited Moscow last month en route to Communist China.

Number Seized As Spies In Iran's Armed Forces Exceeds 400 Mark

TEHRAN, Iran, Sept. 7 (AP) — A dragnet sifting alleged Red spies from Iran's armed forces brought 170 more arrests today in a new sweep through the army, air force and federal police.

Brig. Gen. Teimour Bakhtiar, Tehran's military governor, told newsmen the new haul, made possible by cracking spy codes, raised purge to about 400. Some 200 persons were said to be facing possible arrest.

Bakhtiar declared those arrested today ranged from captains to colonels holding "extremely important and sensitive posts."

The military governor said courts-martial already were being organized, with executions by shooting certain for those found guilty of participating in a Red espionage network that has been passing key military information into Baku, important Soviet Caspian Sea port and oil center only 100 miles north of the Iranian border.

Military intelligence sources charge the Red network also has been plotting a coup to overthrow the pro-Western government of Premier Fazollah Zahedi and has funneled detailed information about Iran's armed forces into Russia.

A royal court source said last Thursday that Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi had taken a personal hand in the spy hunt by demanding severe penalties for any officers convicted of plotting against the throne.

Today's spurt of arrests resulted from the breaking of the last of three code lists captured when a still unidentified former army officer fell into police hands about seven weeks ago.

Right Of Way Arrangement Saving Made

The city has realized a savings of approximately $3,300 in a transaction with the Potomac Edison Company for a high tension power line right-of-way at Cumberland Municipal Airport at Wiley Ford.

The Mayor and Council yesterday morning authorized the payment of $6,715.55 to the power firm for an alternate right-of-way for a power line in the vicinity of the airport.

Arthur B. Gibson, city engineer, said in 1942 when the Civil Aeronautics Administration chose the site of the airport the PE owned a right-of-way for a high tension line.

The Potomac Edison, he explained, relinquished the title of the strip of land to the city with the understanding Cumberland would pay the cost of an alternate right-of-way when it was needed.

The cost of the old right-of-way was valued at $10,000, Gibson said, and the acquisition of the alternate strip for $6,715 in effect saves the city $3,300.

The council ordered the payment of $358.94 to the J. E. Greiner Company of Baltimore for as a part payment on the firm's engineering of the Valley Street Bridge.

Will Of Lonaconing Man Probated Here

The will of Robert Marshall, 76, of Lonaconing, who died August 28 in Sacred Heart Hospital here, was admitted to probate in Orphans Court yesterday.

A confectionery store operator in Lonaconing, Marshall left his estate to his widow, the former Miss Kattie Bradley. A son, J. Bradley Marshall, obtained letters of administration on the estate and bond was set at $2,000 for him.

Dams Water Level About The Same

The level in the city's two dams in Pennsylvania remained about the same during the past week, the weekly report made to the Mayor and Council revealed yesterday.

The water in Lake Gordon is five feet one inch below the spillway and in Lake Koon, four feet five inches below.

Last Monday Lake Gordon was five feet ten inches below the spillway and Lake Koon three feet one inch below.

Consumption last week was down from the same week of 1953. Last week 99,180,000 gallons were used as compared to 111,250,000 gallons during the same period in 1953.

Besides counting calories, think of the other nutrients that good diet must include.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

"Diet" seems to be the "Great American Word" these days. That's wonderful — to a point. You can become so concerned with what you shouldn't eat, particularly when seeking to lose weight, that you overlook the things you should eat.

Regardless of your present weight and your would-be weight, your health will suffer unless your diet is properly balanced. Don't let a day go by without a serving of meat, fish or poultry, an egg dish, a green vegetable, fresh or stewed fruit, and at least a pint of milk.

Physical education experts believe in a daily 1200 calorie diet for the reducer, a daily 3200 calorie diet for one who wishes to gain. But you must put those calories to work! The foods that count up calories should also count up vitamins, minerals, and protein, or you'll lack sparkle. You'll look and feel lifeless.

Adult Habits

It is a fallacy that as you grow older, you should eat more. The truth of the matter, according to nutritionists, is that as you grow older, you should cut down on your calorie consumption five per cent for each decade beyond the age of 25.

Reason for this, say dietary researchers, is that after 25 the normal adult experiences a decrease in physical activity corresponding to the increase in age. Thus, you need fewer calories. It is recommended that you concentrate more on the quality than on the quantity of the food you eat. As calories are reduced with age and diminishing physical activity, your need for other nutrients (vitamins, minerals, protein) remains much the same.

At any age, you need the calcium in milk and cheese for strong teeth and bones. Phosphorus, found in meat and poultry, in eggs and yellow cheese, is important for the same reason. You need the vitamin C of greens and citrus fruits, the protein in meat.

Weight Problem

The "overweight problem" directly pertains to the amount of calories consumed. You need calories — for energy — but beware of too many. More important than how much you eat is what and when you eat. You should have properly balanced meals on a regular schedule. To help you plan your diet, my staff has prepared a booklet — "Your Beauty Diet" — which you may obtain by writing to this newspaper. (See box below.)

If this column needs a clincher, this is it: Diet decides how you look, feel and even act. Besides its effect on your weight, what you eat has a direct bearing on your skin, nails and hair. To look your best — eat sensibly!

YOUR BEAUTY DIET

No matter what your weight problem — whether you want to gain, lose or remain the same — YOUR BEAUTY DIET will provide you with a safe and sane pattern of laboratory-tested menus that can be followed by the entire family according to each individual's needs. YOUR BEAUTY DIET is a way of eating, not starving, and the tasteful, appetizing meals it contains require no extra planning or preparation! For the booklet, write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose 10c in coin to help cover cost, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Regardless of your present weight and your would-be weight, your health will suffer unless your diet is properly balanced. Don't let a day go by without a serving of meat, fish or poultry, an egg dish, a green vegetable, fresh or stewed fruit, and at least a pint of milk.

Physical education experts believe in a daily 1200 calorie diet for the reducer, a daily 3200 calorie diet for one who wishes to gain. But you must put those calories to work! The foods that count up calories should also count up vitamins, minerals, and protein, or you'll lack sparkle. You'll look and feel lifeless.

Adult Habits

It is a fallacy that as you grow older, you should eat more. The truth of the matter, according to nutritionists, is that as you grow older, you should cut down on your calorie consumption five per cent for each decade beyond the age of 25.

Reason for this, say dietary researchers, is that after 25 the normal adult experiences a decrease in physical activity corresponding to the increase in age. Thus, you need fewer calories. It is recommended that you concentrate more on the quality than on the quantity of the food you eat. As calories are reduced with age and diminishing physical activity, your need for other nutrients (vitamins, minerals, protein) remains much the same.

At any age, you need the calcium in milk and cheese for strong teeth and bones. Phosphorus, found in meat and poultry, in eggs and yellow cheese, is important for the same reason. You need the vitamin C of greens and citrus fruits, the protein in meat.

Weight Problem

The "overweight problem" directly pertains to the amount of calories consumed. You need calories — for energy — but beware of too many. More important than how much you eat is what and when you eat. You should have properly balanced meals on a regular schedule. To help you plan your diet, my staff has prepared a booklet — "Your Beauty Diet" — which you may obtain by writing to this newspaper. (See box below.)

If this column needs a clincher, this is it: Diet decides how you look, feel and even act. Besides its effect on your weight, what you eat has a direct bearing on your skin, nails and hair. To look your best — eat sensibly!

YOUR BEAUTY DIET

No matter what your weight problem — whether you want to gain, lose or remain the same — YOUR BEAUTY DIET will provide you with a safe and sane pattern of laboratory-tested menus that can be followed by the entire family according to each individual's needs. YOUR BEAUTY DIET is a way of eating, not starving, and the tasteful, appetizing meals it contains require no extra planning or preparation. For the booklet, write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose 10c in coin to help cover cost, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Adenauer, Mendes-France Believe Their Nations Must Act Together For Defense

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French Premier Pierre Mendes-France expressed belief tonight that their two nations must work together toward a unified Western defense setup despite the death of EDC.

The two Western European leaders made their views known in interviews broadcast to an American television audience on Edward R. Murrow's "See It Now" over CBS.

Speaking from his summer retreat in the Black Forest at Baden Baden, Adenauer told CBS Correspondent Richard C. Hottelet that, granted sovereignty, Germany will be "always ready to sacrifice part of that sovereignty to a united Europe." He added that his country does not want unlimited rearmament. And he denied reports he was trying to isolate France from her allies.

Adenauer expressed fears that if the German people came to feel they could not expect a real understanding with France "they will by necessity turn their eyes toward the East."

"But the danger is not imminent," he added.

Mendes-France told CBS Correspondent David Schoenbrun at his residence on the outskirts of Paris he was "definitely sure" a new agreement could be reached before the end of the year whereby the forces of a sovereign West Germany could be integrated into the European defense system.

He pledged that the West would not have to wait three years for a final turndown of any such new agreement as was the case of the ill-fated European Defense Community which was defeated in the French National Assembly a week ago.

Segregation Ends In Some Schools; Miss. Fight Begins

[By The Associated Press]

White and Negro children began attending the same classes in some Virginia schools Tuesday as the Mississippi Legislature prepared to abolish public schools if necessary to maintain segregation.

State school administrators of 11 Southern states heard a noted editor express hope that the Supreme Court will permit desegregation to be handled at local levels.

At the call of Gov. Hugh White, the Mississippi Legislature met in special session.

It will consider a constitutional amendment proposing two methods by which public schools could be abolished in favor of private schools if no other means can be found to circumvent the Supreme Court decision outlawing public school segregation.

One method would permit abolishing public schools statewide by a two thirds vote of the Legislature. The other is a local option method by which school districts could act individually.

The amendment is expected to get legislative approval substantially in the form proposed, although there may be some opposition to the statewide method.

In Atlanta, Harry Ashmore of Little Rock, executive editor of the Arkansas Gazette, told a closed session of the Southern States Cooperative Program of Educational Administration yesterday that sudden desegregation of Southern Schools would cause 'intolerable social situations."

Ashmore, author of the book "The Negro and the Schools," said federal district judges could ease the impact of integration if the Supreme Court remands the segregation cases.

These judges, he said, are familiar with local situations and could make sure that school districts "acted in good faith toward eventual integration."

Mixed classes began in two military post schools and three Roman Catholic parochial schools in Virginia. All are in the environs of Washington, D. C.

Virginia is maintaining its traditional segregation in its public schools.

In Montgomery, Ala., parents of Negro children who last week attempted to register at a white school, blamed what they called broken promises by the city-county school board for the incident.

The Parent-Teacher Assn. of the Abraham's Vineyard school said the school board had promised to improve the Negro school but has failed to do so.

But Supt. C. M. Dannelly said "we've done everything we promised to do." He and board chairman T. L. Bear said an order has been given for installation of gas, electric wiring is being done by maintenance crews and landscaping work has been started.

At Hillsboro, Ohio, 50 Negro children enrolled Tuesday in two previously all - white elementary schools while only 17 reported to a third segregated school. The board of education called a special meeting to discuss the situation.

"I said, 'would you arrest me if I published it?'" the columnnist went on. "He said 'yes.' I said 'You're kidding, John.' He said, 'no, I am not.' That was the end of the conversation."

So, Winchell said, he went back to the Shoreham Hotel here, burned the letter and flushed it down the drain.

Winchell declared at the outset: "I refuse to tell that" when Guy de Furia, assistant committee counsel, asked him who gave him the letter.

"I would not reveal my source of information on any news," he said.

No Break With Soviet, President Indicates

DENVER, Sept. 7 (AP)—The summer White House indicated anew tonight that President Eisenhower's answer will be "no" to a demand by Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) that the United States sever diplomatic relations with Russia.

Knowland, the Senate majority leader, made the demand Sunday after the Defense Department announced that Soviet-type MIG15 planes had shot down a Navy patrol plane over the Sea of Japan. One man was lost, and there were nine survivors of the attack.

Labeling the attack as another example of Soviet arrogance and aggressiveness, Knowland called in a telegram to Eisenhower for an end to diplomatic relations with Russia.

23,000 Men Will Be Drafted In November

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—The Defense Department today asked for 23,000 draftees in November.

This is the same quota requested for each month since July this year. The Defense Department dropped its draft calls to 18,000 for the months of February through June, then increased them to 23,000.

The armed forces have drafted, including the latest projected levy for November, a total of 1,812,430 since the start of the Korean War. Of that total, 1,731,000 have been for the Army. The Marines used the draft briefly at one point during the Korean War.

All of the November levy is for the Army.

The last battle of the American Revolution in which British colors were flown over British troops was fought in West Virginia at Wheeling.

AAUW "Fall Frolic" To Be Held On Dan's Mt. Saturday

The new members of the Frostburg-Georges Creek Branch, American Association of University Women, are to be welcomed and programs for the year outlined at the "Fall Frolic" of the chapter, Saturday.

Special guests will be Mrs. William Maltbie, Baltimore, state AAUW president; Miss Margaret Motter, Frederick, state Fellowship chairman, and a representative from the Frederick chapter.

Mrs. Joseph Kruson will preside at the meeting being held in conjunction with the outing, at Dan's Mountain Recreation Area.

General meeting programs for the year will be presented by Mrs. H. Reford Aldridge.

Tentative outlines by group chairmen will be given by Mrs. Robert Bittner, Educational; Dr. Laura Harney, International Relations; Mrs. John G. Cook, Social Studies; Miss Bernice Winner, Fellowship and Miss Esther Carter, Legislation.

All members are requested to attend. Buses will leave the Gunter Hotel at 1:45. Refreshments are being served by Dave Gunter.

Personals

Miss Maude A. Bean, Cumberland Street, is improving in Memorial Hospital, where she has been a patient for the past three weeks.

C. W. Heath, 126 Greene Street, is reported slightly improved at Memorial Hospital, where he has been a patient for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sowers, Richmond, Va., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Krizmencic, Short Gap, W. Va.

Identifies Song

Mrs. Virginia D. Walker, 328 Emily Street, identified a song on TV last week and received her award yesterday.

She won an Arthur Murray certificate, entitling her to two dancing lessons at an Arthur Murray school before October 1.

Champions Are Entered At Dog Show

Eighty-seven year old Mrs. Annice L. Helfrictch, Indianapolis, Ind., who breeds Toy Manchester Terriers, is entering one of her 36 champions in the American Kennel Club All-Breed Show, here Saturday.

Although Mrs. Helfrictch shows only at the larger places like Madison Square Garden, she has entered one of her champions for the local show and will be the house guest of her friend, Mrs. Harvey Ware, Baltimore Pike.

Mrs. Helfrictch belongs to the Oldtimers Club, a national organization, whose members must be breeders of dogs for 20 years before being eligible.

Sponsored by the Upper Potomac Valley Kennel Club and the Cumberland Civitan Club, the AKC All Breed Show is being held at the Cumberland Fair Grounds. Proceeds are for the Civitan Club's hearing conservation program providing tonsil and adenoid operations for needy children. Prizes and points toward a championship will be awarded. Judging will be at 11 a. m. The judges are James A. Johnson, Baltimore; Miss Alice Marie Cornet, Washington; Harold Stultz, Altoona, Pa.; Capt. E. H. Conklin, Bethesda; Dr. Harry B. Steinbach, Bluebell, Pa.; William H. Ackland, Washington and Lewis S. Worden, Jersey City, N. J.

Mrs. Ware, Hospitality chairman, is in charge of the open house, being held for exhibitors, handlers and judges, in the Herman Room, immediately following the show.

Circle Plans Covered Dish Supper Oct. 6

Plans were formulated for a covered dish supper for members and prospective members at the regular business meeting of the Jean Rowland Circle of Melvin Methodist Church, recently in Constitution Park.

The supper will be held October 6, at 6:30 in the recreation room of the church, with each member bringing a guest, who may be interested in joining the club.

Mrs. Norma Manges presided at the meeting and a routine report was given by Miss Joan Minke. Announcement was made that the proceeds from the recent ice cream festival amounted to $60, which will be turned over to the building fund of the church.

School supplies were given to Miss Ethel Elbin, missions secretary, for distribution.

The worship theme for the evening was, "The Christian Home." An illustration of "the tree of life" with the branches representing, faith, love, Christian attitude, character, temptation, turmoil and labor was presented by Mrs. Viola Wentling, with a poster drawing. After a discussion of each a playlet, "Decision in a Christian Home," was given by Mrs. Wentling and Mrs. Edith Riggleman. The Scripture was taken from Proverbs. A poem, "The Way" was read and the Lord's Prayer repeated after which the group sang, "God Be With You."

Concluding the evening a corn roast was held with Mrs. Betty Thomas serving as hostess. Approximately 15 members attended.

Couple Marks Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Krampf entertained with an open house in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary, Sunday at their home, 140 Main Street, Ridgeley. A golden color scheme was carried out in the decorations.

The former Miss Mary S. Dixon, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dixon, Ridgeley, became the bride of Mr. Krampf, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Krampf, natives of Germany, who located in Westernport, September 5, 1904. The ceremony was performed in the parsonage of the Methodist Church, then on South Centre Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Krampf are the parents of four children, George W. Krampf, city and Mrs. C. H. Clites, Ridgeley, and two deceased. They have four grandchildren.

An employe of the West Virginia Central Railroad Company and later by the Western Maryland Railway, when it took over the former, Mr. Krampf later worked for the Celanese Corporation until his retirement November 1, 1949. His hobby is wood carving. Mrs. Krampf's is sewing.

Mr., Mrs. A. W. Lewis Mark 58th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Asa William Lewis observed their 58th wedding anniversary quietly at their home, 311 Franklin Street, last week. There was no formal celebration because Mr. Lewis has not been well since having pneumonia in the spring.

The former Miss Rosa Light, daughter of the late Henry and Susan Light, became the bride of Mr. Lewis, son of the late Asa and Elizabeth Lewis, September 2, 1896.

The ceremony was solemnized at the home of the bride's uncle, John Light, Paw Paw, W. Va., with Rev. Thourlow, a Methodist minister, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis are the parents of one son, James Lewis, Ridgeley. They have two grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Mr. Lewis was born March 11, 1872, near Kifer. At the time of his marriage, he was a trackman on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. About 1907 he began working at the Paw Paw Tannery, and moved to Cumberland in 1918, when he secured work in the shipping department at the Cumberland Steel Company. About 1933 Mr. Lewis began work with the Cumberland Brewery, where he remained until his retirement about four years ago. Until his health failed his hobby was hunting.

Mrs. Lewis was born at Orleans, April 17, 1877. She is still very active, doing her own canning and making preserves and jellies, but her garden is her hobby for she loves all kinds of flowers.

One bell, around noon on shipboard, means it is 12:30 p. m.

The Pentagon covers 32 acres of space.

Convention Program To Be Outlined

Mrs. Noel Speir Cook, Frostburg, state treasurer, will attend the meeting of the board of directors of the Federation of Republican Women of Maryland, September 13 in Baltimore. Mrs. Vaughn E. Richardson, will preside at both meetings, and announce the program and committees for the Federation convention October 23.

The luncheon program is to be given by Mrs. Hettie Bonnell, vice president. Mrs. Kenneth Cole, Chevy Chase, will present the proposed new by-laws for analysis and discussion. Miss Bertha S. Adkins, assistant to the chairman of the National Republican committee, is speaking on the national campaign plans, and Mrs. Leona Rush, the state plans.

The Cumberland Republican Women's Club will elect its delegate to the convention, October 23, at the meeting October 7. Mrs. Brooks Starcher and Mrs. Joseph Boden will be hostesses for the evening, at the Ali Ghan City Club.

Social Chart

The Trinity Lutheran Ladies Aid will meet at 8 tonight in the youth building, Smith Street, to plan for the convention in October.

The board meeting of the Junior Civic Club will be at 8 tonight at the home of Mrs. John Wagner, Frankfort Road.

Short Gap firemen and ladies auxiliary will hold a ham supper Saturday from 5 until 8 at the fire hall.

Calling Beau Brummels

Boston Begins Argument Over Best-Dressed Men

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—Always there's something to worry about. And today those who care to may fret about this question:

Which city can claim it has the nation's best dressed men?

Boston began the argument when Donald J. Hurley, president of the chamber there, said Boston should be the scene of the premiere of a new movie, "Beau Brummel," coming out this fall.

His reasoning:

"Boston has more well dressed men and more chivalrous men, per capita, than any other city in the United States."

Naturally this isn't the sort of talk other well dressed Chambers of Commerce can take lying down. And while the movie's press agents turned handsprings of delight, various claims of sartorial splendor came from Rochester, N. Y., Hartford, Conn., and Houston, Tex.

Now comes Francis J. Kane, president of the Washington Board of Trade, with a plug for the nation's capital.

"President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon," Kane wrote in a letter to the movie's producers, "are exemplary of the well dressed men we boast in our city.

"Many of our great statesmen on Capitol Hill can be considered the Beau Brummel type."

As for Boston, Kane wrote:

"Therefore, without making a lot of disparaging remarks about the home of baked beans, I must say that Boston should stick to its celluloid wing collars and high button shoes—and let us hold the world premiere."

Well, Eisenhower, Nixon and some congressmen are nifty dressers all right. But possibly Kane went a bit far in comparing Brummell with "our great statesmen on Capitol Hill."

For although George Bryan Brummell, born in 1778 in London, became celebrated as a wit, a dandy and a friend of the then Prince of Wales, he hardly appears to be the type that would captivate the voters, of say, Blue Eye, Mo.

When "Beau Brummell" first was turned into a play, in 1890, William Winter, a New York drama critic, sized up the original Beau thusly:

"Luxurious, licentious, rapacious and cruel—an insensate profligate and heartless libertine."

But if Brummell seems a mite giddy for a present day politician's taste, he's the stuff an actor's dreams are made of. Richard Mansfield, John Barrymore and now Stewart Granger have portrayed the man who began as a friend of princes and wound up an imbecile pauper.

His elegance remained, though, almost to the end.

Once, in his hard-up days, a nobleman asked him to dine, at 3 o'clock.

"Really," said the Beau, "I cannot feed at such an early hour."

A woman once asked if he ate vegetables. His reply should hardly endear him to the home of the baked bean.

Charcoal Dusted On Ocean Might Check 'Red Tide'

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Sept. 7 (AP)—A theory that charcoal dusted on ocean waters might control the fish-killing "red tide" off Florida's Gulf Coast and certain other areas was offered today by a team of University of Florida biologists.

Researcher Jacqueline Hynes and two associates said the theoretical possibility is strengthened by laboratory evidence that charcoal can retard the development of certain microscopic creatures somewhat akin in action to the specific organism responsible for periodic Florida outbreaks of the "red tide."

They made their report at the fifth annual conference of the American Institute of Biological Sciences at the University of Florida.

At the same session, biologist W. B. Wilson of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service at Galveston, Tex., described first laboratory growth of the previously-elusive tiny creature—part plant, part animal—which has bedeviled portions of Florida's Gulf Coast vacationland.

In major outbreaks over the years, between 50 million and 500 million fish have been killed and washed up on the beaches, scientists say.

Wilson said the new ability to grow the pest in test tubes opened the way for a concentrated effort to develop chemicals that might be used in its effective and economical control.

The University of Florida researchers stressed that there still is no proof that charcoal would check the development of the specific pest because up to now they have had no laboratory cultures available for testing.

Biologist Hynes told a reporter that the organisms against which the charcoal had been effective were of the same general type as the organisms which cause the "red tide" off certain areas of Florida, California, Africa and Chili.

She said a theoretical effective application of dusted charcoal to oceanic waters would require about three tons a square mile per approximate yard of depth—at a cost of between $150 and $800 depending upon the grade of charcoal used.

SEGREGATION ENDS IN VIRGINIA SCHOOL—Two of the six Negro children who joined classes in the formerly all-white Ft. Myer, Va., elementary school listen to opening announcements by Mrs. Louise M. There are 380 pupils in the federally-operated school on the military post and six are Negroes.

Britain's New Jet "Unintentionally" Goes Supersonic

LONDON, Sept. 7 (AP)—Britain's new jet interceptor fighter plane, the P1, slipped through the sound barrier by "mistake" recently, Duncan Sandys, minister of supply, said.

"There was such complete absence of buffeting that the pilot, who was not intended to fly supersonic, found he had got well beyond without noticing it," Sandys told the Society of British Aircraft Constructors yesterday. The supply ministry declined further elaboration today.

The P1, built by the English Electric Co., is the first British jet to smash the sound barrier in level flight. The firm announced Aug. 17 that the P1 had flown several times in level flight at speeds exceeding that of sound.

Details of the P1 have not been officially disclosed, but some reports place its maximum speed at 1,000 miles an hour.

World's Largest Building Planned

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—A plan is being considered to erect "the largest structure in the world" on the site of Grand Central terminal, Robert R. Young, chairman of the New York Central Railroad said today. This would mean razing the terminal building.

Young said this plan was among a number submitted by architects and developers on request so that the "air rights"—the space above the terminal—could be utilized because of high taxes paid by the railroad on the terminal.

"It is their estimate that a new building which would be the largest structure in the world containing upwards of five million square feet of area could produce a return consistent with its cost and the value of air rights," Young said.

He asserted the suggestions were asked in efforts "to reduce the huge operating deficit of the Grand Central terminal."

One plan is for an 80-story single tower, with an elevated plaza and an observation tower, "the most unusual of its kind ever contemplated."

Further details were unavailable. But building industry sources said such a structure on the 48 acres occupied by the terminal, occupying about 25 per cent of the land area, would cost about 100 million dollars.

The Empire State building is the world's tallest building but has only two million square feet of rentable floor space. Chicago's Merchandise Mart is the world's largest commercial building with 4,023,400 square feet, or 93 acres, although the Pentagon is larger.

The present Grand Central terminal is eight stories high on a 48-acre site.

West Berlin Policeman Returns From Red Zone

BERLIN, Sept. 7 (AP)—West Berlin policeman Hermann Flex, 22, gave himself up to his superiors today—minus a radio car in which he fled to the Soviet zone 10 days ago.

Officials said relatives had made contact with Flex in the East and persuaded him to come back.

Czech Air Force Has Women Pilots

VIENNA, Austria, Sept. 7 (AP)—The Czech air force has women pilots, a report on recent air maneuvers in Czechoslovakia discloses.

In the report, published in a recent edition of the party paper Rude Pravo that arrived here today, the girl flyers were extolled for being "true fighting comrades of our men in the air."

The report added that the girls were flying in a group of 20 military two-engine planes.

Adenauer Regains Bundestag Majority

BONN, Germany, Sept. 7 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic party (CDU) today regained its absolute majority in the Bundestag (lower House), lost when one of its deputies deserted to the East.

Refugee party member Rudolf Mayer - Ronnenberg, representing Hannover, switched his allegiance to the Christian Democrats.

CDU lost its absolute majority of one vote when Karl Franz Schmidt - Wittmack went over to East Germany last month. The CDU has proposed he be expelled from Parliament. The motion will be voted on later this month.

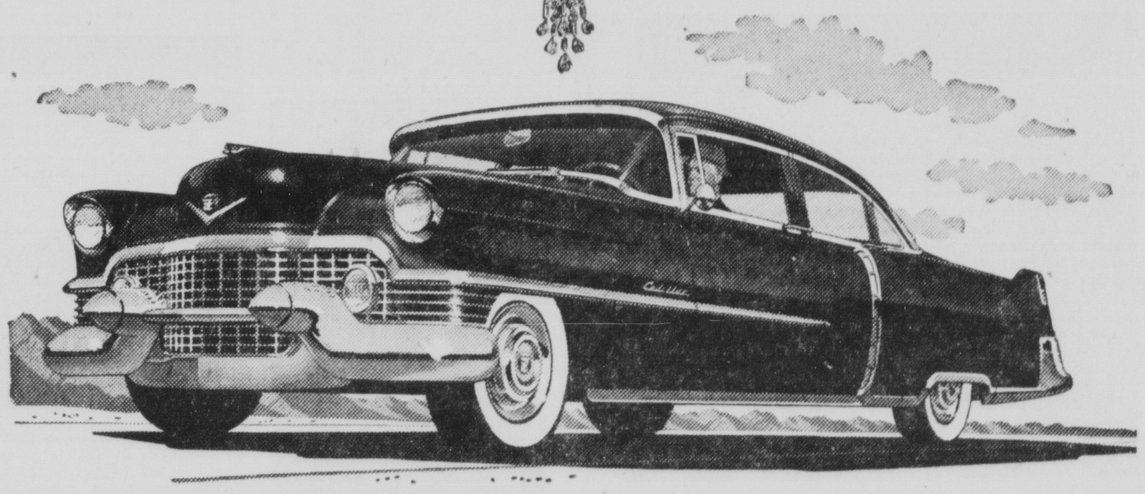
Cadillac



A Ride Is an Education!

There has never before been a time—since the beginning of the automotive industry—when you could learn as much about motor car performance in a single hour as you can today!

All you need do is slide behind the wheel of a new 1954 Cadillac—and head for the open highway.

That great Cadillac engine introduces you to a new measure of power and performance. It takes even the most challenging hills in easy stride—and sweeps you out of a difficult traffic situation with only the slightest pressure on the accelerator.

Calling Beau Brummels

Boston Begins Argument Over Best-Dressed Men

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—Always there's something to worry about. And today those who care to may fret about this question:

Which city can claim it has the nation's best dressed men?

Boston began the argument when Donald J. Hurley, president of the chamber there, said Boston should be the scene of the premiere of a new movie, "Beau Brummel," coming out this fall.

His reasoning:

"Boston has more well dressed men and more chivalrous men, per capita, than any other city in the United States."

Naturally this isn't the sort of talk other well dressed Chambers of Commerce can take lying down. And while the movie's press agents turned handsprings of delight, various claims of sartorial splendor came from Rochester, N. Y., Hartford, Conn., and Houston, Tex.

Now comes Francis J. Kane, president of the Washington Board of Trade, with a plug for the nation's capital.

"President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon," Kane wrote in a letter to the movie's producers, "are exemplary of the well dressed men we boast in our city.

"Many of our great statesmen on Capitol Hill can be considered the Beau Brummel type."

As for Boston, Kane wrote:

"Therefore, without making a lot of disparaging remarks about the home of baked beans, I must say that Boston should stick to its celluloid wing collars and high button shoes—and let us hold the world premiere."

Well, Eisenhower, Nixon and some congressmen are nifty dressers all right. But possibly Kane went a bit far in comparing Brummell with "our great statesmen on Capitol Hill."

For although George Bryan Brummell, born in 1778 in London, became celebrated as a wit, a dandy and a friend of the then Prince of Wales, he hardly appears to be the type that would captivate the voters, of say, Blue Eye, Mo.

When "Beau Brummell" first was turned into a play, in 1890, William Winter, a New York drama critic, sized up the original Beau thusly:

"Luxurious, licentious, rapacious and cruel—an insensate profligate and heartless libertine."

But if Brummell seems a mite giddy for a present day politician's taste, he's the stuff an actor's dreams are made of. Richard Mansfield, John Barrymore and now Stewart Granger have portrayed the man who began as a friend of princes and wound up an imbecile pauper.

His elegance remained, though, almost to the end.

Once, in his hard-up days, a nobleman asked him to dine, at 3 o'clock.

"Really," said the Beau, "I cannot feed at such an early hour."

A woman once asked if he ate vegetables. His reply should hardly endear him to the home of the baked bean.

Charcoal Dusted On Ocean Might Check 'Red Tide'

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Sept. 7 (AP)—A theory that charcoal dusted on ocean waters might control the fish-killing "red tide" off Florida's Gulf Coast and certain other areas was offered today by a team of University of Florida biologists.

Researcher Jacqueline Hynes and two associates said the theoretical possibility is strengthened by laboratory evidence that charcoal can retard the development of certain microscopic creatures somewhat akin in action to the specific organism responsible for periodic Florida outbreaks of the "red tide."

They made their report at the fifth annual conference of the American Institute of Biological Sciences at the University of Florida.

At the same session, biologist W. B. Wilson of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service at Galveston, Tex., described first laboratory growth of the previously-elusive tiny creature—part plant, part animal—which has bedeviled portions of Florida's Gulf Coast vacationland.

In major outbreaks over the years, between 50 million and 500 million fish have been killed and washed up on the beaches, scientists say.

Wilson said the new ability to grow the pest in test tubes opened the way for a concentrated effort to develop chemicals that might be used in its effective and economical control.

The University of Florida researchers stressed that there still is no proof that charcoal would check the development of the specific pest because up to now they have had no laboratory cultures available for testing.

Biologist Hynes told a reporter that the organisms against which the charcoal had been effective were of the same general type as the organisms which cause the "red tide" off certain areas of Florida, California, Africa and Chili.

She said a theoretical effective application of dusted charcoal to oceanic waters would require about three tons a square mile per approximate yard of depth—at a cost of between $150 and $800 depending upon the grade of charcoal used.

SEGREGATION ENDS IN VIRGINIA SCHOOL—Two of the six Negro children who joined classes in the formerly all-white Ft. Myer, Va., elementary school listen to opening announcements by Mrs. Louise M. Snee, third grade teacher, at opening of school yesterday. The children are Breda Hines, 8, front row, and Lillie Mae Gilliard, second row. There are 380 pupils in the federally-operated school on the military post and six are Negroes.

Britain's New Jet "Unintentionally" Goes Supersonic

LONDON, Sept. 7 (AP)—Britain's new jet interceptor fighter plane, the P1, slipped through the sound barrier by "mistake" recently, Duncan Sandys, minister of supply, said.

"There was such complete absence of buffeting that the pilot, who was not intended to fly supersonic, found he had got well beyond without noticing it," Sandys told the Society of British Aircraft Constructors yesterday. The supply ministry declined further elaboration today.

The P1, built by the English Electric Co., is the first British jet to smash the sound barrier in level flight. The firm announced Aug. 17 that the P1 had flown several times in level flight at speeds exceeding that of sound.

Details of the P1 have not been officially disclosed, but some reports place its maximum speed at 1,000 miles an hour.

World's Largest Building Planned

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—A plan is being considered to erect "the largest structure in the world" on the site of Grand Central terminal, Robert R. Young, chairman of the New York Central Railroad said today. This would mean razing the terminal building.

Young said this plan was among a number submitted by architects and developers on request so that the "air rights"—the space above the terminal—could be utilized because of high taxes paid by the railroad on the terminal.

"It is their estimate that a new building which would be the largest structure in the world containing upwards of five million square feet of area could produce a return consistent with its cost and the value of air rights," Young said.

He asserted the suggestions were asked in efforts "to reduce the huge operating deficit of the Grand Central terminal."

One plan is for an 80-story single tower, with an elevated plaza and an observation tower, "the most unusual of its kind ever contemplated."

Further details were unavailable. But building industry sources said such a structure on the 48 acres occupied by the terminal, occupying about 25 per cent of the land area, would cost about 100 million dollars.

The Empire State building is the world's tallest building but has only two million square feet of rentable floor space. Chicago's Merchandise Mart is the world's largest commercial building with 4,023,400 square feet, or 93 acres, although the Pentagon is larger.

The present Grand Central terminal is eight stories high on a 48-acre site.

West Berlin Policeman Returns From Red Zone

BERLIN, Sept. 7 (AP)—West Berlin policeman Hermann Flex, 22, gave himself up to his superiors today—minus a radio car in which he fled to the Soviet zone 10 days ago.

Officials said relatives had made contact with Flex in the East and persuaded him to come back.

Czech Air Force Has Women Pilots

VIENNA, Austria, Sept. 7 (AP)—The Czech air force has women pilots, a report on recent air maneuvers in Czechoslovakia discloses.

In the report, published in a recent edition of the party paper Rude Pravo that arrived here today, the girl flyers were extolled for being "true fighting comrades of our men in the air."

The report added that the girls were flying in a group of 20 military two-engine planes.

Adenauer Regains Bundestag Majority

BONN, Germany, Sept. 7 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic party (CDU) today regained its absolute majority in the Bundestag (lower House), lost when one of its deputies deserted to the East.

Refugee party member Rudolf Mayer - Ronnenberg, representing Hannover, switched his allegiance to the Christian Democrats.

CDU lost its absolute majority of one vote when Karl Franz Schmidt - Wittmack went over to East Germany last month. The CDU has proposed he be expelled from Parliament. The motion will be voted on later this month.

Now YOU can have BLUE CROSS® & BLUE SHIELD® protection against hospital and medical bills without belonging to a group!

NOW you can join these plans, designed for those who cannot join through groups... self-employed, students, employees of smaller companies.

NOW you can protect yourself against costly illness or emergencies . . . by joining Maryland's not-for-profit Blue Cross and Blue Shield Plans.

YOU can have this protection for yourself and your dependents if you're in good health and under 65 years of age. Get the story today.

Chances are ONE in THREE, someone in your family will require hospital services this year! But you can lift the threat of costly bills with BLUE CROSS and BLUE SHIELD protection.

How Blue Cross & Blue Shield Protect YOU

46 million Americans are already enrolled in Blue Cross. 29 million belong to Blue Shield. Now — for the first time—Blue Cross and Blue Shield protection is available to nearly every Marylander — through membership in employed groups, or, in many cases, without joining a group. Blue Cross provides hospital care benefits . . . the hospital services you need rather than just dollars—in any general hospital in Maryland, and anywhere else if you're taken sick away from home. Blue Shield pays liberally for the services of the doctor you choose. Together, the two plans protect your entire family. The cost to you is now only about 26c a day for your family . . . but benefits can save you bills running to many hundreds of dollars.

Once a member you can keep your Blue Cross and Blue Shield protection even when you change jobs or retire—even after passing age 65.

Get the whole story now. You owe it to yourself and your family to get the full story about both Blue Cross and Blue Shield. Mail the coupon below for your copy of the booklet telling what the plan can do for you. It places you under no obligation. No salesman will call. So be sure you get full information now.

Only BLUE CROSS & BLUE SHIELD Provide So Much Protection for So Little Money

Blue Cross and Blue Shield are the most successful plans ever devised for protection against the costs of illnesses and emergencies. They have set the standard against which all other forms of hospital-medical-surgical care are measured—a standard hard to match. Blue Cross and Blue Shield are not-for-profit organizations, in which people like yourself band together to safeguard against unexpected hospital and doctor bills. Each one pays a little; all escape ever having to pay heavy expense alone.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield are different. Their sole purpose is service; to help you get the care you need, not just measured-out dollars. Blue Cross benefits include room and board and all the basic hospital services . . . full coverage in semi-private rooms (save maternity) with no dollar limitation. Blue Shield helps you pay doctor bills—provides liberal benefits for everyone—and full protection for persons of moderate income. You choose your own doctor. On entering a hospital, you simply show your Blue Cross Card. There's no red tape. The plans deal directly with the hospital and the doctor. You file no forms. You don't have to wait for payment.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield protection is low-cost. Sponsored in Maryland by doctors, hospitals, and citizens alike, these plans are operated not-for-profit. Except for small administrative expense, every dollar paid in goes to provide benefits. Dollar for dollar, Blue Cross and Blue Shield give you more for less money — maximum protection at minimum cost.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield protection is easy to get. If you qualify for non-group membership, mail the coupon at right or call the Blue Cross office listed in your telephone directory. If there are five or more people where you work, ask your employer about group enrollment.

Wilson Is Speaker At Dinner Meet

William L. Wilson, local attorney and Democratic candidate for state senator, was the principal speaker at a dinner Saturday night honoring the baseball team sponsored by Fulton J. Myers Post, American Legion.

The event, held at the Metropolitan A.M.E. Church, also included talks by William J. Jones, past post commander, who was toastmaster; John Trimble, post commander, Vivian Wilson, president of the Ladies Auxiliar, of the post; Rev. C. Eugene Walden Sr., pastor of the church, and Harry Beckwith, manager of the baseball team.

FAREWELL PARTY — Leo Mattingly, chemist at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation, was given a farewell dinner recently at Anton's Bib Savage Inn by the personnel of the main laboratory of the local plant. Mattingly expects to continue his education at a college in Lakeland, Fla., where he and his wife, the former Agnes O'Brien of Midland, expect to make their home. Herbert C. Heineman, supervisor of the main laboratory, was toastmaster and presented the guest of honor with a gift in behalf of the members present. Among those present were, seated from left to right, Paul McFarland, Mrs. Gwendelyn Youngerman, Mrs. Charles Kreiger, Mrs. Emery Loar, Mrs. Joseph Harvey, Mrs. William Price, Mrs. William Chaney, Mrs. Harold McKenzie and Mrs. Robert Konzal. Standing, same order, are Paul Montgomery, William Powell, Robert Thom, Mrs. Charles Hughes, Paul Fuller, Ernest Fauss, Frank Byer, Frank Bareis, George Mease, William Kelly, Mattingly, Heineman, Kenneth Crowe, Walter Trost, Charles Hughes, Miss Irene Llewellyn and Mrs. James Wiebrecht. Bareis, Mease, Kelly, Mattingly, Heineman, Crowe, Trost and Hughes all have been employed at the Celanese plant at least 25 years and all of that time in the main laboratory.

Belle Grove Man Released To Pennsylvania Authorities

A Belle Grove man held in the county jail since last week on a charge of stealing 22 cases of beer from a disabled truck on U. S. Route 40 in that community four years ago has admitted being one of two men who set fire to a farmer's barn last month.

Cpl. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police here, questioned Lester Frederick Joy, 22, concerning the barn burning incident after he learned that Joy and a companion had an altercation with the farmer whose barn was burned.

Joy finally admitted he and a companion set fire to the structure owned by James Jordan, of Bethel Township in Fulton County, Pa., just across the state line from Belle Grove. He said that he and his companion were angered when Jordan struck him (Joy) with a club when they kept the farmer's daughter out late one night.

Joy was returned to Fulton County to face a charge of arson. Sgt. George Hahn and Cpl. Lester F. Hoover came here for Joy. The loss in the fire exceeded $2,000 with a quantity of hay, a calf and two dogs being destroyed in the blaze.

Cpl. Baker also took into custody David Rose, 17, of Winchester Road, in connection with the theft of $44 in cash from the home of Michael Winstanley, a neighbor, last Friday.

When Rose was ordered to take off his shoes at the county jail it was found he had "secreted" 19 silver half dollars in his shoes.

A rhetorical question is one which does not require an answer.

Blood Contribution Is Reported Heavy

A report by the Johnstown Regional Blood Bank for the week of August 30 reveals that of the 570 pints collected more than half of the amount was received in Cumberland and Frostburg.

In Cumberland a total of 168 pints were collected while Frostburg area residents donated 142 bottles of blood.

Johnstown area residents gave 78 pints at one center and 14 bottles were collected at the regional center there. Mifflin County (Pa.) Chapter at Lewistown provided 89 pints, 93 pints were collected at Blair County Chapter in Hollidaysburg.

Blood distribution amounted to 649 bottles — 482 to hospitals and 167 to the Defense Department.

The bathometer is an instrument for measuring depth of water.

Few Accidents Happen In Area Over Weekend

The tri-state area was practically accident-free over a long Labor Day holiday that saw the highways literally packed with autos.

The safety programs apparently have paid off for this section of the state as this is the second long weekend holiday this year when no fatalities occurred on the roads. The other was Memorial Day.

The death of Richard O. Valentine, 29, Bedford Road, outside of Ridgeley Friday at 3 p. m. occurred just three hours before the holiday counting period began.

There were only four persons hospitalized in Cumberland as a result of auto mishaps over the weekend.

Two women were admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital Monday following a two-car collision at the intersection of Frederick and Decatur streets.

They were Mrs. Regina C. Hammersmith, 35, of 524 Woodside Avenue, and Mrs. JoAnn Becker, 19, of 117 North Mechanic Street.

City Police Officer Kenneth Morrissey in his report said the car operated by Mrs. Becker's husband David Paul Becker, 22, failed to stop at the stop sign on Frederick Street and rammed into the right side of the auto driven by Mrs. Hammersmith's husband, Charles F. Hammersmith, 38.

A passing motorist took the two women to the hospital where Mrs. Becker is being treated for left ankle and left arm injuries and Mrs. Hammersmith for a severe laceration of the forehead. X-rays will be taken to determine whether Mrs. Hammersmith has any further head injuries.

Officer Morrissey charged Becker with reckless driving and set the trial for Saturday in Trial Magistrates Court.

Sacred Heart Hospital also reported that Jerry Maguire, 24, of 52 Wempe Drive, was admitted early Sunday morning after an accident on Bedford Road.

Maguire told hospital attendants he was thrown partly through the windshield of a car in which he and another man (not identified) were riding when the vehicle left the road and hit a utility pole shortly after 10 a. m.

He was admitted for treatment of nose and forehead lacerations.

In the only other accident reported, an auto-bicycle mishap, Leon Richard Chaney, 10, of Frostburg, was reported in an improved condition in Memorial Hospital. He suffered head injuries when thrown from his bicycle after it collided with a car in Frostburg Saturday.

State Police working out of the Hyndale Barracks over the weekend made 104 arrests and issued 162 warnings.

West Virginia State Police at Romney said there were no serious mishaps on Route 50 and 28 and Pennsylvania Turnpike police reported none over Labor Day.

City Worker Sleeps In Buchholtz's Car

A Street Department employe hired within the past two weeks is being held by City Police after he was found asleep in the front seat of his boss' car.

City Police early yesterday picked up William Dawson in the car of Street Department Commissioner William V. Buchholtz parked on Gay Street.

City Detectives Donald Smith and Joseph Stitcher reported that they received a notice Monday night from Commissioner Buchholtz that his car was missing from its parking place in front of his business establishment on Mechanic Street.

Early yesterday, they were cruising in the vicinity of Gay Street when they noticed the commissioner's auto parked there, the detectives said.

Upon investigation, they found Dawson sleeping in it. They took him into custody. No charges have been placed against him, pending completion of the investigation.

Police Department To Get New Uniforms, Cruisers

The Police Department will be getting new uniforms and new cruisers.

The Mayor and Council authorized Police Commissioner William V. Keegan to advertise for bids for four new cruisers and for 50 new uniforms.

The council also authorized Water Commissioner William J. Edwards to advertise for bids for a one-ton truck for the Water Department.

Replacement Equipment

In both departments, the equipment to be purchased are replacements for existing equipment.

A probationary fireman was added to the Fire Department, Charles A. Nave. His appointment becomes effective today.

In answer to the question by John J. Long, finance commissioner, as to whether this appointment was for one of the additional men needed on the department, Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker answered in the affirmative.

The report of the Finance Department showed a balance as of September 1 of $172,623 in the general fund; water operative account, $254,096; general improvement bond account, $159,026; paving bond account, $33.72; flood account, $631.49, and sewer bonds of 1931, a total of $2,560.

Other Receipts Listed

Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk, reported receipts during August totaling $1,766.65, of which $1,266 was for bingo tax and recreation admission tax for bingo; licenses, $70; produce permits, $7; sales of City Code, $15; Sunday movie tax, $393.65, and recreation admission tax, $13.60.

Harry C. Hilleary, city weighmaster, reported 200 trucks were weighed and $66.02 was collected in receipts during August.

The city tax collector, George E. Davis, submitted a report for August showing receipts totaling $43,324.95 of which $38,459.36 was from water; $2,269.80 for sewer bonds of 1931; $915.96 for general improvement bonds and $1,679.83 for general account receipts.

Parking meters produced $532.49 during the week ending August 29. The previous week had collections totaling $531.23.

Wilson Is Speaker At Dinner Meet

William L. Wilson, local attorney and Democratic candidate for state senator, was the principal speaker at a dinner Saturday night honoring the baseball team sponsored by Fulton J. Myers Post, American Legion.

The event, held at the Metropolitan A.M.E. Church, also included talks by William J. Jones, past post commander, who was toastmaster; John Trimble, post commander, Vivian Wilson, president of the Ladies Auxiliar, of the post; Rev. C. Eugene Walden Sr., pastor of the church, and Harry Beckwith, manager of the baseball team.

FAREWELL PARTY — Leo Mattingly, chemist at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation, was given a farewell dinner recently at Anton's Bib Savage Inn by the personnel of the main laboratory of the local plant. Mattingly expects to continue his education at a college in Lakeland, Fla., where he and his wife, the former Agnes O'Brien of Midland, expect to make their home. Herbert C. Heineman, supervisor of the main laboratory, was toastmaster and presented the guest of honor with a gift in behalf of the members present. Among those present were, seated from left to right, Paul McFarland, Mrs. Gwendelyn Youngerman, Mrs. Charles Kreiger, Mrs. Emery Loar, Mrs. Joseph Harvey, Mrs. William Price, Mrs. William Chaney, Mrs. Harold McKenzie and Mrs. Robert Konzal. Standing, same order, are Paul Montgomery, William Powell, Robert Thom, Mrs. Charles Hughes, Paul Fuller, Ernest Fauss, Frank Byer, Frank Bareis, George Mease, William Kelly, Mattingly, Heineman, Kenneth Crowe, Walter Trost, Charles Hughes, Miss Irene Llewellyn and Mrs. James Wiebrecht. Bareis, Mease, Kelly, Mattingly, Heineman, Crowe, Trost and Hughes all have been employed at the Celanese plant at least 25 years and all of that time in the main laboratory.

Belle Grove Man Released To Pennsylvania Authorities

A Belle Grove man held in the county jail since last week on a charge of stealing 22 cases of beer from a disabled truck on U. S. Route 40 in that community four years ago has admitted being one of two men who set fire to a farmer's barn last month.

Cpl. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police here, questioned Lester Frederick Joy, 22, concerning the barn burning incident after he learned that Joy and a companion had an altercation with the farmer whose barn was burned.

Joy finally admitted he and a companion set fire to the structure owned by James Jordan, of Bethel Township in Fulton County, Pa., just across the state line from Belle Grove. He said that he and his companion were angered when Jordan struck him (Joy) with a club when they kept the farmer's daughter out late one night.

Joy was returned to Fulton County to face a charge of arson. Sgt. George Hahn and Cpl. Lester F. Hoover came here for Joy. The loss in the fire exceeded $2,000 with a quantity of hay, a calf and two dogs being destroyed in the blaze.

Cpl. Baker also took into custody David Rose, 17, of Winchester Road, in connection with the theft of $44 in cash from the home of Michael Winstanley, a neighbor, last Friday.

When Rose was ordered to take off his shoes at the county jail it was found he had "secreted" 19 silver half dollars in his shoes.

A rhetorical question is one which does not require an answer.

Youngster Reported In "Good" Condition

Harry Pallman, four, of 3 Ridgeley Street, Ridgeley, is reported in "good" condition by attaches at Sacred Heart Hospital. The youngster was admitted early Monday afternoon after he fell on a piece of broken glass and cut a tendon in his left hand.

Blood Contribution Is Reported Heavy

A report by the Johnstown Regional Blood Bank for the week of August 30 reveals that of the 570 pints collected more than half of the amount was received in Cumberland and Frostburg.

In Cumberland a total of 168 pints were collected while Frostburg area residents donated 142 bottles of blood.

Johnstown area residents gave 78 pints at one center and 14 bottles were collected at the regional center there. Mifflin County (Pa.) Chapter at Lewistown provided 89 pints, 93 pints were collected at Blair County Chapter in Hollidaysburg.

Blood distribution amounted to 649 bottles — 482 to hospitals and 167 to the Defense Department.

Few Accidents Happen In Area Over Weekend

The tri-state area was practically accident-free over a long Labor Day holiday that saw the highways literally packed with autos.

The safety programs apparently have paid off for this section of the state as this is the second long weekend holiday this year when no fatalities occurred on the roads. The other was Memorial Day.

The death of Richard O. Valentine, 29, Bedford Road, outside of Ridgeley Friday at 3 p. m. occurred just three hours before the holiday counting period began.

There were only four persons hospitalized in Cumberland as a result of auto mishaps over the weekend.

Two women were admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital Monday following a two-car collision at the intersection of Frederick and Decatur streets.

They were Mrs. Regina C. Hammersmith, 35, of 524 Woodside Avenue, and Mrs. JoAnn Becker, 19, of 117 North Mechanic Street.

City Police Officer Kenneth Morrissey in his report said the car operated by Mrs. Becker's husband David Paul Becker, 22, failed to stop at the stop sign on Frederick Street and rammed into the right side of the auto driven by Mrs. Hammersmith's husband, Charles F. Hammersmith, 38.

A passing motorist took the two women to the hospital where Mrs. Becker is being treated for left ankle and left arm injuries and Mrs. Hammersmith for a severe laceration of the forehead. X-rays will be taken to determine whether Mrs. Hammersmith has any further head injuries.

Officer Morrissey charged Becker with reckless driving and set the trial for Saturday in Trial Magistrates Court.

Sacred Heart Hospital also reported that Jerry Maguire, 24, of 52 Wempe Drive, was admitted early Sunday morning after an accident on Bedford Road.

Maguire told hospital attendants he was thrown partly through the windshield of a car in which he and another man (not identified) were riding when the vehicle left the road and hit a utility pole shortly after 10 a. m.

He was admitted for treatment of nose and forehead lacerations.

In the only other accident reported, an auto-bicycle mishap, Leon Richard Chaney, 10, of Frostburg, was reported in an improved condition in Memorial Hospital. He suffered head injuries when thrown from his bicycle after it collided with a car in Frostburg Saturday.

State Police working out of the Hyndale Barracks over the weekend made 104 arrests and issued 162 warnings.

West Virginia State Police at Romney said there were no serious mishaps on Route 50 and 28 and Pennsylvania Turnpike police reported none over Labor Day.

City Worker Sleeps In Buchholtz's Car

A Street Department employe hired within the past two weeks is being held by City Police after he was found asleep in the front seat of his boss' car.

City Police early yesterday picked up William Dawson in the car of Street Department Commissioner William V. Buchholtz parked on Gay Street.

City Detectives Donald Smith and Joseph Stitcher reported that they received a notice Monday night from Commissioner Buchholtz that his car was missing from its parking place in front of his business establishment on Mechanic Street.

Early yesterday, they were cruising in the vicinity of Gay Street when they noticed the commissioner's auto parked there, the detectives said.

Upon investigation, they found Dawson sleeping in it. They took him into custody. No charges have been placed against him, pending completion of the investigation.

Police Department To Get New Uniforms, Cruisers

The Police Department will be getting new uniforms and new cruisers.

The Mayor and Council authorized Police Commissioner William V. Keegan to advertise for bids for four new cruisers and for 50 new uniforms.

The council also authorized Water Commissioner William J. Edwards to advertise for bids for a one-ton truck for the Water Department.

Replacement Equipment

In both departments, the equipment to be purchased are replacements for existing equipment.

A probationary fireman was added to the Fire Department, Charles A. Nave. His appointment becomes effective today.

In answer to the question by John J. Long, finance commissioner, as to whether this appointment was for one of the additional men needed on the department, Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker answered in the affirmative.

The report of the Finance Department showed a balance as of September 1 of $172,623 in the general fund; water operative account, $254,096; general improvement bond account, $159,026; paving bond account, $33.72; flood account, $631.49, and sewer bonds of 1931, a total of $2,560.

Other Receipts Listed

Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk, reported receipts during August totaling $1,766.65, of which $1,266 was for bingo tax and recreation admission tax for bingo; licenses, $70; produce permits, $7; sales of City Code, $15; Sunday movie tax, $393.65, and recreation admission tax, $13.60.

Harry C. Hilleary, city weighmaster, reported 200 trucks were weighed and $66.02 was collected in receipts during August.

The city tax collector, George E. Davis, submitted a report for August showing receipts totaling $43,324.95 of which $38,459.36 was from water; $2,269.80 for sewer bonds of 1931; $915.96 for general improvement bonds and $1,679.83 for general account receipts.

Parking meters produced $532.49 during the week ending August 29. The previous week had collections totaling $531.23.

Auxiliary Police To Assist In Directing City Traffic

The Cumberland Auxiliary Police will be pressed into action by the City Police Department at three busy points in downtown Cumberland during peak traffic periods six days a week.

William V. Keegan, police and fire commisioner, received permission from the Mayor and Council to use three auxiliary officers daily.

They will be assigned at Frederick and North Centre streets, Liberty and Baltimore streets, and Dexter place and South Centre Street.

The volunteer policemen will be on duty Monday through Saturday between 3 p. m. and 6 p. m., which Commissioner Keegan says is the peak traffic period.

The police commissioner said the auxiliary police force will bill the city each month at the rate of $1.50 for each hour worked by its members.

The money goes into the treasury of the auxiliary police force and will come from the City Police Department funds, Commissioner Keegan reported.

The volunteer police organization, the only one of its kind in Maryland, will staff the three points from its pool of uniformed body of 50 men.

Commissioner Keegan also announced another traffic change. The signal light at the junction of Hilltop Drive, and Louisiana Avenue, and Williams Street, will be moved to North Centre and Valley streets.

The commissioner pointed out that when the Valley Street Bridge is completed there will be a greater amount of traffic using that connection between North End and West Side.

He also said a light is needed there because of the children attending Centre Street School.

Beer Permit Refused After Remonstrance

The Board of License Commissioners yesterday rejected an application for a beer permit for premises at Cresaptown after hearing a remonstrance filed by a group of church people.

The application was filed by William Dale Ware for an establishment on Craddock Drive. He did not appear to contest the remonstrance.

There were only two witnesses heard, Rev. Raymond Crowe, pastor of the Methodist Church, and Rev. William L. Stroup, pastor of the Baptist Church. Both head Cresaptown congregations.

Catholic School Accepts Negroes

For the first time in the history of Allegany County, Negro children are attending school with white children.

Yesterday morning 19 Negro pupils enrolled at SS. Peter and Paul School to make that school the first in the county to drop the bars of segregation.

There were no statistics available as to the classes in which they were enrolled.

SS. Peter and Paul School and LaSalle High School also had registration of children from Bean's Cove, Pa., whose parents protested the long bus ride to Everett, Pa., for high school and Chaneysville for elementary pupils.

The action at SS Peter and Paul to provide a parochial school education for Negroes was announced at all the masses Sunday by Rev. Marius J. Elsener, pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Church.

Rev. Dr. Leo J. McCormick, Ph. D., superintendent of parochial schools in the Archdiocese of Baltimore, announced after the Supreme Court ruling on de-segregation, that all Catholic schools in the archdiocese would accept Negro children this fall.

Port Hangar Leak Reported

The director of the Corinthian Engineering Service, 210 Avirett Avenue, Charles L. Herath, has registered a complaint with the Mayor and Council about a leak in the hangar he rents from the city at Municipal Airport.

Herath said in a letter that for the past six months he has endeavored to stop the gallons of rain from pouring in through the leak on his airplane.

He added that as a last resort he found he must request the Mayor and Council to have Charles F. Heller, airport maintenance superintendent, repair the roof.

Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, was asked for a report on this matter and the engineer said he investigated the matter with Heller.

Nuzum said Heller reported he had received no complaint about the leak. The airport maintenance supervisor said it was his practice to immediately repair any such trouble as reported to him.

The matter was turned over to Heller for action.

County Purchases New Pickup Truck

The bid of the Frostburg Auto Company to furnish a four-wheel drive pickup truck for use by the County Roads Department was accepted yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

The Frostburg firm offered $1,245.45 on a trade in of a truck now in use and the net price to the county for a new vehicle will be $1,200.

The Green Chevrolet Company of Frostburg bid a net of $1,859.51, the Pen Mar Motor Company's net bid was $1,275, and the Light and Decker Company of this city made a net bid of $2,000.

uous. Her immense mineral wealth includes copper, iron ore, coal and petroleum, salt wells, limestone, clay, sand, gravel, and gypsum. Her vast forests and rich farm lands are additional sources of prosperity.

Michigan's ample supplies of minerals and lumber combined with the Great Lakes' transportation facilities have made her one of the leading manufacturing states in the Union. Detroit is the automobile capital of the world. Other automobile manufacturing centers in Michigan are Lansing, the state capital, Flint, Pontiac, and Jackson. Grand Rapids, the second largest city in the state, is famous for its furniture industry.

Vacation Land

Michigan offers its residents and visitors a good place to live—and a marvelous vacation land. Her assets are enormous: 3,000 miles of Great Lakes' seashore, 36,000 miles of rivers and streams, 11,037 inland lakes, 9,700 miles of trunk line highways, 234 landing fields, 60 state parks, 63 roadside parks, 17,000,000 acres of forest and a prodigal abundance of game and fish.

Michigan's first schools, established in 1798 by Father Gabriel Richard, served both Indians and whites. The first public school system was organized in Detroit in 1814, while the University of Michigan was founded at Detroit in 1817 and has been at Ann Arbor since 1837.

Today Michigan has more than 48 institutions of higher learning in addition to an excellent system of primary and secondary education. There are more than 280 public library systems in the state with a total of more than four million books. The state university has more than a million books in its libraries including the famous William L. Clements Library of American History.

In the field of fine arts Michigan has several noted museums and important art schools. The National Music Camp is located at Interlochen.

The Wolverine State has shown great interest in its peoples' welfare and has pioneered in juvenile welfare and public health.

Michigan "greats" include James Oliver Curwood, Marguerite De Angeli, Edna Ferber, Edgar Guest, and Ring Lardner, authors; Charles Augustus Lindberg, aviator; James Angell, educator; Henry Ford, inventor and industrialist; W. K. Kellogg, manufacturer and health pioneer; James Couzens, philanthropist, and Arthur Vandenberg, statesman.

The State bird is the robin, the State flower the apple blossom, and the State song is "Michigan M, Michigan" sung to the same tune as "Maryland My Maryland."

The Library recommends the following books dealing with Michigan: "Copper Toed Boots" by Marguerite De Angeli; "Country School Ma'am" by Della Lutes; "Ford: the Times, the Man, the Company" by Allan Nevins; "Michigan—a Guide to the Wolverine State;" "Michigan in Four Centuries" by F. C. Bald, and "Lake Michigan" by Milo Quaife.

Major Elmer Wall

They have served in Laurel, Miss.; Mobile, Ala.; Meridian, Miss.; Durham, N. C., for nine years; Selma, Ala.; Shreveport, La.; Knoxville, Tenn., and Cumberland. They moved to Richmond from Prince George's County, a part of the National Capital Division, where the major was in charge of the thickly populated county. He organized the county's first advisory board.

The major firmly advocates the army advisory board system and is convinced that its work would be much less effective without the aid of the lay men and women who comprise the boards.

The Walls have three children: Mrs. Jack Brewer, who with her captain husband is stationed in Charlotte, N. C.; Miss Alma Wall, who is in business, and Elmer Wall, Jr., a recent graduate of Bob Jones University, who will leave tomorrow for Atlanta, Ga., to enter the Salvation Army Training College. He expects to be commissioned next June.

Sunday's services at Richmond also marked a welcome for two other Salvation Army officers: Lieutenant Nora Hawkins, from Huntington, W. Va., and Captain Janie Blanchard, from Covington.

Lieutenant Hawkins will have charge of the Lighthouse Corps, replacing Captain and Mrs. Thomas Grigsby, and Captain Blanchard will work in the finance department of the division headquarters, and also assist at the Oregon Hill Lighthouse.

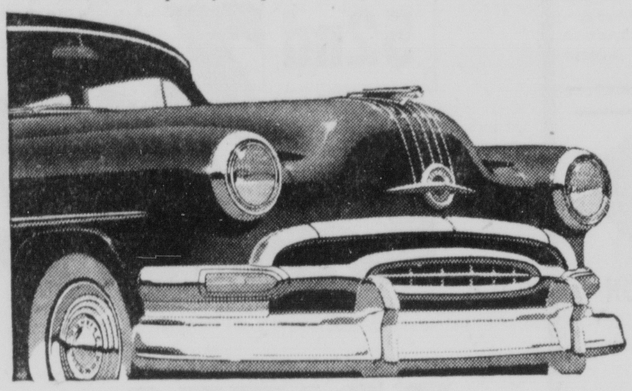
4 Important Reasons why you should buy a PONTIAC RIGHT Now!

1 Pontiac is One of the Greatest Cars Ever Built!

Match today's Pontiac with America's finest cars and you'll get a dramatic picture of Pontiac value. First of all, Pontiac is big—bigger, in fact, than many cars costing hundreds of dollars more. Pontiac is beautiful—with its distinctive Silver Streak styling. Inside, you'll find genuine fine-car luxury and appointments—along with the roominess and comfort that come only with a long wheelbase. But the big surprise comes when you test Pontiac's performance. See how alert it is to every demand in traffic, how it handles and corners almost without effort, how it takes to the open road with plenty of power to spare and saves money every mile.



2 Pontiac has the Best Resale Value in its Price Class!

Along with all its fine-car size, luxury and performance, Pontiac has a very special attribute no car at any price can beat—its unsurpassed reputation for year-in, year-out dependability. Pontiac's carefree, economical long life and its proved record of amazingly low maintenance expense are so widely known and acknowledged that it commands the highest resale value in its price class. Because Pontiac is America's most desirable used car, your original investment comes back in greater measure when you trade.

3 Pontiac is Priced Just Above the Lowest!

After you've convinced yourself of Pontiac's value, after you've considered all the good things you've heard about its dependability—see how it compares dollar-wise. Despite the fact that it's a fine car in every sense of the term, Pontiac is priced so near the lowest that if you can afford any new car you can afford a Pontiac.

4 We'll Make You a Deal You Can't Afford to Miss!

Right now we're making such liberal trade-in allowances that you just can't afford to pass up the greatest opportunity you ever had to become a fine-car owner. Come in and get the facts.

Down through the years, there have been two important traditions in the brewing of a great beer.

First you take the brewery to a place where better water has been found.

And second, you brew the beer in s-m-a-l-l quantities . . . . with patience and pride.

Here at Old Export we sincerely believe in both those traditions.

For years we have explained that Mountain Water makes a difference. Now we remind you of another fact.

It is simply this: anything you eat or drink tastes best when it's prepared a little at a time.

Old Export is always brewed in s-m-a-l-l quantities. This is your assurance of unchanging good taste.

Information Agency Is Tightening Up

What has been happening to the U. S. Information Agency? This propaganda arm of the government has been under heavy congressional fire from the beginning. It has been accused of employing Communist sympathizers and of putting out Red-tinged propaganda, of inept organization and management, and of general ineffectiveness.

Directors of the agency said it had entered a field in which the United States lacked previous experience, that it was steadily improving by trial and error. They complained that good men with the necessary skill at languages, psychology and broadcasting were hard to get.

But it was obvious that the agency could do a better job, and progress in that direction has been made. During the last six months it spent 38 per cent less money, had 29 per cent fewer employes, closed some libraries, issued fewer publications, and curtailed operations in areas not directly threatened by communism. It is moving its headquarters from New York to Washington.

In critical areas, meanwhile, it is stepping up its activities. Before the Geneva Conference ended, it was beginning to concentrate on Indochina and Thailand, foreseeing that this area would become an ideological battlefield, with Communist infiltration and subversion down to the rice-paddy level. Special material is being prepared, including documentaries showing how the Communists behaved in Poland, Korea and the Baltic states.

It sounds good. But the question is how it will sound to the people of Indochina during the next two years in which they will decide whether to vote for communism or freedom.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

How Naive Can One Be?

Charles P. Taft is president of the Committee for a National Trade Policy, Inc., which is an innocent enough name. All sorts of persons are interested in a national trade policy, from those who believe in a high tariff to those who favor free trade, and all stops in between. This committee is more or less for free trade in the free world.

So Mr. Taft objects to an article I wrote some time back and notified one of my editors to that effect. The editor kindly sent me Taft's letter which contains, among other items of complaint, the following:

"In the full text of George Sokolsky's recent column headed 'Marginal Industries' he has repeated uncritically some of the current high tariff misrepresentations.

"But in one respect he added his own comment by referring to 'nasty' competition in Christmas toys 'from the atheistic countries behind the iron curtain.'

"While it is true that the Communist party functionaries in those countries seek to submerge the church, it is quite evident that the effort has not succeeded, as was so clearly demonstrated in the great church gathering recently in East Germany. To label such strong supporters of the church as Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Romania as 'atheistic' is completely at variance with the known facts. One of the most potent forces in the fight against communism is Christianity, Catholic, Orthodox and Protestant, and to damn these unfortunate countries, forced behind the iron curtain by superior force and geographical location with the charge of being 'atheistic' is a distinct disservice to any reasoned attempt to draw these 'iron curtain' countries back into the free world."

This letter was written in July of 1954 when the renewed anti-religion campaign of the Soviet Universal State was moving at full blast, a fact which has been duly reported in this country. "Pravda," official organ of the Communist party, published an editorial which said:

"One of the most alive and harmful remnants of capitalism in the consciousness of the people are religious prejudices. These prejudices to this day poison the mind (sozaniye) and happiness of our people and hinder them in taking an active part in the construction of communism . . .

". . . some party, Komsomol, trade union, and other organizations, called upon to carry out educational work among the masses, for some reason understand for 'freedom of conscience' only the freedom of disseminating religious points of view, forgetting that it is their duty to educate the workers and to develop scientific-atheistic propaganda."

Further, the "Pravda" article says:

"The consistent implementation of measures which provide for a further rise in the cultural level of the workers, the extensive dissemination of natural scientific knowledge, the demonstration of the achievements of Soviet science, technology and culture—these are the ways for the formation of a scientific-atheistic world outlook of the Soviet people. Scientific-atheistic propaganda must be developed in such a manner as not to offend the believers, but to influence them by example, conviction, and the dissemination of scientific knowledge."

Charles P. Taft may be sentimentally attuned to the concept that scientific atheism has been invented by Soviet Russia's enemies. If that is so, he has avoided reading the literature of Marxism and the history of the struggle between Marxism and Christianity where these two forces co-exist in the same country. Perhaps he might find the time to study the history of the Bezbozniki, the Society of the Godless, which devoted itself to the destruction of God in Soviet Russia.

Perhaps he has never heard of Cardinal Mindszenty or of Archbishop Stepinac, or of the torture and martyrdom of Christian missionaries in China. He can find full documentation on these subjects. But let me quote "Pravda" a little more, because it tells the story better than I can:

"The party, which is developing extensive work in the Communist education of the masses, cannot tolerate a neglected scientific-atheistic propaganda. It is the duty of party organizations to eliminate as soon as possible shortcomings which exist in this sphere and to activate scientific-atheistic propaganda. In our Socialist society, all objective possibilities and prerequisites have been created for the complete overcoming of all remnants of capitalism in the consciousness of the people, including religious prejudices and superstitions. It is necessary to create a large-scale all-encompassing impetus to scientific-atheistic propaganda, and to improve its content decisively."

Some Senate Precedents Seen As Unbecoming Conduct

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Senator Watkins of Utah, chairman of the special committee of six which is considering the resolution to "censure" Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin, says frankly that the Senate makes up its own mind irrespective of "precedents."

What the public doesn't realize perhaps is that some of these "precedents" are very bad and constitute conduct unbecoming to the United States Senate itself.

For it will hardly be believed today but there were 28 United States senators who once voted to unseat the duly elected United States senator from Utah, Reed Smoot, because he was a high official of the Mormon church and because various senators didn't like the church's attitude toward polygamy.

Although the Constitution says "no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States," a motion was made in the Senate on January 27, 1904, to unseat Mr. Smoot. He was not a polygamist himself and his church had already issued a manifesto banning plural marriages but nevertheless after a protracted investigation a Senate committee rendered on June 11, 1906, a majority report recommending that Mr. Smoot be unseated. On February 20, 1907, the Senate itself voted 42 to 28 to permit him to retain his seat and 20 senators did not vote. Mr. Smoot became one of the most respected members of the Senate, was re-elected several times, and for several years served as chairman of the all-powerful Finance Committee. Another Mormon—Senator Watkins of Utah—is one of the most respected members of the Senate today.

Each House Sole Judge

If the Senate, however, had the power in 1907 to expel a member because the senators of that day didn't like the Mormon church, another group of senators tomorrow can expel someone else because the Senate may not like the allegiance of a senator to the Catholic church or to some other church. No court can restrain the Senate or the House from doing an improper act with respect to its members as each house is the sole judge of the qualifications of its members.

This makes it all the more important that United States senators should not be governed by the passions of hysteria of the hour and that they now should establish a set of "standards" and, in fairness, declare that the punishment for violating the new rules should not be imposed on any senator on an ex-post facto or retroactive basis.

For there is hardly a single charge leveled against Senator McCarthy which could not have been made the subject of a "censure" resolution against many other senators in the past.

Take the charge about the alleged FBI document to which Senator McCarthy referred during the McCarthy-Stevens hearings but which he never made public. It contained data on personnel procedures rather than national security secrets. Yet if the "standard" is that a senator cannot make public information arbitrarily marked "top secret" by an executive department or agency, then the case of Senator Edwin Johnson of Colorado, Democrat, could have been investigated for possible "censure" because of what he revealed about the hydrogen bomb in a television speech in November 1949. He was at the time a member of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy which regularly was being given secret information by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Summoned By Truman

The Colorado senator, who incidentally is a member of the committee of six trying McCarthy, vehemently denied that he had said in his speech anything which had not been previously published, but a Washington newspaper charged editorially that he had violated proper practice with respect to government secrets and pointed out that President Truman immediately afterward summoned the chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy and the attorney general to the White House and issued instructions against improper disclosure of security data which was being made available to congressional committees.

Among the charges filed against Senator McCarthy are some referring to his intemperate characterizations of fellow senators. But Senator Flanders himself made a speech recently insinuating something improper about the Wisconsin senator's personal life and the innuendo was not lost on the television audience. Instances will be found involving senators who were never "censured" for utterances during a campaign impugning the motives and integrity of senators and others in public life.

Likewise, many members of Congress have declined to accept an "invitation" to testify about their personal affairs before a congressional committee, and it so happens that the Gillette Committee never issued a subpoena to Senator McCarthy when it asked him to appear. If, instead of exchanging letters as he did, in which he categorically denied the truth of the accusations, Senator McCarthy had ignored a subpoena, he could, of course, have been charged with contempt.

As to "browbeating witnesses," what shall be said of the action of Senator Bush of Connecticut, Republican, who a few days ago, while sitting as a "one-man committee" in the investigation of windfall profits in the housing scandals, castigated a business man for evading questions and refusing to bring in his books? Would Senator Bush be subject now to "censure" or is it all right, according to senatorial "standards," to denounce a recalcitrant witness if he doesn't happen to be a general?

Plainly the Senate cannot have one rule for the Wisconsin senator and another rule for other senators unless it intends to return to the rule of anarchy whereby a United States senator was almost unseated because other senators didn't like his particular church.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

It's a well-balanced planning when the children go back to school as congressmen take a vacation.

That keeps everything as even as store teeth. When Congress meets again it might be a good idea to put the bright ones up in front.

Committees will improve each shining hour polishing the minutes of the meeting. All the others have 60 days to keep their old promises or make new ones.

The national committees are busy doing their opponent's thinking. It starts in the lower echelons at state level politics.

Here's an average broadcast through the knothole in the spite fence, "If Senator Bleepers runs on his record it's a fisherman's walk. One step and overboard.

"He is haunted by the investigations of his ineffectual administration and now proposes to hand-pick his successor. It is a record of talking one way and acting another. Gentlemen, what we now need is a change."

The other side cooks up the same ala malarkey except that it is busily making laurel wreaths for toupees. It accuses its political enemies of posing as liberals, putting another hill in front of the poorhouse and carrying the bundle by the string.

Multifply the commotion in the commonwealths by 48 and you have a reasonable silhouette of the campaign. The only thing they haven't blamed on Senator Bleepers is the rock-fall at Niagara.

Pearson And His Contemporaries Fail Grandsons As War Threats Continue

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—During the past two weeks I have been a long way from the death pangs of EDC and the cavortings of the French Chamber of Deputies.

For when you're watching a seven-year-old grandson learn to swim; or herd the cows to pasture; or bring a new born calf in from pasture on the back of a truck in such a way that its mother will follow—well things in the rest of the world seem very far away and very unimportant.

Yet I couldn't help but think as we caught minnows in a lazy, muddy creek, and collected tadpoles in a Mason jar, and cut sapling props to keep overloaded peach tree limbs from breaking, that what was happening in France, the vote that was taken in the Chamber of Deputies vitally affected the future of the red-headed, freckled-faced boy more than anything that has happened in his seven carefree years. Probably, too, it affects the world more than anything that has happened since December 7, 1941, or even since March 7, 1936, the day Hitler invaded the Ruhr.

My grandson has gone now. Only his somewhat tattered swimming trunks hang on the clothes-line to remind me of those two weeks when my youth was lived over again. I am left with an empty typewriter and the thought of how I and my contemporaries have failed him and other grandsons all over the world.

For wars are not brewed in a day. They come slowly—incident piled upon incident, suspicion piled on suspicion. And what the vote in the French Chamber of Deputies means is that my grandson and thousands of other grandsons will almost certainly have to march off to war—once again.

How Wars Start

Sitting here at an empty typewriter, looking out at the bathing trunks, I can see far beyond to a chain of events, many of which I, as a newspaperman, covered, events which could have built for peace, but which were allowed to drift and carried us into war:

First there was Henry L. Stimson, idealistic, vigorous old secretary of state under Hoover, whom I watched grapple with the Japanese invasion of Manchuria in 1931. Stimson saw the invasion for what it was—the beginning of Japanese conquest of Asia, the beginning of World War II. Valiantly he strove to rally the peace machinery of the world, to persuade isolationist forces inside the Republican party to go along with him. . . . He failed. It was division among our allies, division inside the Hoover cabinet, division inside the Republican party that caused the failure. . . . If he had succeeded a generation might have been spared from marching off to war.

After this, the dictators got stronger. Japan marched almost at will through China. Mussolini swaggered into helpless Ethiopia, thumbed his nose at the League of Nations' efforts to stop him. . . . Again the world's peace machinery weakened. . . . Roosevelt and Sumner Welles took another try at bolstering it when they called the Brussells Conference in 1936 to apply sanctions to Japan's war lords. . . . They also failed. . . . This time it was division among the Democrats and among our allies that caused the failure. Cordell Hull did not like Sumner Welles. England was suspicious of the U. S. . . . So the world drifted.

France Vaccilates

By the time Hitler ordered his SS corps into the Ruhr and Rhineland, the democracies were well divided, the peace machinery well weakened. Each time it was weakened war became more certain. . . . All day on that famous March 7, 1936, the French cabinet debated. Should it mobilize? Should it resist the SS corps? All day the special telephone line between Paris and London was kept open. If England would back up France, France would resist Hitler. . . . But England held aloof. . . . On that day Hitler obtained the coal and steel resources of the Ruhr. On that day war became certain.

These were the mistakes we sought to avoid after World War II. That was why we organized the United Nations—and NATO—and sought to organize EDC, the United European Army. . . . That was also why Eisenhower was picked by Harry Truman to go to Europe in the winter of 1951. I visited Eisenhower in Paris at that time, where I learned his plans to organize a friendship train for Europe, a series of exhibits to tour the continent to sell Europeans on the importance of unity, make them realize that it was disunity that had caused the wars of the past. . . . But the British had said no. Either they distrusted Eisenhower or else they opposed unity. . . . Later in London I talked with various British cabinet officers, told them of my experiences with the American friendship train in Europe, urged the importance of selling the idea of European unity. I came away convinced Britain still believed in the ancient, outmoded policy of divide and rule.

Ike Hesitates

A year passed. . . . Again in Paris, talking to Eisenhower, it was suggested that unless he could put the United European Army across before he left Paris to run for president, it would never be put across. . . . Ike's future record as a great president might come to naught if the United European Army failed; it was also suggested. . . . More important, the peace of the world might come to naught. . . . And our sons and grandsons might march off to war again. . . . Ike's reply was that he was a military man, had been sent to Paris as a military man. He could not step beyond military bounds to work at the political job of European unity.

So the world drifted. . . . Daily more divided. In Germany in 1953, I suggested to Ernst Reuter, mayor of Berlin, that he invite the mayor of Paris to Berlin as a step to cement Franco-German unity. . . . A great mayor, a great man, Reuter hesitated. His Socialist party was opposed to EDC. . . . In Paris I suggested to the French that they break the ice by inviting the mayor of Berlin to Paris. They too hesitated. . . . And American diplomats hesitated. . . . By this time it was getting late, probably too late. . . . The drift continued. . . . And the division. . . . Until the vote against EDC in the Chamber of Deputies became inevitable.

Those are the things I thought about as I looked up from an empty typewriter to a pair of small swimming trunks on the line, thinking how my generation had failed, how it had let down the small boy who fished for minnows and brought the cows in from pasture and put tadpoles in a Mason jar unmindful of the burdens his grandfather was passing on to him.

Test Of A Trend

By Stewart Alsop

CLEVELAND

This state will provide the acid test of whether a real trend toward the Democrats has actually set in. For if there is really such a trend, Ohio will elect a Democrat to the Senate for the first time in 20 years.

Sen. Thomas A. Burke, the Democratic candidate here, starts with a whole series of important advantages. Burke is a former mayor of Cleveland. He was appointed to the Senate by Gov. Frank J. Lausche to fill the seat of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft. He is a likeable man with a map-of-Ireland face, a quiet, wit, and a reserved, almost chilly manner, in sharp contrast to the flamboyance of his opponent, Rep. George H. Bender.

Burke is described as the most popular mayor Cleveland ever had, and this is one of his most important assets. Cleveland's Cuyahoga County is the key to Ohio elections, in the same sense that New York City is the key to New York State elections. To win, Burke needs a majority of at least 100,000 Cuyahoga County, and perhaps 150,000—on this point both Burke and Bender solidy agree.

Bender has been the Republican boss of Cuyahoga county for many years, and he thus speaks with some authority when he says that Burke does not have the ghost of a chance of taking the needed majority. Burke is much less positive than Bender, as is his nature. But he thinks he can do it. Past voting statistics suggest that, if Burke can't do it, nobody can.

Key Industrial City

Cleveland is the key industrial city, but Burke also needs, of course, heavy majorities in all Ohio's industrial areas, since rural Ohio is solid Republican. Burke needs, in other words, a big labor turnout.

Ohio's labor chiefs learned a lesson in 1950. That year, the CIO and the AFL for all practicall purposes took over the campaign against Sen. Taft. Taft won even in the industrial areas. This year, labor will avoid bestowing on Burke the kiss of death—if there is such a thing as a political action committee in Ohio, it is not advertising its existence.

Yet the labor chiefs are, in a quiet way, all for Burke. They are working hard to register union voters, and labor will supply Burke with much needed financial help. Labor's quiet but effective support is another big Burke advantage.

Burke has still another asset, in the promised support of Ohio's fabulous governor, Frank J. Lausche.

Backed By Humphrey

With Lausche thus committed to Burke, the Democrats are more united than at any time in years. Conversely, the Bender candidacy split the Republican party down the middle. Bender was nominated in one of the toughest primary fights in recent history. His primary opponent, William Saxbe, called him, among other things, "a political huckster," "a hack," "a political clown," "a candidate of demonstrated mediocrity," and "a doomed candidate who would not win."

A good many Republicans still feel the same way about Bender. Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey is Bender's principal behind-the-scenes backer, and Humphrey is a power to be reckoned with in these parts and a most persuasive man. Yet checkbooks which used to fly open for Taft remain stubbornly closed to Bender.

All in all, it is surprising that the odds quoted here are still slightly on Bender. It is true, of course, that Burke is little known outside of Cleveland. It is also true that the Ohio voters have a habit of sending Republicans to the Senate. Even so, if the likeable Burke cannot be elected with all the advantages listed above, then the much-advertised Democratic trend is a myth, and the Democrats might as well cede Ohio's Senate seats to the Republicans in perpetuity.

A Dissertation Concerning Research On Pet Remedies

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Almost every week I receive a letter from a reader of the column describing a theory on the cause of cancer or a preventive of polio. Nine times out of 10 the man or woman writing asks that I pass on the play to a clinic or hospital research team saying, "I know this salve will work because it helped me and my friends."

I have no objection to these letters and am flattered at the confidence shown in my ability to help. But to submit such ideas for research is difficult. Some of these concepts represent old wives' tales handed down for generations but discarded by physicians years ago. Others are the brain child of an individual untrained in disease, who bases his conclusions upon unscientific premises or unproved ideas.

But these drawbacks are beside the point. Research is expensive and requires time and effort. Most scientists have enough ideas along this line to keep them busy for years and resent any suggestion to drop what they are doing and start anew on a wild goose chase.

The individual or the small concern interested in selling a new remedy for undulant fever (brucellosis) or a cancer cure has a tough problem. The medical profession and governmental agencies have strict rules on the safety and efficacy of such products. Unless these regulations are met, the remedy is not sanctioned.

The manufacturer may be so enthusiastic about his preparation he cannot understand why these rules cannot be waived "for the good of humanity." All too often he is more interested in his pocketbook and will not defray the research expense. Others submit a remedy and when it is turned down as useless resort to the old alibi, "The medical profession is against it because they don't want people to get well."

A remedy that shows promise is accepted quickly because physicians have always had the reputation for making people well rather than keeping them sick. Those who want a new substance tried must remember that a life may be at stake. I doubt if the man or woman with a theory would be willing to act as a guinea pig if the tables were turned.

I usually advise these people to present their projects to the family physician or to a staff member of the community hospital. If this fails, the local health department, heart association, or cancer society may be of help.

These groups have had previous experience along this line and can give an authoritative answer. If the idea holds any chance of being useful, they will submit it to experimentation.

Information Agency Is Tightening Up

What has been happening to the U. S. Information Agency? This propaganda arm of the government has been under heavy congressional fire from the beginning. It has been accused of employing Communist sympathizers and of putting out Red-tinged propaganda, of inept organization and management, and of general ineffectiveness.

Directors of the agency said it had entered a field in which the United States lacked previous experience, that it was steadily improving by trial and error. They complained that good men with the necessary skill at languages, psychology and broadcasting were hard to get.

But it was obvious that the agency could do a better job, and progress in that direction has been made. During the last six months it spent 38 per cent less money, had 29 per cent fewer employes, closed some libraries, issued fewer publications, and curtailed operations in areas not directly threatened by communism. It is moving its headquarters from New York to Washington.

In critical areas, meanwhile, it is stepping up its activities. Before the Geneva Conference ended, it was beginning to concentrate on Indochina and Thailand, foreseeing that this area would become an ideological battlefield, with Communist infiltration and subversion down to the rice-paddy level. Special material is being prepared, including documentaries showing how the Communists behaved in Poland, Korea and the Baltic states.

It sounds good. But the question is how it will sound to the people of Indochina during the next two years in which they will decide whether to vote for communism or freedom.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

How Naive Can One Be?

Charles P. Taft is president of the Committee for a National Trade Policy, Inc., which is an innocent enough name. All sorts of persons are interested in a national trade policy, from those who believe in a high tariff to those who favor free trade, and all stops in between. This committee is more or less for free trade in the free world.

So Mr. Taft objects to an article I wrote some time back and notified one of my editors to that effect. The editor kindly sent me Taft's letter which contains, among other items of complaint, the following:

"In the full text of George Sokolsky's recent column headed 'Marginal Industries' he has repeated uncritically some of the current high tariff misrepresentations.

"But in one respect he added his own comment by referring to 'nasty' competition in Christmas toys 'from the atheistic countries behind the iron curtain.'

"While it is true that the Communist party functionaries in those countries seek to submerge the church, it is quite evident that the effort has not succeeded, as was so clearly demonstrated in the great church gathering recently in East Germany. To label such strong supporters of the church as Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Romania as 'atheistic' is completely at variance with the known facts. One of the most potent forces in the fight against communism is Christianity, Catholic, Orthodox and Protestant, and to damn these unfortunate countries, forced behind the iron curtain by superior force and geographical location with the charge of being 'atheistic' is a distinct disservice to any reasoned attempt to draw these 'iron curtain' countries back into the free world."

This letter was written in July of 1954 when the renewed anti-religion campaign of the Soviet Universal State was moving at full blast, a fact which has been duly reported in this country. "Pravda," official organ of the Communist party, published an editorial which said:

"One of the most alive and harmful remnants of capitalism in the consciousness of the people are religious prejudices. These prejudices to this day poison the mind (sozaniye) and happiness of our people and hinder them in taking an active part in the construction of communism . . .

". . . some party, Komsomol, trade union, and other organizations, called upon to carry out educational work among the masses, for some reason understand for 'freedom of conscience' only the freedom of disseminating religious points of view, forgetting that it is their duty to educate the workers and to develop scientific-atheistic propaganda."

Further, the "Pravda" article says:

"The consistent implementation of measures which provide for a further rise in the cultural level of the workers, the extensive dissemination of natural scientific knowledge, the demonstration of the achievements of Soviet science, technology and culture—these are the ways for the formation of a scientific-atheistic world outlook of the Soviet people. Scientific-atheistic propaganda must be developed in such a manner as not to offend the believers, but to influence them by example, conviction, and the dissemination of scientific knowledge."

Charles P. Taft may be sentimentally attuned to the concept that scientific atheism has been invented by Soviet Russia's enemies. If that is so, he has avoided reading the literature of Marxism and the history of the struggle between Marxism and Christianity where these two forces co-exist in the same country. Perhaps he might find the time to study the history of the Bezbozniki, the Society of the Godless, which devoted itself to the destruction of God in Soviet Russia.

Perhaps he has never heard of Cardinal Mindszenty or of Archbishop Stepinac, or of the torture and martyrdom of Christian missionaries in China. He can find full documentation on these subjects. But let me quote "Pravda" a little more, because it tells the story better than I can:

"The party, which is developing extensive work in the Communist education of the masses, cannot tolerate a neglected scientific-atheistic propaganda. It is the duty of party organizations to eliminate as soon as possible shortcomings which exist in this sphere and to activate scientific-atheistic propaganda. In our Socialist society, all objective possibilities and prerequisites have been created for the complete overcoming of all remnants of capitalism in the consciousness of the people, including religious prejudices and superstitions. It is necessary to create a large-scale all-encompassing impetus to scientific-atheistic propaganda, and to improve its content decisively."

Some Senate Precedents Seen As Unbecoming Conduct

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Senator Watkins of Utah, chairman of the special committee of six which is considering the resolution to "censure" Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin, says frankly that the Senate makes up its own mind irrespective of "precedents."

What the public doesn't realize perhaps is that some of these "precedents" are very bad and constitute conduct unbecoming to the United States Senate itself.

For it will hardly be believed today but there were 28 United States senators who once voted to unseat the duly elected United States senator from Utah, Reed Smoot, because he was a high official of the Mormon church and because various senators didn't like the church's attitude toward polygamy.

Although the Constitution says "no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States," a motion was made in the Senate on January 27, 1904, to unseat Mr. Smoot. He was not a polygamist himself and his church had already issued a manifesto banning plural marriages but nevertheless after a protracted investigation a Senate committee rendered on June 11, 1906, a majority report recommending that Mr. Smoot be unseated. On February 20, 1907, the Senate itself voted 42 to 28 to permit him to retain his seat and 20 senators did not vote. Mr. Smoot became one of the most respected members of the Senate, was re-elected several times, and for several years served as chairman of the all-powerful Finance Committee. Another Mormon—Senator Watkins of Utah—is one of the most respected members of the Senate today.

Each House Sole Judge

If the Senate, however, had the power in 1907 to expel a member because the senators of that day didn't like the Mormon church, another group of senators tomorrow can expel someone else because the Senate may not like the allegiance of a senator to the Catholic church or to some other church. No court can restrain the Senate or the House from doing an improper act with respect to its members as each house is the sole judge of the qualifications of its members.

This makes it all the more important that United States senators should not be governed by the passions of hysteria of the hour and that they now should establish a set of "standards" and, in fairness, declare that the punishment for violating the new rules should not be imposed on any senator on an ex-post facto or retroactive basis.

For there is hardly a single charge leveled against Senator McCarthy which could not have been made the subject of a "censure" resolution against many other senators in the past.

Take the charge about the alleged FBI document to which Senator McCarthy referred during the McCarthy-Stevens hearings but which he never made public. It contained data on personnel procedures rather than national security secrets. Yet if the "standard" is that a senator cannot make public information arbitrarily marked "top secret" by an executive department or agency, then the case of Senator Edwin Johnson of Colorado, Democrat, could have been investigated for possible "censure" because of what he revealed about the hydrogen bomb in a television speech in November 1949. He was at the time a member of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy which regularly was being given secret information by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Summoned By Truman

The Colorado senator, who incidentally is a member of the committee of six trying McCarthy, vehemently denied that he had said in his speech anything which had not been previously published, but a Washington newspaper charged editorially that he had violated proper practice with respect to government secrets and pointed out that President Truman immediately afterward summoned the chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy and the attorney general to the White House and issued instructions against improper disclosure of security data which was being made available to congressional committees.

Among the charges filed against Senator McCarthy are some referring to his intemperate characterizations of fellow senators. But Senator Flanders himself made a speech recently insinuating something improper about the Wisconsin senator's personal life and the innuendo was not lost on the television audience. Instances will be found involving senators who were never "censured" for utterances during a campaign impugning the motives and integrity of senators and others in public life.

Likewise, many members of Congress have declined to accept an "invitation" to testify about their personal affairs before a congressional committee, and it so happens that the Gillette Committee never issued a subpoena to Senator McCarthy when it asked him to appear. If, instead of exchanging letters as he did, in which he categorically denied the truth of the accusations, Senator McCarthy had ignored a subpoena, he could, of course, have been charged with contempt.

As to "browbeating witnesses," what shall be said of the action of Senator Bush of Connecticut, Republican, who a few days ago, while sitting as a "one-man committee" in the investigation of windfall profits in the housing scandals, castigated a business man for evading questions and refusing to bring in his books? Would Senator Bush be subject now to "censure" or is it all right, according to senatorial "standards," to denounce a recalcitrant witness if he doesn't happen to be a general?

Plainly the Senate cannot have one rule for the Wisconsin senator and another rule for other senators unless it intends to return to the rule of anarchy whereby a United States senator was almost unseated because other senators didn't like his particular church.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

It's a well-balanced planning when the children go back to school as congressmen take a vacation.

That keeps everything as even as store teeth. When Congress meets again it might be a good idea to put the bright ones up in front.

Committees will improve each shining hour polishing the minutes of the meeting. All the others have 60 days to keep their old promises or make new ones.

The national committees are busy doing their opponent's thinking. It starts in the lower echelons at state level politics.

Here's an average broadcast through the knothole in the spite fence, "If Senator Bleepers runs on his record it's a fisherman's walk. One step and overboard.

"He is haunted by the investigations of his ineffectual administration and now proposes to hand-pick his successor. It is a record of talking one way and acting another. Gentlemen, what we now need is a change."

The other side cooks up the same ala malarkey except that it is busily making laurel wreaths for toupees. It accuses its political enemies of posing as liberals, putting another hill in front of the poorhouse and carrying the bundle by the string.

Multifply the commotion in the commonwealths by 48 and you have a reasonable silhouette of the campaign. The only thing they haven't blamed on Senator Bleepers is the rock-fall at Niagara.

Pearson And His Contemporaries Fail Grandsons As War Threats Continue

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—During the past two weeks I have been a long way from the death pangs of EDC and the cavortings of the French Chamber of Deputies.

For when you're watching a seven-year-old grandson learn to swim; or herd the cows to pasture; or bring a new born calf in from pasture on the back of a truck in such a way that its mother will follow—well things in the rest of the world seem very far away and very unimportant.

Yet I couldn't help but think as we caugh minnows in a lazy, muddy creek, and collected tadpoles in a Mason jar, and cut sapling props to keep overloaded peach tree limbs from breaking, that what was happening in France, the vote that was taken in the Chamber of Deputies vitally affected the future of the red-headed, freckled-faced boy more than anything that has happened in his seven carefree years. Probably, too, it affects the world more than anything that has happened since December 7, 1941, or even since March 7, 1936, the day Hitler invaded the Ruhr.

My grandson has gone now. Only his somewhat tattered swimming trunks hang on the clothes-line to remind me of those two weeks when my youth was lived over again. I am left with an empty typewriter and the thought of how I and my contemporaries have failed him and other grandsons all over the world.

For wars are not brewed in a day. They come slowly—incident piled upon incident, suspicion piled on suspicion. And what the vote in the French Chamber of Deputies means is that my grandson and thousands of other grandsons will almost certainly have to march off to war—once again.

How Wars Start

Sitting here at an empty typewriter, looking out at the bathing trunks, I can see far beyond to a chain of events, many of which I, as a newspaperman, covered, events which could have built for peace, but which were allowed to drift and carried us into war:

First there was Henry L. Stimson, idealistic, vigorous old secretary of state under Hoover, whom I watched grapple with the Japanese invasion of Manchuria in 1931. Stimson saw the invasion for what it was—the beginning of Japanese conquest of Asia, the beginning of World War II. Valiantly he strove to rally the peace machinery of the world, to persuade isolationist forces inside the Republican party to go along with him. . . . He failed. It was division among our allies, division inside the Hoover cabinet, division inside the Republican party that caused the failure. . . . If he had succeeded a generation might have been spared from marching off to war.

After this, the dictators got stronger. Japan marched almost at will through China. Mussolini swaggered into helpless Ethiopia, thumbed his nose at the League of Nations' efforts to stop him. . . . Again the world's peace machinery weakened. . . . Roosevelt and Sumner Welles took another try at bolstering it when they called the Brussells Conference in 1936 to apply sanctions to Japan's war lords. . . . They also failed. . . . This time it was division among the Democrats and among our allies that caused the failure. Cordell Hull did not like Sumner Welles. England was suspicious of the U. S. . . . So the world drifted.

France Vaccilates

By the time Hitler ordered his SS corps into the Ruhr and Rhineland, the democracies were well divided, the peace machinery well weakened. Each time it was weakened war became more certain. . . . All day on that famous March 7, 1936, the French cabinet debated. Should it mobilize? Should it resist the SS corps? All day the special telephone line between Paris and London was kept open. If England would back up France, France would resist Hitler. . . . But England held aloof. . . . On that day Hitler obtained the coal and steel resources of the Ruhr. On that day war became certain.

These were the mistakes we sought to avoid after World War II. That was why we organized the United Nations—and NATO—and sought to organize EDC, the United European Army. . . . That was also why Eisenhower was picked by Harry Truman to go to Europe in the winter of 1951. I visited Eisenhower in Paris at that time, where I learned his plans to organize a friendship train for Europe, a series of exhibits to tour the continent to sell Europeans on the importance of unity, make them realize that it was disunity that had caused the wars of the past. . . . But the British had said no. Either they distrusted Eisenhower or else they opposed unity. . . . Later in London I talked with various British cabinet officers, told them of my experiences with the American friendship train in Europe, urged the importance of selling the idea of European unity. I came away convinced Britain still believed in the ancient, outmoded policy of divide and rule.

Ike Hesitates

A year passed. . . . Again in Paris, talking to Eisenhower, it was suggested that unless he could put the United European Army across before he left Paris to run for president, it would never be put across. . . . Ike's future record as a great president might come to naught if the United European Army failed; it was also suggested. . . . More important, the peace of the world might come to naught. . . . And our sons and grandsons might march off to war again. . . . Ike's reply was that he was a military man, had been sent to Paris as a military man. He could not step beyond military bounds to work at the political job of European unity.

So the world drifted. . . . Daily more divided. In Germany in 1953, I suggested to Ernst Reuter, mayor of Berlin, that he invite the mayor of Paris to Berlin as a step to cement Franco-German unity. . . . A great mayor, a great man, Reuter hesitated. His Socialist party was opposed to EDC. . . . In Paris I suggested to the French that they break the ice by inviting the mayor of Berlin to Paris. They too hesitated. . . . And American diplomats hesitated. . . . By this time it was getting late, probably too late. . . . The drift continued. . . . And the division. . . . Until the vote against EDC in the Chamber of Deputies became inevitable.

Those are the things I thought about as I looked up from an empty typewriter to a pair of small swimming trunks on the line, thinking how my generation had failed, how it had let down the small boy who fished for minnows and brought the cows in from pasture and put tadpoles in a Mason jar unmindful of the burdens his grandfather was passing on to him.

Test Of A Trend

By Stewart Alsop

CLEVELAND

This state will provide the acid test of whether a real trend toward the Democrats has actually set in. For if there is really such a trend, Ohio will elect a Democrat to the Senate for the first time in 20 years.

Sen. Thomas A. Burke, the Democratic candidate here, starts with a whole series of important advantages. Burke is a former mayor of Cleveland. He was appointed to the Senate by Gov. Frank J. Lausche to fill the seat of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft. He is a likeable man with a map-of-Ireland face, a quiet, wit, and a reserved, almost chilly manner, in sharp contrast to the flamboyance of his opponent, Rep. George H. Bender.

Burke is described as the most popular mayor Cleveland ever had, and this is one of his most important assets. Cleveland's Cuyahoga County is the key to Ohio elections, in the same sense that New York City is the key to New York State elections. To win, Burke needs a majority of at least 100,000 Cuyahoga County, and perhaps 150,000—on this point both Burke and Bender solidy agree.

Bender has been the Republican boss of Cuyahoga county for many years, and he thus speaks with some authority when he says that Burke does not have the ghost of a chance of taking the needed majority. Burke is much less positive than Bender, as is his nature. But he thinks he can do it. Past voting statistics suggest that, if Burke can't do it, nobody can.

Key Industrial City

Cleveland is the key industrial city, but Burke also needs, of course, heavy majorities in all Ohio's industrial areas, since rural Ohio is solid Republican. Burke needs, in other words, a big labor turnout.

Ohio's labor chiefs learned a lesson in 1950. That year, the CIO and the AFL for all practicall purposes took over the campaign against Sen. Taft. Taft won even in the industrial areas. This year, labor will avoid bestowing on Burke the kiss of death—if there is such a thing as a political action committee in Ohio, it is not advertising its existence.

Yet the labor chiefs are, in a quiet way, all for Burke. They are working hard to register union voters, and labor will supply Burke with much needed financial help. Labor's quiet but effective support is another big Burke advantage.

Burke has still another asset, in the promised support of Ohio's fabulous governor, Frank J. Lausche.

Backed By Humphrey

With Lausche thus committed to Burke, the Democrats are more united than at any time in years. Conversely, the Bender candidacy split the Republican party down the middle. Bender was nominated in one of the toughest primary fights in recent history. His primary opponent, William Saxbe, called him, among other things, "a political huckster," "a hack," "a political clown," "a candidate of demonstrated mediocrity," and "a doomed candidate who would not win."

A good many Republicans still feel the same way about Bender. Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey is Bender's principal behind-the-scenes backer, and Humphrey is a power to be reckoned with in these parts and a most persuasive man. Yet checkbooks which used to fly open for Taft remain stubbornly closed to Bender.

All in all, it is surprising that the odds quoted here are still slightly on Bender. It is true, of course, that Burke is little known outside of Cleveland. It is also true that the Ohio voters have a habit of sending Republicans to the Senate. Even so, if the likeable Burke cannot be elected with all the advantages listed above, then the much-advertised Democratic trend is a myth, and the Democrats might as well cede Ohio's Senate seats to the Republicans in perpetuity.

254 Volunteer Firemen Attend Short Course

Students Welcomed By Dr. W. H. Elkins

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 7 (AP)—About 254 Maryland firemen attended a general assembly, then broke up into small classes as the 21st annual Firemen's Short Course got under way today.

At the assembly, the firemen were welcombed by Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, who assumed the presidency of the University of Maryland Sept. 1.

Elkins told the firefighters attending classes on the University campus here that of all the groups a college president must welcome, he knew of none other "that renders a more important service to the State of Maryland and to the people of the State."

Elkins said, "It is encouraging to find a group of men who give their time and effort without thought of material gain or remuneration."

The assembly was also addressed by the Rev. James W. Minter, chaplain of the Maryland State Firemen's Association, who subbed for John W. Smith, association president who could not be present.

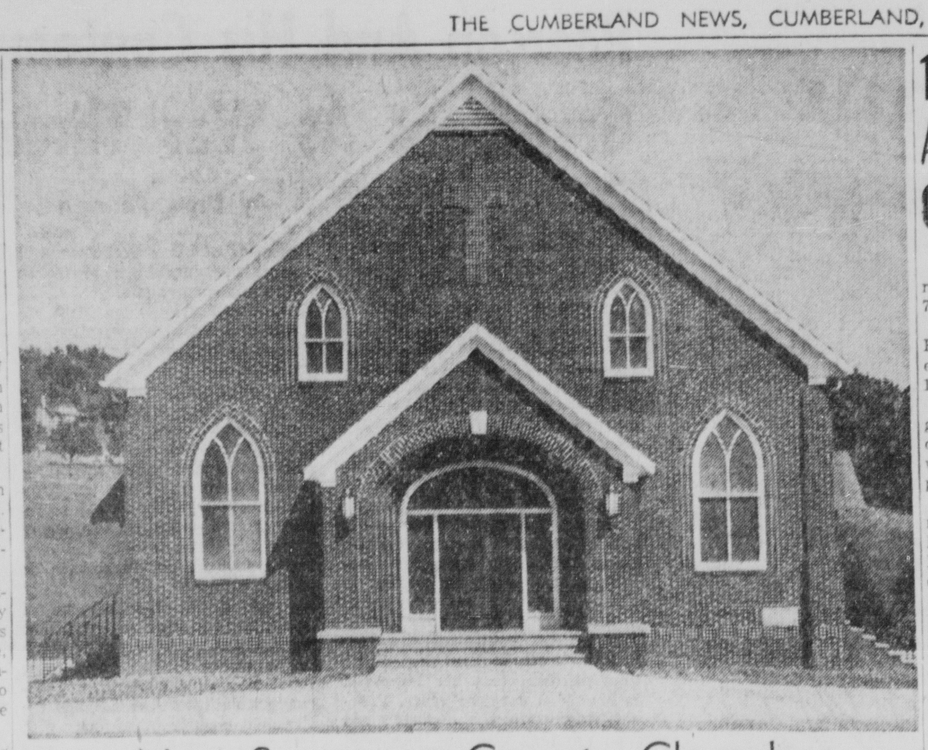
"During the last 16 years there has been a total of 7,780 men who completed the basic training course; 3,363 men who completed the advanced training course, and 516 who finished Section 3 of the course, which is even further advanced," said Minter.

"This means an average of 28 men per fire company in the State have attended courses," Minter pointed out.

He said that attendance record was unequalled by any other state in the country.

After the assembly, the men broke up into special classes. In the next four days they will study rescue operations, fire protection essentials and general firemenship.

The stress during this year's course will be placed upon student participation with demonstrations by leading fire experts.



New Somerset County Church

This new brick edifice at Springs, Somerset County, Pa., will be formally dedicated next Sunday afternoon at a special program conducted by the Mennonite congregation of Springs. Members of the faith, from neighboring communities in Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania and elsewhere, are expected to attend the dedicatory ceremonies. Work on the new structure was started about two years ago. The building is designed to seat about 400 persons, and new furnishings and equipment have been installed throughout.

Mennonite Congregation At Springs, Pa. To Dedicate New Church Building Sunday

SPRING, Pa.—The new Springs Mennonite Church, located in this rural Somerset County community, will be formally dedicated Sunday afternoon, September 12.

Rev. Paul Erb, Scottdale, Pa., editor of the Gospel Herald, official organ of the Monnonite Church, will deliver the dedicatory sermon. A program of special music is arranged by members of the Mennonite Crusaders, Harrisonburg, Va., who are heard weekly on radio broadcasts of the Mennonite Hour.

A special farewell service led by Rev. Richard Martin, Elide, Ohio, will be held on Sunday morning in the 76-year old frame church, after which the congregation will move as a body to the new edifice a short distance from the present location to complete the morning worship service.

For some years the church built in 1878 has been inadequate, and although various improvements have been made, the Sunday School in particular has been hampered by lack of class rooms. This problem has been under discussion at various times, but the first definite step toward providing adequate facilities was the election of a preliminary committee on June 29, 1951. The members of this committee were: Roy Otto, bishop; Walter Otto, pastor; Alva R. Yoder, deacon; Oleman E. Folk, Daniel H. King, Myron G. Miller, trustees; Homer M. Yoder, treasurer; Aeron G. Miller, Sunday School superintendent, and Allen Otto, Young People's Organization chairman.

This committee considered the various aspects of the problem and inspected many churches in several states before making a report on their findings. On June 1, 1952 the committee recommended that a new church be built on the lot which Mr. and Mrs. Allen Wengerd offered to donate. They further recommended that before construction be started that the sum of $25,000 be avaialble in cash and pledges. A week later these recommendations were accepted by the congregation.

Although there was considerable preliminary work, the actual construction began on May 27, 1953. The size is 42 by 100 feet and is of brick and tile construction. Both the basement and main floors are of concrete covered with asphalt tile with the balcony, rostrum and aisles carpeted. The walls and ceilings are plastered, except the basement walls which are of pale green glazed tile. The wood paneling, door trim and doors are of mahogany which blends with the new pews and furniture. The seating capacity is 400 persons including the balcony.

The preliminary committee, which was later elected as a permanent building committee to take charge of the completion of the new church, has had the support not only of the local congregation and community, but also of friends in neighboring communities. The ties of church brotherhood and community fellowship have been greatly strengthened through this mutual effort and sacrifice.

Miss Bettie Jean Mellen Becomes Baltimore Bride

PIEDMONT—Miss Bettie Jean Mellen, Baltimore, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Mellen, Fairview Street, became the bride of Henry W. Baetz Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Baetz Sr., of 602 Oldhome Road, Baltimore, in a double ring ceremony, Sunday August 15, in St. Michaels Catholic Church, Baltimore.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, James McCasler, the bride was attired in a gown of chantilly lace and nylon and was ballerina length. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls and lace. She carried a white prayer book with an orchid and long white streamers.

Mrs. Eva Frey, the matron of honor, wore a gown of shrimp colored net and silk. She caried an old fashioned bouquet and wore a coronet of flowers for her headpiece.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Mellen chose a light blue silk shantung dress with navy blue accessories and a corsage of red rose buds. Mrs. Baetz, mother of the bridegroom was attired in a light blue crepe and lace dress and wore pink rose buds and white accessories.

The couple spent their honeymoon at Wildwood, N. J. They are residing at 19 Madeline Avenue, Baltimore 6, Md.

The bride is a graduate of Piedmont High School, class of 1948, and is employed in the Navy Department, Baltimore.

The bridegroom is employed by the Baltimore County Police Department.

254 Volunteer Firemen Attend Short Course

Students Welcomed By Dr. W. H. Elkins

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 7 (AP)—About 254 Maryland firemen attended a general assembly, then broke up into small classes as the 21st annual Firemen's Short Course got under way today.

At the assembly, the firemen were welcombed by Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, who assumed the presidency of the University of Maryland Sept. 1.

Elkins told the firefighters attending classes on the University campus here that of all the groups a college president must welcome, he knew of none other "that renders a more important service to the State of Maryland and to the people of the State."

Elkins said, "It is encouraging to find a group of men who give their time and effort without thought of material gain or remuneration."

The assembly was also addressed by the Rev. James W. Minter, chaplain of the Maryland State Firemen's Association, who subbed for John W. Smith, association president who could not be present.

"During the last 16 years there has been a total of 7,780 men who completed the basic training course; 3,363 men who completed the advanced training course, and 516 who finished Section 3 of the course, which is even further advanced," said Minter.

"This means an average of 28 men per fire company in the State have attended courses," Minter pointed out.

He said that attendance record was unequalled by any other state in the country.

After the assembly, the men broke up into special classes. In the next four days they will study rescue operations, fire protection essentials and general firemenship.

The stress during this year's course will be placed upon student participation with demonstrations by leading fire experts.

New Somerset County Church

This new brick edifice at Springs, Somerset County, Pa., will be formally dedicated next Sunday afternoon at a special program conducted by the Mennonite congregation of Springs. Members of the faith, from neighboring communities in Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania and elsewhere, are expected to attend the dedicatory ceremonies. Work on the new structure was started about two years ago. The building is designed to seat about 400 persons, and new furnishings and equipment have been installed throughout.

Mennonite Congregation At Springs, Pa. To Dedicate New Church Building Sunday

SPRING, Pa.—The new Springs Mennonite Church, located in this rural Somerset County community, will be formally dedicated Sunday afternoon, September 12.

Rev. Paul Erb, Scottdale, Pa., editor of the Gospel Herald, official organ of the Monnonite Church, will deliver the dedicatory sermon. A program of special music is arranged by members of the Mennonite Crusaders, Harrisonburg, Va., who are heard weekly on radio broadcasts of the Mennonite Hour.

A special farewell service led by Rev. Richard Martin, Elide, Ohio, will be held on Sunday morning in the 76-year old frame church, after which the congregation will move as a body to the new edifice a short distance from the present location to complete the morning worship service.

For some years the church built in 1878 has been inadequate, and although various improvements have been made, the Sunday School in particular has been hampered by lack of class rooms. This problem has been under discussion at various times, but the first definite step toward providing adequate facilities was the election of a preliminary committee on June 29, 1951. The members of this committee were: Roy Otto, bishop; Walter Otto, pastor; Alva R. Yoder, deacon; Oleman E. Folk, Daniel H. King, Myron G. Miller, trustees; Homer M. Yoder, treasurer; Aeron G. Miller, Sunday School superintendent, and Allen Otto, Young People's Organization chairman.

This committee considered the various aspects of the problem and inspected many churches in several states before making a report on their findings. On June 1, 1952 the committee recommended that a new church be built on the lot which Mr. and Mrs. Allen Wengerd offered to donate. They further recommended that before construction be started that the sum of $25,000 be avaialble in cash and pledges. A week later these recommendations were accepted by the congregation.

Although there was considerable preliminary work, the actual construction began on May 27, 1953. The size is 42 by '00 feet and is of brick and tile construction. Both the basement and main floors are of concrete covered with asphalt tile with the balcony, rostrum and aisles carpeted. The walls and ceilings are plastered, except the basement walls which are of pale green glazed tile. The wood paneling, door trim and doors are of mahogany which blends with the new pews and furniture. The seating capacity is 400 persons including the balcony.

The preliminary committee, which was later elected as a permanent building committee to take charge of the completion of the new church, has had the support not only of the local congregation and community, but also of friends in neighboring communities. The ties of church brotherhood and community fellowship have been greatly strengthened through this mutual effort and sacrifice.

Miss Bettie Jean Mellen Becomes Baltimore Bride

PIEDMONT—Miss Bettie Jean Mellen, Baltimore, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Mellen, Fairview Street, became the bride of Henry W. Baetz Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Baetz Sr., of 602 Oldhome Road, Baltimore, in a double ring ceremony, Sunday August 15, in St. Michaels Catholic Church, Baltimore.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, James McCasler, the bride was attired in a gown of chantilly lace and nylon and was ballerina length. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls and lace. She carried a white prayer book with an orchid and long white streamers.

Keyser Kiwanians To Hold Annual Ladies Night Tonight

KEYSER — The annual ladies night dinner and party for Kiwanians and their ladies will be held this evening in Keyser Moose Hall. The Keyser Kiwanians plan for this meeting, each year, as the big affair locally on their calendar.

In addition to a dinner, W. Va. district governor, J. Edward Batten, Welch, W. Va., will be a special guest. Also on the guest list will be Homer Hoskins, Morgantown, former W. Va. district governor. He occupied that position at the time the Keyser Club was instituted, and was one of the many visitors at the first local meeting, from many parts of the state.

An interesting program has been arranged for the dinner-meeting tonight by the anniversary committee of Harrison Fuller, chairman, and Olin Hawk and Frederick Dayton.

Keyser Ministerium Plans Reformation Day

KEYSER—Plans were made for observance of Reformation Day at a meeting of the Keyser Ministerium Monday morning in the study of Rev. Robert L. Bridgers, at Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church on South Mineral Street.

The Reformation Day service will be held in the Keyser Church of the Brethren, South Main Street, on October 31, beginning at 7:30 p. m. Dr. David K. Allen, president of Davis and Elkins College, will be the speaker.

The session Monday opened with Rev. Bridgers presiding and Rev. W. Cecil Shepherd, pastor of Grace Methodist Church leading the opening prayer, after which the minutes of the last meeting were read by Rev. Charles W. Paskel, pastor of First Methodist Church, secretary of the ministerium.

Other members present at the meeting were Rev. Donald D. Anderson, pastor of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church; Rev. Dr. John D. MacLeod, Jr., pastor of Keyser Presbyterian church, and Rev. J. T. Tisdale, pastor of Janes Methodist Church.

The date was set for the annual Week of Prayer, as beginning January 3, 1955. Trinity Lutheran Church will be host, with Rev. Bridgers and Rev. Fred M. Bowman named to secure an out-of-town speaker.

Schedules for the writers of the Sunday School commentary, morning devotions over WKYR, City Council prayer opening, and visits to the Nuring Homes were set for the coming two months.

The annual community training school will be held in the First Methodist Church, the week of February 7, 1955.

The Union Thanksgiving Day service will be held in Keyser Presbyterian Church on the holiday morning at 10:30 o'clock with Rev. Paskel preaching the sermon and Rev. MacLeod host pastor in charge.

Rev. MacLeod was elected president for the year beginning October 1, and Rev. Bowman, pastor of the church of the Brethren, secretary-treasurer.

The next ministerium meeting wil be held Thursday, October 6, at 4 p. m.

Square Dance Club To Visit Romney

KEYSER—The Allegheny Mountain Square Dance Club will hold its regular meeting at the Romney Moose Home in Romney, Wednesday evening. The meeting and dancing is scheduled for 8 p. m., EST. The dancing will be open for the public.

The club holds these meetings at various points to provide instruction in square dancing for beginners and to provide a program for old-time square dancers.

Potomac State Makes Plans For College Year

Freshman Week Starts Sunday

KEYSER—The Freshman week program at Potomac State College has been completed and copies have been given to all Freshmen who have contacted the college. Others will receive their programs upon arrival on the campus for the new college year, opening Sunday, September 12.

On the opening Sunday, the convocation will be held at the auditorium, in the Administration building at 3 p. m. At 6:30 p.m., vespers will be conducted by John Fox and W. E. Michael, members of the faculty, in the Assembly Room in Science Hall.

On Monday, an orientation program will be conducted by Dean K. S. McKee in the auditorium at 8 a. m., followed by the English placement test at 9 a. m., by David G. Nuzum. At 11 a. m. assignments will be made with physical examination and announcements also in the auditorium.

At 1 p. m. a psychological test will be given by John O. Maiden, chairman, and at 2:30 p. m. orientation of the ROTC will be given all first year men. These will be given in the auditorium.

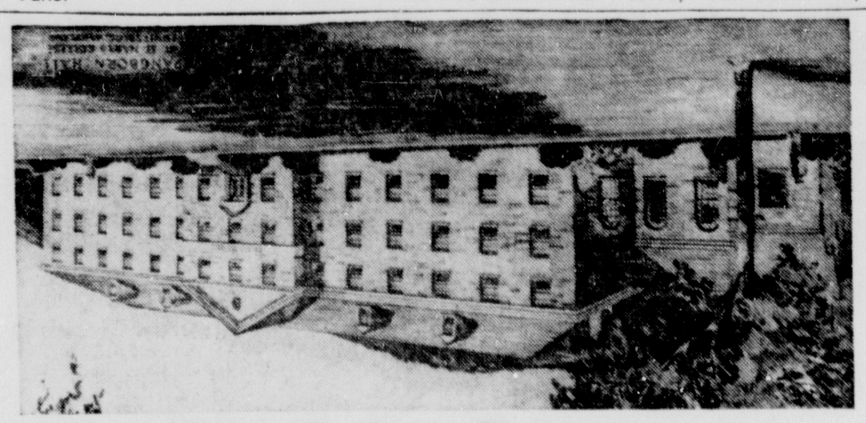
Physical examinations for all first year women will be given at 2:30 p. m., in the gymnasium, and at 3:30 p. m. Paul Iverson, chairman, will conduct an algebra test, in Room 8, administration building for all engineers, chemistry majors, Math majors, pre-medical and predental students.

On Tuesday, starting at 8 a. m., another orientation program will be given by Dean McKee in the auditorium. Group meetings will be held for all first year men, before Dr. E. E. Church, president, in the auditorium, and all first year women, before Miss Florence Pfost, in the Science Hall Assembly room.

In the afternoon there will be group meetings for all teaching subjects throughout the day, ending with physical examinations for all first year men in the evening. A "student mix" will be held in the Student Center under supervision of Mr. Nuzum and Miss Margaret Rafter.

Registration begins on Wednesday at 8 p. m. and will continue through Thursday, with first year men and women registered on Wednesday and the Sophomores on Thursday.

Classes will begin on Friday at 8 a. m.



New College Dormitory

An architect's drawing of Pangborn Hall, a new dormitory which will accommodate 120 students at Mount St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, is pictured here. Ground-breaking services for the new structure were held at spring commencement exercises. The three-story building is to be fashioned of native mountain stone and trimmed with Indiana limstone to harmonize with other campus structures at the college. The new dorm is the gift of Thomas W. and John C. Pangborn, Hagerstown industrialists, through the Pangborn foundation.

New York Giants Defeat Philadelphia In Eleventh, 3 - 1

Monte Irvin's 2-Run Double Decides Game

Gomez Decisions Curt Simmons; Giants Lead Milwaukee By 4½

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7 (AP) — After Davey Williams walked and Willie Mays was passed intentionally, Monte Irvin hit a two-run double in the 11th inning tonight as the New York Giants whipped the Philadelphia Phillies 3-1 and hiked their National League lead over the idle Milwaukee Braves to 4½ games.

The game was a tightly-knit battle royal all the way with loser Curt Simmons pitching his heart out, allowing only six scattered hits as he lost his 14th of the season against 12 wins.

The victory was claimed by Ruben Gomez, who went 10 1-3 innings, to make his won-lost record read 13-9.

Mays and Irvin also figured in the Giants first run, scored in the second while Gran Hamner hit his 13th homer of the year in the eighth to tie it up at 1-1.

The Phils threatened right down to the final gun, loading the bases in the bottom of the 11th as Willie Jones and Floyd Baker singled and Mel Clark beat out an infield hit. But reliefer Hoyt Wilhelm forced Stan Lopata to foul out and end the ball game.

The Giants couldn't touch Simmons in the first inning but in the second Mays led off with a walk. He went to third on Irvin's single to right and scored as Bob Hofman hit into a double play.

Don Mueller added a single in the second that went for no good from a New York standpoint and after the Giants picked up a single in the third, they couldn't get next to Simmons for five straight innings.

They managed lone singles in the ninth and tenth and put together two base hits in the 11th to cinch it.

Gomez, on the other hand was well nigh invincible in the first three innings and then the Phils started to get to him. The losers got two hits in the fourth, one in the fifth, two more each in the sixth and seventh. Then came Hamner's tying leadoff homer in the eighth.

No Writer Picked Indians To Face Braves In Series

Milwaukee To Play 12 Of 19 On Road Where Club Has 42-23 Mark

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP) — Five months ago when baseball experts were making their annual preseason pennant picks, not a single writer prophesied a Cleveland-Milwaukee World Series. Yet that possibility loomed large today as the campaign entered its final three weeks.

The Indians have a stranglehold on the American League flag and only a miracle can loosen their hold. New York's defending champion Yankees, who have hung on so tenaciously since the All-Star break, finally found the pace too killing and dropped further back over the weekend. Four and a half games out with only 17 games remaining appears too great a handicap even for Casey Stengel's five-time world champions.

Win Nine Straight

The Braves, Charlie Grimm's super-chargers trail the league leading New York Giants by four games but they are the hottest club in the National League right now. Winners of nine straight, the Braves are in second place, one game in front of the bewildered and apparently beaten Brooklyn Dodgers.

"One down and one to go," has become the battle-cry of the pennant hungry Braves as they barged into the East for a 12-game trip that includes two at Ebbets Field in Brooklyn and three big ones at the Polo Grounds in New York. By the time the Braves return home, the race may be decided.

Braves Good On Road

Milwaukee and New York each have 19 games to play while Brooklyn, six games behind the Giants on the losing side, has 17 left. The Braves must play 12 of their games on foreign fields but they boast the best road record in the league with 42 victories against 23 defeats. In addition, they own a 12-8 edge over the Dodgers and a 10-9 edge over the Giants in series play.

The Giants, who engaged the Phillies in Philadelphia tonight, have a pitching headache at the moment. Manager Leo Durocher is running out of pitchers. Yesterday he was forced to use John (Windy) McCall, a seldom used relief hurler, as a starter against the Phils. Five others followed him on the mound. Ruben Gomez, with only two days rest, was slated to go tonight. The Giants haven't had a pitcher go the distance in their last 10 games.

Giants Purchase Pitcher Spencer From Minneapolis

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7—(INS) — The New York Giants moved to bolster their over-worked pitching staff today by purchasing right hander George Spencer from Minneapolis, their American Association farm club.

Spencer, 28-year-old former Ohio State football quarterback, will report to the Polo Grounds in time for tomorrow's game with Chicago. In his rookie year, Spencer was one of the outstanding contributors to the Giants' pennan miracle of '51, with a 10-4 record. The following season he took a back seat to Hoyt Wilhelm, and last season was sent back to the minors.

He had a 7-7 records this year at Minneapolis.

Marciano Feels Charles Will Be More Confident

Figures Ezzard Will Take More Liberties

GROSSINGER, N. Y., Sept. 7 (AP) —Ezzard Charles will be more confident in his second fight with Rocky Marciano than in his first because he went 15 rounds with the heavyweight champion.

That's what Marciano and his manager, Al Weill, believe.

"I think Charles will be more confident this time," said Marciano today as he discussed his June 17 and the coming Sept. 15 bouts with Charles.

"He's probably saying to himself, 'Gee, I took his best punch and he never knocked me down. Maybe he doesn't hit as hard as they say,'" said Marciano.

"Charles will take liberties now," said Weill. "At least I hope so. It will make it easier for Rocky if Charles opens up."

With the conversation and business out of the way, Rocky and the manager proceeded to the airport hangar gym where Marciano boxed six rounds. He went two each with Keene Simmons, Bob Golden and Gil Newkirk. He has sparred 96 rounds since he began hard training on Aug. 10.

Only 460 Fans See Nats Beat Athletics, 5-4

Fitz Gerald's Single In 8th Decides Game

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—The Washington Senators overcame a four run Philadelphia lead today to edge the Athletics, 5-4, as Frank Shea won his second game of the season. Ed Fitz Gerald's eighth inning single drove in the winning run before one of Washington's smallest baseball crowds ever—460.

The game between the American League's 6th and 7th place clubs was played in 95 degree weather.

Shea, who lost eight straight before winning his first game, turned in his best pitching effort of the year, stopping the Athletics on but two hits in six innings of relief work. Shea entered the game after Connie Marrero was rocked for three runs in the third.

Relief pitcher Ed Burtschy was the victim of the Senators' eighth inning rally. He surrendered a leadoff walk to Mickey Vernon, but got Pete Runnels on a liner and induced rookie Carlos Paula to force Vernon.

Jim Lemon followed with a single and then Fitz Gerald, who has been Washington's most consistent hitter of late, socked the game winning base hit into right field scoring Paula.

Top Sailing Crews Clash For Trophy

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 7 (AP)—The eight top sailing crews of North America open the "World Series" of yacht racing here tomorrow with the coveted Mallory Cup awaiting the winner.

An eight-race series, sailed under the auspices of the American Yacht Racing Union, will begin Wednesday on Lake Pontchartrain to determine the 1954 sailing champion.

The eight contenders were selected after eliminations throughout the summer in which more than 16,000 skippers participated.

Reigning champion Gene Walet III of New Orleans, who won the 1953 North American championship on Long Island Sound last year, heads the entries and will represent the Gulf Yachting Association and Area 4.

West Virginia Bow Season To Open Sept. 15

South Branch Valley Abounds In Deer

PETERSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 7 —West Virginia's second special bow and arrow deer hunting season for deer of either sex opens September 15 and remains open until October 16. The special season reopens November 11 through November 17.

The long bow may be used in all territory open to deer hunting during the regular season. During the regular open seasons on other games, the long bow may be substituted for a gun.

Some of the best deer hunting in the state of West Virginia is in the South Branch Valley of the Potomac. Grant, Hardy, Hampshire and Pendleton Counties abound in deer, and the deer kill in these counties each season are among the highest in the state. In the regular 1953 three-day deer season, Grant County led the state with 1953 deer killed; Hampshire County reported 1340; Hardy County 1654; and Pendleton County 658.

Non-residents of West Virginia must have the special non-resident bow hunting license which sells for $5, or a regular non-resident hunting license for $20. West Virginia residents are required only to have a regular hunting license.

Deer killed by bow hunters should be checked with a conservation officer of the county in which the deer is killed or with the supervisor of the controlled public shooting area if the deer is killed on one of these.

In checking deer, bow hunters should follow the same procedure outlined for gun hunters in the 1954-55 hunting regulations. Folders containing these regulations are now available at the offices of all county clerks and special license agents.

Bastian Beats Henry Dempsey

Mrs. Madeline Norris Cops Best Nine Event

The starting field of 16 was reduced to ten players in the championship flight of the men's fall golf tournament at the Cumberland Country Club yesterday when Max Bastian defeated Henry Dempsey, 1 up on the 18th hole, George Petras won by default from Dr. Karl P. Heintz and J. W. McClure forfeited to Orville W. "Stony" Jackson.

Mrs. Madeline Norris won the best nine tournament staged yesterday by the Women's Golf Association with a gross score of 62, handicap of 31 and a net 31. Thirty-five participated.

Results of matches played in the women's fall tourney were as follows:

First Flight: Mrs. Ruth Millenson defeated Mrs. J. B. Waugh, 3 and 2. Mrs. Lynn Lashley defeated Mrs. George M. Young, 4 and 2.

Third Flight: Mrs. William George defeated Mrs. Madeline Norris, 2 and 1.

Consolation Round: Championship Flight, Mrs. Erich Gronbach defeated Mrs. W. D. Smith, 4 and 3. Second flight, Mrs. A. T. Smith defeated Mrs. Ralph R. Webster, 3 and 2.

NYU Will Play Irish And WVU At The Garden

LaSalle, St. Francis And Pitt On Schedule

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP) — Notre Dame's basketball team, absent from Madison Square Garden last season for the first time since college basketball moved into the big arena, will return during the coming season.

The 25-game Garden court scheduled for 1954-55 was released today. It includes the appearances of Notre Dame, last year's two tournament winners, Duquesne and Holy Cross and several other colleges which have been missing from the Garden for several seasons. These include Utah, Pittsburgh, Villanova and UCLA.

The schedule:

Dec. 9—Seton Hall vs. Western Kentucky and Manhattan vs. St. Joseph's; 11—NYU vs. Boston College and St. John's vs. Holy Cross; 16—Iona vs. St. Francis (Loretto, Pa.) and St. John's vs. Temple; 18—NYU vs. Pittsburgh and LaSalle vs. Utah; 21—St. John's vs. North Carolina State and Manhattan vs. Connecticut; 27-29-31—holidays festival.

Jan. 4 — NYU vs. West Virginia and Manhattan vs. Brigham Young; 8—NYU vs. Notre Dame; 11—Seton Hall vs. Wake Forest and Iona vs. St. Bonaventure.

Feb. 3—St. John's vs. Manhattan and Seton Hall vs. Cincinnati; 10—NYU vs. St. Louis and Manhattan vs. La Salle; 17—St. John's vs. Niagara and NYU vs. Manhattan; 24—NYU vs. St. John's and Iona vs. St. Francis (Brooklyn).

Hyndman Is Winner Of Pen-Mar Title; Tops LaVale, 7-6

Hyndman won the playoffs and the Pen-Mar Little League baseball championship yesterday by edging the LaVale Maroons in a game that was finished in the dark at Hyndman. The score was 7-6.

The win gave Hyndman a two-game sweep in the scheduled best-of-three series.

The game did not get under way until 6:30 and darkness set in at the close of the fifth inning. Hyndman scored the tying and winning runs in the sixth frame.

Feichtner homered in the first inning for Hyndman. Smith rapped a triple and double and R. Browning garnered two singles for the winners. Dave Fulk garnered two of the Maroons' nine hits and Steve Holler banged a three-bagger. Score:

LAVALE	100	050—6	9 2
HYNDMAN	100	222—7	8 2

Outdoor Club Beats Moose, Earns Title

Cook, Durbin Wallop Homers In 8-1 Game

A five-run outburst in the fourth inning enabled the Cumberland Outdoor Club to defeat the Loyal Order of Moose yesterday to win the championship of the Rocking Chair Softball League. The score was 8-1 and gave the O.D.C. tossers a sweep of three games in the scheduled best-of-five series.

Circuit wallops in the fourth inning accounted for five runs and put the game on ice for the O.D.C.

With the score knotted at one-all, Dougherty got a life on an error to open the big fourth. Sam Brady singled and after both runners advanced on "Butch" Johnson's sacrifice, Jack Cook belted a three-run homer to left field. Charley Day walked and then Ted Durbin belted a four-bagger into the left-center pocket at Stitcher Field.

Cubbage's walk, Day's sacrifice and Manager Cecil Grimes' single netted the first O.D.C. tally in the opening frame.

In the fifth Vern Penner singled, took second on a wild pitch, and advanced to third on Dougherty's single. Dougherty moved to third on a passed ball. Sam Brady's third single of the game drove home both runners.

Charley Day yielded only five hits, two of which were credited to Jimmy Angellatta, and posted his 15th win of the season against six defeats. Brady had three of the winners' eight safeties garnered off Jim Roby.

Ted Durbin turned in a nice catch on a drive from Roby's bat to centerfield and "Pete" Elliott starred in the outfield for the Moose. Manager Cecil Grimes excelled at short for the Outdoor Club which also won the pennant during the regular season. In the playoff semi-finals, O. D. C. eliminated the B. P. O. Elks, two games to one.

The Moose were held a pair of extra base hits in the three-game series with Outdoor Club. Jim Roby wound up the campaign with 11 wins and 11 losses. Score:

MOOSE	100	000	0—1 5 1
OUTDOOR	001	520	x—8 8 2

Seixas' Victory Poses Problem For Davis Cup Team Selectors

Richardson, Trabert Also Are Considered

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP) — Vic Seixas' surprising sweep to the National Tennis Championship has posed a new and knotty problem for Uncle Sam's Davis Cup selectors:

Who will carry the two singles assignments against the Australians in the challenge round at Sydney next December?

"Right now it looks like a tossup among three players—Seixas, Tony Trabert and Ham Richardson," Alrick Man, Jr., chairman of the Davis Cup Committee, said today.

"But we have a long way to go yet, and a lot of things can happen."

The Americans must face Mexico in the American zone finals at Mexico City Oct. 2-4 and Sweden in the inter-zone finals at Brisbane Dec. 17-19 before playing the Aussies.

A year ago at this time the big international trophy had been all but wrapped and addressed for a return to these shores. Trabert and Seixas had breezed to straight-set victories over Australia's aces, Ken Rosewall and Lew Hoad, in the U. S. semi-finals. Seixas was Wimbledon champion, Trabert was champion of the United States.

But Seixas' game went sour in Australia. He lost both his singles matches, Trabert lost to Hoad and the cup stayed there.

New York Giants Defeat Philadelphia In Eleventh, 3 - 1

Gomez Decisions Curt Simmons; Giants Lead Milwaukee By 4½

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7 (AP) — After Davey Williams walked and Willie Mays was passed intentionally, Monte Irvin hit a two-run double in the 11th inning tonight as the New York Giants whipped the Philadelphia Phillies 3-1 and hiked their National League lead over the idle Milwaukee Braves to 4½ games.

The game was a tightly-knit battle royal all the way with loser Curt Simmons pitching his heart out, allowing only six scattered hits as he lost his 14th of the season against 12 wins.

The victory was claimed by Ruben Gomez, who went 10 1-3 innings, to make his won-lost record read 13-9.

Mays and Irvin also figured in the Giants first run, scored in the second while Gran Hamner hit his 13th homer of the year in the eighth to tie it up at 1-1.

The Phils threatened right down to the final gun, loading the bases in the bottom of the 11th as Willie Jones and Floyd Baker singled and Mel Clark beat out an infield hit. But reliefer Hoyt Wilhelm forced Stan Lopata to foul out and end the ball game.

The Giants couldn't touch Simmons in the first inning but in the second Mays led off with a walk. He went to third on Irvin's single to right and scored as Bob Hofman hit into a double play.

Don Mueller added a single in the second that went for no good from a New York standpoint and after the Giants picked up a single in the third, they couldn't get next to Simmons for five straight innings.

They managed lone singles in the ninth and tenth and put together two base hits in the 11th to cinch it.

Gomez, on the other hand was well nigh invincible in the first three innings and then the Phils started to get to him. The losers got two hits in the fourth, one in the fifth, two more each in the sixth and seventh. Then came Hamner's tying leadoff homer in the eighth.

No Writer Picked Indians To Face Braves In Series

Milwaukee To Play 12 Of 19 On Road Where Club Has 42-23 Mark

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP) — Five months ago when baseball experts were making their annual preseason pennant picks, not a single writer prophesied a Cleveland-Milwaukee World Series. Yet that possibility loomed large today as the campaign entered its final three weeks.

The Indians have a stranglehold on the American League flag and only a miracle can loosen their hold. New York's defending champion Yankees, who have hung on so tenaciously since the All-Star break, finally found the pace too killing and dropped further back over the weekend. Four and a half games out with only 17 games remaining appears too great a handicap even for Casey Stengel's five-time world champions.

Win Nine Straight

The Braves, Charlie Grimm's super-chargers trail the league leading New York Giants by four games but they are the hottest club in the National League right now. Winners of nine straight, the Braves are in second place, one game in front of the bewildered and apparently beaten Brooklyn Dodgers.

"One down and one to go," has become the battle-cry of the pennant hungry Braves as they barged into the East for a 12-game trip that includes two at Ebbets Field in Brooklyn and three big ones at the Polo Grounds in New York. By the time the Braves return home, the race may be decided.

Braves Good On Road

Milwaukee and New York each have 19 games to play while Brooklyn, six games behind the Giants on the losing side, has 17 left. The Braves must play 12 of their games on foreign fields but they boast the best road record in the league with 42 victories against 23 defeats. In addition, they own a 12-8 edge over the Dodgers and a 10-9 edge over the Giants in series play.

The Giants, who engaged the Phillies in Philadelphia tonight, have a pitching headache at the moment. Manager Leo Durocher is running out of pitchers. Yesterday he was forced to use John (Windy) McCall, a seldom used relief hurler, as a starter against the Phils. Five others followed him on the mound. Ruben Gomez, with only two days rest, was slated to go tonight. The Giants haven't had a pitcher go the distance in their last 10 games.

Giants Purchase Pitcher Spencer From Minneapolis

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7—(INS) — The New York Giants moved to bolster their over-worked pitching staff today by purchasing right hander George Spencer from Minneapolis, their American Association farm club.

Spencer, 28-year-old former Ohio State football quarterback, will report to the Polo Grounds in time for tomorrow's game with Chicago. In his rookie year, Spencer was one of the outstanding contributors to the Giants' pennan miracle of '51, with a 10-4 record. The following season he took a back seat to Hoyt Wilhelm, and last season was sent back to the minors.

He had a 7-7 records this year at Minneapolis.

Marciano Feels Charles Will Be More Confident

Figures Ezzard Will Take More Liberties

GROSSINGER, N. Y., Sept. 7 (AP) —Ezzard Charles will be more confident in his second fight with Rocky Marciano than in his first because he went 15 rounds with the heavyweight champion.

That's what Marciano and his manager, Al Weill, believe.

"I think Charles will be more confident this time," said Marciano today as he discussed his June 17 and the coming Sept. 15 bouts with Charles.

"He's probably saying to himself, 'Gee, I took his best punch and he never knocked me down. Maybe he doesn't hit as hard as they say,'" said Marciano.

"Charles will take liberties now," said Weill. "At least I hope so. It will make it easier for Rocky if Charles opens up."

With the conversation and business out of the way, Rocky and the manager proceeded to the airport hangar gym where Marciano boxed six rounds. He went two each with Keene Simmons, Bob Golden and Gil Newkirk. He has sparred 96 rounds since he began hard training on Aug. 10.

Only 460 Fans See Nats Beat Athletics, 5-4

Fitz Gerald's Single In 8th Decides Game

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—The Washington Senators overcame a four run Philadelphia lead today to edge the Athletics, 5-4, as Frank Shea won his second game of the season. Ed Fitz Gerald's eighth inning single drove in the winning run before one of Washington's smallest baseball crowds ever—460.

The game between the American League's 6th and 7th place clubs was played in 95 degree weather.

Shea, who lost eight straight before winning his first game, turned in his best pitching effort of the year, stopping the Athletics on but two hits in six innings of relief work. Shea entered the game after Connie Marrero was rocked for three runs in the third.

Relief pitcher Ed Burtschy was the victim of the Senators' eighth inning rally. He surrendered a leadoff walk to Mickey Vernon, but got Pete Runnels on a liner and induced rookie Carlos Paula to force Vernon.

Jim Lemon followed with a single and then Fitz Gerald, who has been Washington's most consistent hitter of late, socked the game winning base hit into right field scoring Paula.

West Virginia Bow Season To Open Sept. 15

South Branch Valley Abounds In Deer

PETERSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 7 —West Virginia's second special bow and arrow deer hunting season for deer of either sex opens September 15 and remains open until October 16. The special season reopens November 11 through November 17.

The long bow may be used in all territory open to deer hunting during the regular season. During the regular open seasons on other games, the long bow may be substituted for a gun.

Some of the best deer hunting in the state of West Virginia is in the South Branch Valley of the Potomac. Grant, Hardy, Hampshire and Pendleton Counties abound in deer, and the deer kill in these counties each season are among the highest in the state. In the regular 1953 three-day deer season, Grant County led the state with 1953 deer killed; Hampshire County reported 1340; Hardy County 1654; and Pendleton County 658.

Non-residents of West Virginia must have the special non-resident bow hunting license which sells for $5, or a regular non-resident hunting license for $20. West Virginia residents are required only to have a regular hunting license.

Deer killed by bow hunters should be checked with a conservation officer of the county in which the deer is killed or with the supervisor of the controlled public shooting area if the deer is killed on one of these.

In checking deer, bow hunters should follow the same procedure outlined for gun hunters in the 1954-55 hunting regulations. Folders containing these regulations are now available at the offices of all county clerks and special license agents.

Mrs. Madeline Norris Cops Best Nine Event

The starting field of 16 was reduced to ten players in the championship flight of the men's fall golf tournament at the Cumberland Country Club yesterday when Max Bastian defeated Henry Dempsey, 1 up on the 18th hole. George Petras won by default from Dr. Karl P. Heintz and J. W. McClure forfeited to Orville W. "Stony" Jackson.

Mrs. Madeline Norris won the best nine tournament staged yesterday by the Women's Golf Association with a gross score of 62, handicap of 31 and a net 31. Thirty-five participated.

Results of matches played in the women's fall tourney were as follows:

First Flight: Mrs. Ruth Millenson defeated Mrs. J. B. Waugh, 3 and 2. Mrs. Lynn Lashley defeated Mrs. George M. Young, 4 and 2.

Third Flight: Mrs. William George defeated Mrs. Madeline Norris, 2 and 1.

Consolation Round: Championship Flight, Mrs. Erich Gronbach defeated Mrs. W. D. Smith, 4 and 3. Second flight, Mrs. A. T. Smith defeated Mrs. Ralph R. Webster, 3 and 2.

NYU Will Play Irish And WVU At The Garden

LaSalle, St. Francis And Pitt On Schedule

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP) — Notre Dame's basketball team, absent from Madison Square Garden last season for the first time since college basketball moved into the big arena, will return during the coming season.

The 25-game Garden court scheduled for 1954-55 was released today. It includes the appearances of Notre Dame, last year's two tournament winners, Duquesne and Holy Cross and several other colleges which have been missing from the Garden for several seasons. These include Utah, Pittsburgh, Villanova and UCLA.

The schedule:

Dec. 9—Seton Hall vs. Western Kentucky and Manhattan vs. St. Joseph's; 11—NYU vs. Boston College and St. John's vs. Holy Cross; 16—Iona vs. St. Francis (Loretto, Pa.) and St. John's vs. Temple; 18—NYU vs. Pittsburgh and LaSalle vs. Utah; 21—St. John's vs. North Carolina State and Manhattan vs. Connecticut; 27-29-31—holidays festival.

Jan. 4 — NYU vs. West Virginia and Manhattan vs. Brigham Young; 8—NYU vs. Notre Dame; 11—Seton Hall vs. Wake Forest and Iona vs. St. Bonaventure.

Feb. 3—St. John's vs. Manhattan and Seton Hall vs. Cincinnati; 10—NYU vs. St. Louis and Manhattan vs. La Salle; 17—St. John's vs. Niagara and NYU vs. Manhattan; 24—NYU vs. St. John's and Iona vs. St. Francis (Brooklyn).

Hyndman Is Winner Of Pen-Mar Title; Tops LaVale, 7-6

Hyndman won the playoffs and the Pen-Mar Little League baseball championship yesterday by edging the LaVale Maroons in a game that was finished in the dark at Hyndman. The score was 7-6.

The win gave Hyndman a two-game sweep in the scheduled best-of-three series.

The game did not get under way until 6:30 and darkness set in at the close of the fifth inning. Hyndman scored the tying and winning runs in the sixth frame.

Feichtner homered in the first inning for Hyndman. Smith rapped a triple and double and R. Browning garnered two singles for the winners. Dave Fulk garnered two of the Maroons' nine hits and Steve Holler banged a three-bagger. Score:

LAVALE	100	050	6	9	2
HYNDMAN	100	222	7	8	2

T. Femi and McKenzie. J. Bittner and K. Browning.

Outdoor Club Beats Moose, Earns Title

Cook, Durbin Wallop Homers In 8-1 Game

A five-run outburst in the fourth inning enabled the Cumberland Outdoor Club to defeat the Loyal Order of Moose yesterday to win the championship of the Rocking Chair Softball League. The score was 8-1 and gave the O.D.C. tossers a sweep of three games in the scheduled best-of-five series.

Circuit wallops in the fourth inning accounted for five runs and put the game on ice for the O.D.C.

With the score knotted at one-all, Dougherty got a life on an error to open the big fourth. Sam Brady singled and after both runners advanced on "Butch" Johnson's sacrifice, Jack Cook belted a three-run homer to left field. Charley Day walked and then Ted Durbin belted a four-bagger into the left-center pocket at Stitcher Field.

Cubbage's walk, Day's sacrifice and Manager Cecil Grimes' single netted the first O.D.C. tally in the opening frame.

In the fifth Vern Penner singled, took second on a wild pitch, and advanced to third on Dougherty's single. Dougherty moved to third on a passed ball. Sam Brady's third single of the game drove home both runners.

Charley Day yielded only five hits, two of which were credited to Jimmy Angellatta, and posted his 15th win of the season against six defeats. Brady had three of the winners' eight safeties garnered off Jim Roby.

Ted Durbin turned in a nice catch on a drive from Roby's bat to centerfield and "Pete" Elliott starred in the outfield for the Moose. Manager Cecil Grimes excelled at short for the Outdoor Club which also won the pennant during the regular season. In the playoff semi-finals, O. D. C. eliminated the B. P. O. Elks, two games to one.

The Moose were held a pair of extra base hits in the three-game series with Outdoor Club. Jim Roby wound up the campaign with 11 wins and 11 losses. Score:

MOOSE	100	000	0—1	5	1
OUTDOOR	001	520	x—8	8	2

Roby and Young. Day and Brady. HR—Durbin, Cook (Outdoor Club).

Seixas' Victory Poses Problem For Davis Cup Team Selectors

Richardson, Trabert Also Are Considered

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP) — Vic Seixas' surprising sweep to the National Tennis Championship has posed a new and knotty problem for Uncle Sam's Davis Cup selectors:

Who will carry the two singles assignments against the Australians in the challenge round at Sydney next December?

"Right now it looks like a tossup among three players—Seixas, Tony Trabert and Ham Richardson," Alrick Man, Jr., chairman of the Davis Cup Committee, said today.

"But we have a long way to go yet, and a lot of things can happen."

The Americans must face Mexico in the American zone finals at Mexico City Oct. 2-4 and Sweden in the inter-zone finals at Brisbane Dec. 17-19 before playing the Aussies.

A year ago at this time the big international trophy had been all but wrapped and addressed for a return to these shores. Trabert and Seixas had breezed to straight-set victories over Australia's aces, Ken Rosewall and Lew Hoad, in the U. S. semi-finals. Seixas was Wimbledon champion, Trabert was champion of the United States.

But Seixas' game went sour in Australia. He lost both his singles matches, Trabert lost to Hoad and the cup stayed there.

Bowlers Open Tonight

The Royal Colors Bowling League will open its season tonight at 7 o'clock on the Y.M.C.A. alleys. There are four teams in this circuit.

Kingwood Team Defeats Keyser

Preston Netmen Square Series, 5-4

KEYSER, Sept. 7—The Keyser Tennis Club bowed to the Kingwood Tennis Club in a surprising upset Sunday on the Community courts in Kingwood by the score of 5-4.

Keyser split even in the six singles tests and dropped two of three doubles matches.

Kingwood lost in Keyser earlier in the season by the score of 6-3.

The Keyser netmen will play their final match of the season next Sunday at Fairmont.

Sunday's results:

Singles Matches:

Neville, Keyser, defeated Bauer, Kingwood, 7-5, 6-1.

Workman, Keyser, downed Moser, Kingwood, 6-2, 6-1.

Michael, Keyser, won over Dr. Schwab, Kingwood, 6-4, 6-2.

Dawson, Kingwood, defeated Jacobs, Keyser, 6-2, 6-4.

Wood, Kingwood, beat Sears, Keyser, 6-3, 7-5.

W. Dawson, Kingwood, defeated Paskal, Keyser, 6-0, 6-4.

Doubles Matches:

Neville and Jacobs, Keyser topped Wood and Schwab, 6-2, 6-3.

Moser and W. Dawson, Kingwood, defeated Paskel and Sears, 6-4; 6-3.

Bauer and Dawson, Kingwood, downed Workman and Michael, 7-5, 6-3.

Grocers To Drill

Western Maryland Softball Tournament Opens Here Today

Three Games Scheduled At Penn Avenue

Eagles, Corriganville Play Opener At 6:30; 17 Teams To Compete

Seventeen teams will compete in the annual Western Maryland Softball Tournament, sponsored by the City Recreation Department, which is scheduled to get under way today with three games slated for Penn Avenue Field, commencing at 6:30 p. m.

Robert E. Pence, director, last night pointed out that the "cream of the crop" of district teams will vie in the seven-day tourney.

The entry list is the largest to date for the event. In past years the tourney has been an invitational affair limited to eight teams but this year it is open and as a result several out-of-town teams have joined the field.

The team coming the greatest distance is the Michelbach Furniture team of Alexandria, Va. Also entered are three Keyser teams and one from Frostburg as well as local and county aggregations.

League Champs Entered

Two league champions are among the entries, namely, Schute's Roofers of the City Recreation League and Hout's Construction Company of the High School Rec League. Several players from the Potomac Valley Cubs, champions of the County League, are on the roster of other teams.

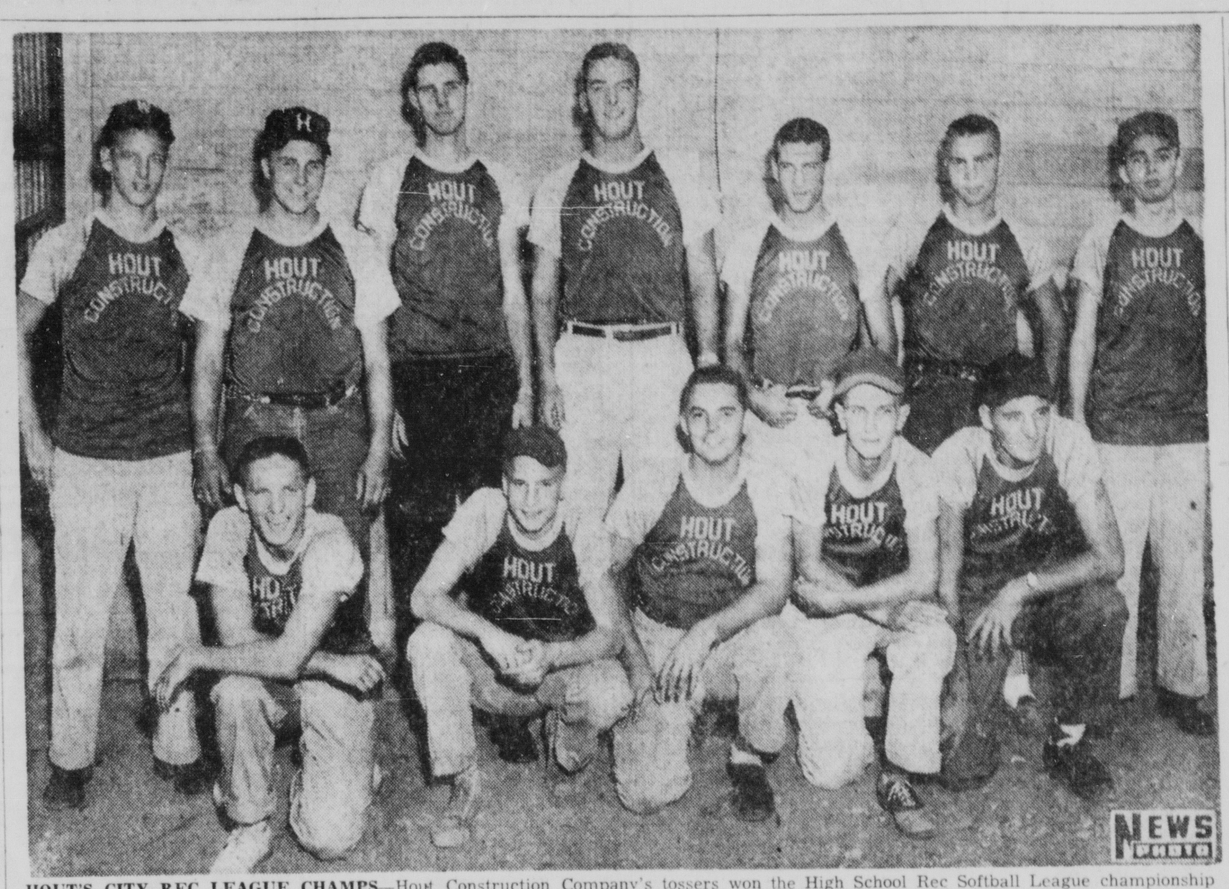
In tonight's opener at 6:30, the FO Eagles of the Rocking Chair League, will battle Corriganville of the County League. The second game at 8 o'clock will involve Romig's Rexall Drug Company of Keyser and Schute's Roofers, champions of the City League, followed by the third and final game of the evening between Codlington's Tavern, Frostburg, and the Old Germans of the City League.

There will be three games on Thursday and three more on Friday. Umpires for the tournament will be assigned by the Tri-State Umpires' Association.

Official softball rules will be followed with the exception that no spikes will be allowed and an optional tournament rule that if one team is ahead in any game by 10 runs or more at the end of the fifth, sixth or seventh innings, the game shall be declared finished.

Ridder's To Compete

Because of an oversight, Ridder Motors Inc., of Keyser, was not added to the list of competitors, necessitating a special drawing. The Elks of the Rocking Chair League were drawn out to battle Ridder's at 6:30 p. m. Thursday at Penn Avenue for the right to play Hout's Construction Company on Friday at 9:30 in the first round.



HOUT'S CITY REC LEAGUE CHAMPS—Hout Construction Company's tossers won the High School Rec Softball League championship for the 1954 season by defeating Andy's Liquor Store and Jimmie's Market in best-of-three games playoff series after copping the pennant with a 15-0 record. The champs won 19 out of 21 games. In the playoffs they topped Andy's 8-7 and 4-0 and lost 10-6 and won over Jimmie's 13-3 and 11-3 and lost 6-5. Members of the squad shown above, left to right, are: FRONT ROW — Bucky Rice, Vernon Shaffer, Dale Merritt, Bob Ritter and Don Puhalla. BACK ROW — Gary Lease, Dick Rank, Dave Steele, Dick Bittner, Marshall Yankelevitz, Harry Hixenbaugh and Coach Glenn Osbourne. Jackie Rice and Ronnie Dyer were not present when photo was taken.

Glenn S. "Pop" Warner, Famed College Football Coach, Dies

Served At Stanford, Pitt, Other Colleges; Tutored Thorpe, Nevers

PALO ALTO, Calif., Sept. 7 (AP)—Glenn Scobey (Pop) Warner of football coaching fame died today. He was 83.

Ill for months with throat cancer, Warner became unconscious 12 hours before his death.

At his hospital bedside were his wife, the former Tibb Loraine Smith; a niece, Mrs. Jane Warner Scoffield of Seattle, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Winkelman of Palo Alto. Winkelman, a longtime friend, was assistant coach when Warner coached his famed Stanford University teams.

Warner recently requested that any contributions be sent to the Damon Runyan Cancer Fund, rather than spent for flowers, upon his death.

Funeral plans were not announced immediately.

Warner was born April 5, 1871, at Springville, N.Y., but grew up on a ranch near Wichita Falls, Tex.

Captain Cornell Team

He played guard and was captain of the 1893 Cornell football team, and served as unpaid coach when he was 22.

He gave up law practice after only a few months and turned to football. His gridiron strategy gained him fame as he turned out winning combinations at several colleges.

He coached at Carlisle Indian School and his pupils included the great Jim Thorpe, and Charles (Chief) Bender of baseball pitching fame.

The University of Pittsburgh hired Warner away from Carlisle after the 1914 campaign. He subsequently coached at several schools and his football career ended in 1940, after 47 years when he was advisory coach at San Jose State College.

Glenn Scobey Warner's fabulous football coaching career spanned parts of two centuries — from the Gay '90s to the strife-borne years leading into World War II.

Became Great Coach

He lived to become one of the truly great football coaches.

"Pop" Warner carved a niche in football that will last forever.

Shaggy-haired, gruff-spoken, he became known as a master of gridiron legerdermain. He combined hocus-pocus when necessary with powerhouse, knock-'em-down football that at times was well-nigh unstoppable.

While he never claimed to have originated the type of play for which he became famous, there is no doubt but what Warner improved and made use of wingback formations such as no other coach before or after him.

From the single wing, which he built into a formidable attacking weapon, he evolved the even more complicated double wing. His spinners and reverses, which included such masterpieces as the highly complex triple handling of the ball, provided eye-popping spectacles 30 years and more ago.

Coached At Carlisle

In the same year he went to Carlisle, 1899, he was married to Miss Tibb Loraine Smith, who survives him. They had no children.

At the Carlisle Indian School in Pennsylvania, with a handful of material, Warner wrote some of the most vivid pages of grid history, in the seasons of 1899 through 1903, and again 1907-1914. The intervening three years were spent back at Cornell.

The big three of college football at that time were Harvard, Princeton and Yale. They soon became painfully aware of this young upstart who knew nothing of lese majesty, and cared less.

Warner's reputation became so great that after the 1914 campaign, the University of Pittsburgh hired him away from Carlisle. He later coached at Stanford and Temple universities, among the big ones. But it is with Carlisle that his name forever will be associated.

Everywhere he went, he produced players of All-America calibre, but possibly the best known of all was Indian Jim Thorpe of Carlisle. Coaching track, baseball and other sports, Warner developed Thorpe as the magnificent star of the Olympic games and was the mentor of Charles (Chief) Bender, noted pitcher for the Philadelphia Athletics.

If Thorpe was the marvelous all-around athlete of the Warner method in the early part of century, Ernie Nevers was his prize pupil when the coach moved to Stanford in 1924.

Warner was loathe to separate these two backfield luminaries as to respective abilities. In early years, he once called Thorpe peerless. Later, he said Nevers was Thorpe's equal. Those close to the famed old coach, however, always felt that Thorpe was his real No. 1 choice.

Because of his clever manipulations, Warner for years was the despair of national football rules-making officials. It seemed that every winter they had to revise the regulations or make new ones to counter Pop Warner's latest discovered loophole.

He did not like the T formation, or the platoon system, either. When the unlimited substitution rule ended platoons in 1953, the old coach's comment was: "Now we will see real football again."

American Stores Co. Buys 85,000 Tickets For Football Game

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7 (AP)—Villanova College announced today that 85,000 tickets for the Villanova-Mississippi football game Oct. 2 at Municipal Stadium have been purchased by the American Stores Co.

It is believed to be the largest single bloc of tickets purchased by one buyer for one athletic event, and exceeds by 27,000 the number of the tickets bought by the food chain for the Villanova-Georgia game last year that drew a record 98,000 fans. As the largest college football crowd in the East, it was nicknamed the "Supermarket" Bowl.

Spencer S. Heaney, sales manager of the American Stores Co., said the tickets would be distributed to customers.

Heaney said that the 58,000 tickets bought last year were distributed within 3 days. To get a ticket a customer must buy a specified value of merchandise in one of the firm's 300 stores in the Philadelphia area.

Weinmeister Injured In Canadian Game

EDMONTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—Doctors who attended Arnie Weinmeister after he was injured in Monday night's Western Interprovincial Football Union game here estimated today that the tackle will be lost to the British Columbia Lions three to six weeks.

Weinmeister, a National Football League great with the New York Giants before joining the Lions this season, suffered a dislocated shoulder as the Lions lost 12-6 to the Edmonton Eskimos.

Western Maryland Softball Tournament Opens Here Today

Three Games Scheduled At Penn Avenue

Eagles, Corriganville Play Opener At 6:30; 17 Teams To Compete

Seventeen teams will compete in the annual Western Maryland Softball Tournament, sponsored by the City Recreation Department, which is scheduled to get under way today with three games slated for Penn Avenue Field, commencing at 6:30 p. m.

Robert E. Pence, director, last night pointed out that the "cream of the crop" of district teams will vie in the seven-day tourney.

The entry list is the largest to date for the event. In past years the tourney has been an invitational affair limited to eight teams but this year it is open and as a result several out-of-town teams have joined the field.

The team coming the greatest distance is the Michelbach Furniture team of Alexandria, Va. Also entered are three Keyser teams and one from Frostburg as well as local and county aggregations.

League Champs Entered

Two league champions are among the entries, namely, Schute's Roofers of the City Recreation League and Hout's Construction Company of the High School Rec League. Several players from the Potomac Valley Cubs, champions of the County League, are on the roster of other teams.

In tonight's opener at 6:30, the FO Eagles of the Rocking Chair League, will battle Corriganville of the County League. The second game at 8 o'clock will involve Romig's Rexall Drug Company of Keyser and Schute's Roofers, champions of the City League, followed by the third and final game of the evening between Codlington's Tavern, Frostburg, and the Old Germans of the City League.

There will be three games on Thursday and three more on Friday. Umpires for the tournament will be assigned by the Tri-State Umpires' Association.

Official softball rules will be followed with the exception that no spikes will be allowed and an optional tournament rule that if one team is ahead in any game by 10 runs or more at the end of the fifth, sixth or seventh innings, the game shall be declared finished.

Ridder's To Compete

Because of an oversight, Ridder Motors Inc., of Keyser, was not added to the list of competitors, necessitating a special drawing. The Elks of the Rocking Chair League were drawn out to battle Ridder's at 6:30 p. m. Thursday at Penn Avenue for the right to play Hout's Construction Company on Friday at 9:30 in the first round.

HOUT'S CITY REC LEAGUE CHAMPS—Hout Construction Company's tossers won the High School Rec Softball League championship for the 1954 season by defeating Andy's Liquor Store and Jimmie's Market in best-of-three games playoff series after copping the pennant with a 15-0 record. The champs won 19 out of 21 games. In the playoffs they topped Andy's 8-7 and 4-0 and lost 10-6 and won over Jimmie's 13-3 and 11-3 and lost 6-5. Members of the squad shown above, left to right, are: FRONT ROW — Bucky Rice, Vernon Shaffer, Dale Merritt, Bob Ritter and Don Puhalla. BACK ROW — Gary Lease, Dick Rank, Dave Steele, Dick Bittner, Marshall Yankelevitz, Harry Hixenbaugh and Coach Glenn Osbourne. Jackie Rice and Ronnie Dyer were not present when photo was taken.

Glenn S. "Pop" Warner, Famed College Football Coach, Dies

Served At Stanford, Pitt, Other Colleges; Tutored Thorpe, Nevers

PALO ALTO, Calif., Sept. 7 (AP)—Glenn Scobey (Pop) Warner of football coaching fame died today. He was 83.

Ill for months with throat cancer, Warner became unconscious 12 hours before his death.

At his hospital bedside were his wife, the former Tibb Loraine Smith; a niece, Mrs. Jane Warner Scoffield of Seattle, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Winkelman of Palo Alto. Winkelman, a longtime friend, was assistant coach when Warner coached his famed Stanford University teams.

Warner recently requested that any contributions be sent to the Damon Runyan Cancer Fund, rather than spent for flowers, upon his death.

Funeral plans were not announced immediately.

Warner was born April 5, 1871, at Springville, N.Y., but grew up on a ranch near Wichita Falls, Tex.

Captain Cornell Team

He played guard and was captain of the 1893 Cornell football team, and served as unpaid coach when he was 22.

He gave up law practice after only a few months and turned to football. His gridiron strategy gained him fame as he turned out winning combinations at several colleges.

He coached at Carlisle Indian School and his pupils included the great Jim Thorpe, and Charles (Chief) Bender of baseball pitching fame.

The University of Pittsburgh hired Warner away from Carlisle after the 1914 campaign. He subsequently coached at several schools and his football career ended in 1940, after 47 years when he was advisory coach at San Jose State College.

Glenn Scobey Warner's fabulous football coaching career spanned parts of two centuries — from the Gay '90s to the strife-borne years leading into World War II.

Became Great Coach

He lived to become one of the truly great football coaches.

"Pop" Warner carved a niche in football that will last forever.

Shaggy-haired, gruff-spoken, he became known as a master of gridiron legerdermain. He combined hocus-pocus when necessary with powerhouse, knock-'em-down football that at times was well-nigh unstoppable.

While he never claimed to have originated the type of play for which he became famous, there is no doubt but what Warner improved and made use of wingback formations such as no other coach before or after him.

From the single wing, which he built into a formidable attacking weapon, he evolved the even more complicated double wing. His spinners and reverses, which included such masterpieces as the highly complex triple handling of the ball, provided eye-popping spectacles 30 years and more ago.

Coached At Carlisle

In the same year he went to Carlisle, 1899, he was married to Miss Tibb Loraine Smith, who survives him. They had no children.

At the Carlisle Indian School in Pennsylvania, with a handful of material, Warner wrote some of the most vivid pages of grid history, in the seasons of 1899 through 1903, and again 1907-1914. The intervening three years were spent back at Cornell.

The big three of college football at that time were Harvard, Princeton and Yale. They soon became painfully aware of this young upstart who knew nothing of lese majesty, and cared less.

Warner's reputation became so great that after the 1914 campaign, the University of Pittsburgh hired him away from Carlisle. He later coached at Stanford and Temple universities, among the big ones. But it is with Carlisle that his name forever will be associated.

Everywhere he went, he produced players of All-America calibre, but possibly the best known of all was Indian Jim Thorpe of Carlisle. Coaching track, baseball and other sports, Warner developed Thorpe as the magnificent star of the Olympic games and was the mentor of Charles (Chief) Bender, noted pitcher for the Philadelphia Athletics.

If Thorpe was the marvelous all-around athlete of the Warner method in the early part of century, Ernie Nevers was his prize pupil when the coach moved to Stanford in 1924.

Warner was loathe to separate these two backfield luminaries as to respective abilities. In early years, he once called Thorpe peerless. Later, he said Nevers was Thorpe's equal. Those close to the famed old coach, however, always felt that Thorpe was his real No. 1 choice.

Because of his clever manipulations, Warner for years was the despair of national football rules-making officials. It seemed that every winter they had to revise the regulations or make new ones to counter Pop Warner's latest discovered loophole.

He did not like the T formation, or the platoon system, either. When the unlimited substitution rule ended platoons in 1953, the old coach's comment was: "Now we will see real football again."

TAKEN BY DEATH—Here is one of the more familiar photos of Glenn S. "Pop" Warner, prominent college football mentor of bygone days who died yesterday at Palo Alto, Calif., at the age of 83.

BOSTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox announced today the recall of 13 minor league players out on option, including first baseman Dick Gernert from Buffalo and southpaw hurler Bill Henry from Charleston.

American Stores Co. Buys 85,000 Tickets For Football Game

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7 (AP) — Villanova College announced today that 85,000 tickets for the Villanova-Mississippi football game Oct. 2 at Municipal Stadium have been purchased by the American Stores Co.

It is believed to be the largest single bloc of tickets purchased by one buyer for one athletic event, and exceeds by 27,000 the number of the tickets bought by the food chain for the Villanova-Georgia game last year that drew a record 98,000 fans. As the largest college football crowd in the East, it was nicknamed the "Supermarket" Bowl.

Spencer S. Heaney, sales manager of the American Stores Co., said the tickets would be distributed to customers.

Heaney said that the 58,000 tickets bought last year were distributed within 3 days. To get a ticket a customer must buy a specified value of merchandise in one of the firm's 300 stores in the Philadelphia area.

Weinmeister Injured In Canadian Game

EDMONTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—Doctors who attended Arnie Weinmeister after he was injured in Monday night's Western Interprovincial Football Union game here estimated today that the tackle will be lost to the British Columbia Lions three to six weeks.

Weinmeister, a National Football League great with the New York Giants before joining the Lions this season, suffered a dislocated shoulder as the Lions lost 12-6 to the Edmonton Eskimos.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Jack L. Warner, Leland Hayward and Ernest Hemingway, miles and miles apart from each other, got together through cable and long distance telephone and arranged for the production of "Old Man and the Sea," Hemingway's classic. Jack is in France, Leland is at Midway for "Mister Roberts," and Hemingway is in Havana.

Published in 1952 in Life magazine and later in book form, "Old Man of the Sea" has become an American classic.

Spencer Tracy, as I told you a long time ago, said he would drop anything to play the fisherman, and when it goes before the cameras he'll be the star. Hayward will produce it for Warner Brothers with the same arrangement he has for "Mister Roberts."

Audie Murphy, our most decorated war hero, is trying hard to work out his marital problems with Pamela Archer. He admits he is difficult to live with, and he takes all the blame for their troubles. But Audie loves his wife and their two children, aged 3 years and 6 months.

He's getting ready to start "To Hell and Back" next Friday. He is being given an excellent cast, including Marshall Thompson, who has been in New York on the stage for some time. Because of Audie's excellent war record, the government has given permission to shoot the picture at Fort Lewis.

The acting talent among John Wayne's children belongs to Pat, John's 14-year-old son. Pat flew to Honolulu and then on to Midway to join the John Ford Company of "Mister Roberts." Pat will be gone seven or eight weeks, and he was accompanied by a tutor.

He'll play the role of the young sailor who is slapped around by Henry Fonda. If you saw the play you will remember.

This is the second John Ford picture in which Pat has had a good part. He was in "The Long Grey Line" with Tyrone Power. According to Ford, young Wayne is a natural born actor, but the interesting thing is Pat has always wanted to become a priest.

It's part sentiment and partly a yen to go fishing which took Bob Taylor and his bride, Ursula Thiess, back to Jackson Hole, Wyoming, over the Labor Day weekend.

It's their third anniversary — three months married I mean. Instead of flying to the scene of their wedding, Bob and his bride drove up because they wanted to pull along a new motor boat for Bob to use fishing on Moose Lake.

My day was made happy by the visit of Mrs. Mabel Shaw, editor of the Dixon Telegraph, and her son and daughter-in-law, the George Shaws. Mabel, who is over 80, runs her newspaper and seven other branch publications. She never misses the publishers convention, and she's traveled all over the world.

Recently she bought the Nachusa Hote, one of the landmarks in Illinois. "I've turned it into a motel —a beautiful one," said Mabel. "It was getting a little old." I should think it would. This historic hotel has been standing since the time of Lincoln.

Mabel asked for Ronald Reagan, who shared with me my wonderful Louella Parsons day in Dixon, and for Douglas McLean, whose father was a minister in my home town.

The formal announcement of Grace Kelly's engagement to Oleg Cassini is expected to be made by her mother, Mrs. John Kelly, at Ocean City, New Jersey.

Broderick Crawford is bedded with an infected mastoid at his home, and it's very painful.

Nice to see Lucille and Gene Markey, just back from a wonderful summer in Europe.

Rosalind Russell and Freddie Brisson were early arrivals. Roz is getting her 11-year-old son, Lance, ready to go back to New York to Buckley School. The Brissons are very proud of their boy who has a very high scholastic record.

Sue and Alan Ladd both at the Netcher party and later at dinner at Romanoffs. She told me that her future son-in-law, Richard Anderson, will test for "Hit the Deck."

I was very happy to see Alice and Charlie Correll (Andy of "Amos 'N' Andy"). They were having dinner wtih Father Walsh Murray who is just out of the hospital.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Area Schools Show Increase In Enrollment

Public school children trooped back to classes yesterday for the opening of the new term and from fragmentary reports at a number of schools the enrollment is up only slightly over last year.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, said the expected increase in the county as a whole will probably be three or four per cent. Last year there were approximately 15,800 children in the elementary and high school grades and this year around 16,000 or so are expected.

The schools held only a half-day session yesterday with enrollment of children and other opening term procedures being followed. Another half day will be held today and the regular full day session will begin Thursday.

Three elementary schools in different sections of the city were checked to determine the enrollment trend. The principal at West Side School said that the enrollment there will be just slightly higher with 10 children who are scheduled to enroll in the next few days bringing the total enrollment to 475. The first grade enrollment was 100 as compared to 101 last year, but this may be changed by a few last-minute enrollments.

Johnson Heights had an enrollment of 445 children, which is about the same as last year. The Columbia Street School reported 410 children enrolled for a slight drop from last year. For example, the school had three first grades last year and only two this year.

John Humbird School, in the South End, reported an increased number of children but the first grade had the same number as last year — 62. The total in the school so far is 311 children. Gephart School reports 265 children enrolled with the first grade being about the same size as last year.

Fort Hill High School reported an enrollment of 1,886 as compared to 1,910 last year. School officials said the usual late enrollments the next few days will bring the total near last year's.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Jack L. Warner, Leland Hayward and Ernest Hemingway, miles and miles apart from each other, got together through cable and long distance telephone and arranged for the production of "Old Man and the Sea," Hemingway's classic. Jack is in France, Leland is at Midway for "Mister Roberts," and Hemingway is in Havana.

Published in 1952 in Life magazine and later in book form, "Old Man of the Sea" has become an American classic.

Spencer Tracy, as I told you a long time ago, said he would drop anything to play the fisherman, and when it goes before the cameras he'll be the star. Hayward will produce it for Warner Brothers with the same arrangement he has for "Mister Roberts."

Audie Murphy, our most decorated war hero, is trying hard to work out his marital problems with Pamela Archer. He admits he is difficult to live with, and he takes all the blame for their troubles. But Audie loves his wife and their two children, aged 3 years and 6 months.

He's getting ready to start "To Hell and Back" next Friday. He is being given an excellent cast, including Marshall Thompson, who has been in New York on the stage for some time. Because of Audie's excellent war record, the government has given permission to shoot the picture at Fort Lewis.

The acting talent among John Wayne's children belongs to Pat, John's 14-year-old son. Pat flew to Honolulu and then on to Midway to join the John Ford Company of "Mister Roberts." Pat will be gone seven or eight weeks, and he was accompanied by a tutor.

He'll play the role of the young sailor who is slapped around by Henry Fonda. If you saw the play you will remember.

This is the second John Ford picture in which Pat has had a good part. He was in "The Long Grey Line" with Tyrone Power. According to Ford, young Wayne is a natural born actor, but the interesting thing is Pat has always wanted to become a priest.

It's part sentiment and partly a yen to go fishing which took Bob Taylor and his bride, Ursula Thiess, back to Jackson Hole, Wyoming, over the Labor Day weekend.

It's their third anniversary — three months married I mean. Instead of flying to the scene of their wedding, Bob and his bride drove up because they wanted to pull along a new motor boat for Bob to use fishing on Moose Lake.

My day was made happy by the visit of Mrs. Mabel Shaw, editor of the Dixon Telegraph, and her son and daughter-in-law, the George Shaws. Mabel, who is over 80, runs her newspaper and seven other branch publications. She never misses the publishers convention, and she's traveled all over the world.

Recently she bought the Nachusa Hote, one of the landmarks in Illinois. "I've turned it into a motel —a beautiful one," said Mabel. "It was getting a little old." I should think it would. This historic hotel has been standing since the time of Lincoln.

Mabel asked for Ronald Reagan, who shared with me my wonderful Louella Parsons day in Dixon, and for Douglas McLean, whose father was a minister in my home town.

The formal announcement of Grace Kelly's engagement to Oleg Cassini is expected to be made by her mother, Mrs. John Kelly, at Ocean City, New Jersey.

Broderick Crawford is bedded with an infected mastoid at his home, and it's very painful.

Nice to see Lucille and Gene Markey, just back from a wonderful summer in Europe.

Rosalind Russell and Freddie Brisson were early arrivals. Roz is getting her 11-year-old son, Lance, ready to go back to New York to Buckley School. The Brissons are very proud of their boy who has a very high scholastic record.

Sue and Alan Ladd both at the Netcher party and later at dinner at Romanoffs. She told me that her future son-in-law, Richard Anderson, will test for "Hit the Deck."

I was very happy to see Alice and Charlie Correll (Andy of "Amos 'N' Andy"). They were having dinner wtih Father Walsh Murray who is just out of the hospital.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Area Schools Show Increase In Enrollment

Public school children trooped back to classes yesterday for the opening of the new term and from fragmentary reports at a number of schools the enrollment is up only slightly over last year.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, said the expected increase in the county as a whole will probably be three or four per cent. Last year there were approximately 15,800 children in the elementary and high school grades and this year around 16,000 or so are expected.

The schools held only a half-day session yesterday with enrollment of children and other opening term procedures being followed. Another half day will be held today and the regular full day session will begin Thursday.

Three elementary schools in different sections of the city were checked to determine the enrollment trend. The principal at West Side School said that the enrollment there will be just slightly higher with 10 children who are scheduled to enroll in the next few days bringing the total enrollment to 475. The first grade enrollment was 100 as compared to 101 last year, but this may be changed by a few last-minute enrollments.

Johnson Heights had an enrollment of 445 children, which is about the same as last year. The Columbia Street School reported 410 children enrolled for a slight drop from last year. For example, the school had three first grades last year and only two this year.

John Humbird School, in the South End, reported an increased number of children but the first grade had the same number as last year — 62. The total in the school so far is 311 children. Gephart School reports 265 children enrolled with the first grade being about the same size as last year.

Fort Hill High School reported an enrollment of 1,886 as compared to 1,910 last year. School officials said the usual late enrollments the next few days will bring the total near last year's.

MODERN BIDDING PAYS

THERE has been a pronounced trend in the improvement of bidding methods during the last few years. Undoubtedly the most important has been the growth in use of the "count" method for valuing a hand, whereby an ace counts 4, king 3, queen 2 and jack 1. It is a great help to those people, formerly users of the "honor trick" measure, who had trouble with borderline hands, perhaps barely justifying a certain bid. The next most important trend has been toward the bidding of weaker four-card major suits, so long as they hold a probable No Trump stopper, whereas previously most players required more than a full honor trick at the top in order to consider a four-carder biddable.

	♠ K 9 7 6 ♥ Q J 7 5 ♦ A J 4 ♣ K 4
♠ A 10 ♥ K 8 6 2 ♦ Q 10 9 7 5 ♣ 6 5	N W E S	♠ J 8 2 ♥ A 10 9 4 ♦ 6 3 ♣ Q J 8 7
	♠ Q 5 4 3 ♥ 3 ♦ K 8 2 ♣ A 10 9 3 2

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠

This deal, produced by the shuffle for a duplicate game six years ago, resulted then in a fair number of passouts, since North didn't in some cases find his hand good enough by the honor trick measure. Some opened it, reaching No Trump games which were either made or set, and just a few arrived at 4-Spades, readily makeable and in two cases with an extra trick for top score.

Inserted in a duplicate game recently, it was opened by every North player but one, a virtual beginner. By the count method, it added up to 14, an obligatory opening. Some reached No Trump on it, but more than two-thirds wound up in 4-Spades by either North or South—a nice four-card length opposite four cards. In some cases North's opener was 1-Spade to make heart showing easy if necessary.

This time play was better too, with quite a number scoring the extra trick. In one such case the lead was the diamond 10 to the J. The club K, 4 to the A, ruff of a club, Heart Q sent through to the K, spade A cashed, spade 10 returned to the K, heart 5 ruffed, club 9 ruffed, diamond 4 led to the K, spade Q felling the J, the set-up club 10 cashed and the diamond A brought the declarer through with only two losers, one in each major.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ A 8 7 5 3 2 ♥ A K ♦ A J 9 3 ♣ Q
♠ J 9 6 4 ♥ 10 8 5 2 ♦ Q 10 6 ♣ J 5	N W E S	♠ Q 10 ♥ J 9 4 3 ♦ 8 4 2 ♣ 10 9 7 4
	♠ K ♥ Q 7 6 ♦ K 7 5 ♣ A K 8 6 3 2

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

What principle of bidding, as related to subsequent play, does this hand show clearly?

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

Notes For The Eggheads

There seems to be a small trend I'd like to explore today toward a higher level of culture on radio these days. And what's more important it seems to be paying off. Prime exhibit is "Gunsmoke," (9 p. m. EDT Monday) CBS's highly literate Western radio drama which has been called the "High Noon" of broadcasting.

"Gunsmoke's" plots are characterized by realism, intelligence, and honest characterization. Perhaps its most surprising aspect is that its hero, Marshal Mat Dillon, whose job is to keep order in Dodge City, Kas., is cast in something less than heroic mold — at least not in the tradition of Hopalong Cassidy. Marshal Dillon (William Conrad) is a composite of some of the most famous men of the early West — Wild Bill Hickok, Bat Masterson, Wyatt Earp and the Younger Brothers.

Norman MacDonnell, producer-director of the program, says of him: "He is a lonely, sad, tragic man — a quiet, unhappy, confused marshal. These days, we'd send him to an analyst." Shades of William S. Hart! The gratifying thing about "Gunsmoke," which is as far removed from the average Western as "Dragnet" is from the average cops-and-robbers epics, is that it has attracted a healthy audience and a wealthy sponsor — (Chesterfield). It was fourth in the last Nielsen ratings, which just goes to show that there are more eggheads around than you might suppose.

The local radio scene here in New York hardly rates unqualified endorsement. As one publicist put it, there is hardly a moment in the day or night when at least a dozen New York stations are not playing the top 10 records. But there are some bright spots.

WOR, for instance, has just shelled out more than half a million dollars for transcribed dramatizations of the classics to be used on its "WOR Radio Playhouse" in 1955. This is not high-minded realism, either, but commercial hardheadedness. Tests conducted by the station during last season showed WOR that the classics attract an audience just as big and sometimes bigger than the ones featuring Hollywood names.

Gordon Gray, general manager of WOR, says: "We have had a year to test the pulling and selling power of this format and our new outlay testifies to confidence in this formula. The greater emphasis on classics is a result of our policy of keeping a constant finger on the pulse of the public. Rather than condensing classics into nearly unrecognizable form, as is all too frequently done on television, we are offering full two-and-a-half hour versions of major Shakespeare plays and 26 half-hour chapters of Dickens' 'Barnaby Rudge' and 'Bleak House.'"

WOR plans to air the series half an hour, five times a week, in the daytime (3:55 to 4:25 p. m.) and again at night (10:30) which means 520 half-hours of classical programs over the year.

Another radio show of a high level of maturity is NBC's "Conversation," (7:30 p. m. EDT Sunday) and it has attracted not only a respectable audience but a very devoted one. The letters that have come in are several cuts higher in literacy and intelligence than those that generally greet radio entertainment.

Here are some quotes from them: " 'Conversation' offers us an adult oasis in a desert of noisy programs."

"We again have a program for the thinking group of college graduates."

"Now we're glad we didn't buy a television set."

"Please send me a transcript which I would like to include in a graduate report in the field of psychology that I am writing in my off-hours." That one from a soldier.

"It helps to make up for the intellectual semi-starvation that most of eggheads suffer in the world of so-called reality."

One unexpected result of the "Conversation" program is that it has spurred Norman Dine, who runs Lewis and Conger's famous "Sleep Shop," into creating a "Tete a Tete Bed" which he plans to unveil soon. The "Tete a Tete Bed," says Mr. Dine, who has been crusading these many years now to persuade people to spend more time in bed, is designed to promote cultural exchange.

Well, that's what he says, anyhow.

Pneumonia, Measles, TB Reported Here

The City Health Department report by Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city health officer, showed one case of tuberculosis and one case of measles together with three cases of pneumonia in the city during August.

The Health Department also said the humane officer caught 97 dogs and 90 cats during the month, with only nine dogs reclaimed by their owners.

McCoole Firemen End Fun Fair

McCOOLE — The McCoole Fire Company, at a meeting held Sunday, gave a vote of apreciation to the merchants of the community, including Keyser, and individuals for the fine support given the fire company in its "Fun Fair" held here last week by the firemen.

M. M. Sheetz, chairman of the firemen, said the firemen are fully appreciative of the efforts of citizens to assist, making the "Fun Fair" a big success.

MODERN BIDDING PAYS

THERE has been a pronounced trend in the improvement of bidding methods during the last few years. Undoubtedly the most important has been the growth in use of the "count" method for valuing a hand, whereby an ace counts 4, king 3, queen 2 and jack 1. It is a great help to those people, formerly users of the "honor trick" measure, who had trouble with borderline hands, perhaps barely justifying a certain bid. The next most important trend has been toward the bidding of weaker four-card major suits, so long as they hold a probable No Trump stopper, whereas previously most players required more than a full honor trick at the top in order to consider a four-carder biddable.

	♠ K 9 7 6 ♥ Q J 7 5 ♦ A J 4 ♣ K 4
♠ A 10 ♥ K 8 6 2 ♦ Q 10 9 7 5 ♣ 6 5	N W E S	♠ J 8 2 ♥ A 10 9 4 ♦ 6 3 ♣ Q J 8 7
	♠ Q 5 4 3 ♥ 3 ♦ K 8 2 ♣ A 10 9 3 2

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠

This deal, produced by the shuffle for a duplicate game six years ago, resulted then in a fair number of passouts, since North didn't in some cases find his hand good enough by the honor trick measure. Some opened it, reaching No Trump games which were either made or set, and just a few arrived at 4-Spades, readily makeable and in two cases with an extra trick for top score.

Inserted in a duplicate game recently, it was opened by every North player but one, a virtual beginner. By the count method, it added up to 14, an obligatory opening. Some reached No Trump on it, but more than two-thirds wound up in 4-Spades by either North or South—a nice four-card length opposite four cards. In some cases North's opener was 1-Spade to make heart showing easy if necessary.

This time play was better too, with quite a number scoring the extra trick. In one such case the lead was the diamond 10 to the J. The club K, 4 to the A, ruff of a club, Heart Q sent through to the K, spade A cashed, spade 10 returned to the K, heart 5 ruffed, club 9 ruffed, diamond 4 led to the K, spade Q felling the J, the set-up club 10 cashed and the diamond A brought the declarer through with only two losers, one in each major.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ A 8 7 5 3 2 ♥ A K ♦ A J 9 3 ♣ Q
♠ J 9 6 4 ♥ 10 8 5 2 ♦ Q 10 6 ♣ J 5	N W E S	♠ Q 10 ♥ J 9 4 3 ♦ 8 4 2 ♣ 10 9 7 4
	♠ K ♥ Q 7 6 ♦ K 7 5 ♣ A K 8 6 3 2

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

What principle of bidding, as related to subsequent play, does this hand show clearly?

Radio, heater, overdrive, tinted glass etc. Unusually low mileage. Former local owner really babied this sky blue beauty. It's sensational. Better hurry.

1953 Ford Customline V-8
Immaculate throughout. Drop in and look this 4-door, 2 tone beauty over. Has Fordamatic transmission, radio, heater and extremely low mileage. Hurry. It's really a wonderful buy.

This is for you! A better-than-average truck with 2-speed rear axle. The condition of the body is excellent and the motor is even better. For a workhorse don't miss it! And when you buy a used truck you want good rubber — this one has it with dual wheels. In fact, we feel there is no better truck at the price in this territory.

This is for you! A better-than-average truck with 2-speed rear axle. The condition of the body is excellent and the motor is even better. For a workhorse don't miss it! And when you buy a used truck you want good rubber — this one has it with dual wheels. In fact, we feel there is no better truck at the price in this territory.

Located 207-209 Mary St., in the development where Cumberland did it's best Street planning. Principally a home owning section where much pride is taken in the tidying-up, planting of flowers and vegetable gardens, thus creating a real home atmosphere. Modern type of construction is in evidence. *It would take at least twice the selling price of $9850 to build this property today.

Rec Director Will Be Given Wage Boost

The Mayor and Council, with Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz dissenting, voted a salary increase for Robert E. Pence, city recreation director, at a meeting yesterday morning in City Hall.

Pence is a contract employe with the city in a similar status with Charles F. Owens, city smoke inspector, and George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company.

The city recreation director's annual pay has been boosted by this action of the council from $5,250 to $5,520.

Commissioner Buchholtz explained he felt Pence was doing an excellent job.

But he added that he could not support the order as it is singling out one person from the other city employes who requested pay increases.

In other financial matters, the request from the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association for a donation for its annual dance was referred to Finance Commissioner John J. Long for consideration and a report at the next meeting.

Three city owned lots, No. 60, 61 and 62 in the Camp Hill Addition on Niagara Street near Allegany High School, were appraised at $365.

Charles Steiner, of this city, had bid $150 for the three of them. The city held up acceptance of this bid pending an appraisal by Howard M. Spiker, local realtor.

Spiker's appraisal was reported yesterday morning and the council put a $365 price tag on the lots.

Sales Increasing

KEYSER—Keyser city parking meters accounted for a collection of $276.11, reported to the city clerk for the past week, ending Saturday. The previous week's collection amounted to $254.15. The collections for last week were the largest since the week of May 3 through May 8.

McKeldin Catches 65-Pound Marlin

OCEAN CITY, Md., Sept. 7 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin hooked and landed a 65-pound marlin today while on a fishing trip aboard the yacht Anne about 25 miles south of Ocean City.

The marlin was hauled in after a 25-minute battle. It was the governor's third attempt for a marlin, two previous trips resulting in not a strike. A third trip previously was rained out.

The Anne was piloted by William J. Ahtes, an Ocean City and Salisbury restaurant operator. Others in the party were Pat Roche of Baltimore, Ed McPhee of Annapolis, Avery W. Hall of Salisbury, a former member of the State Roads Commission, and Editor Oscar L. Morris of the Salisbury Times.

Men Convicted For Illegal Sale

Two unlicensed alcoholic beverage sellers were put out of business by two city detectives aided by another man when the pair was tried in Police Court yesterday morning.

Found guilty of selling alcoholic beverages without licenses were Alfred S. Tingle, 118 South Lee Street, and Walter Younger, 1014 Rolling Mill Place.

They were given their choice by Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason of $100 fine each or 30 days in jail.

Younger paid the fine, while Tingle was placed in jail when he could not pay the $100.

They were arrested on Sunday, August 29, by City Detectives Joseph Stitcher and Donald Smith.

Detectives Stitcher and Smith testified Alonzo Johnson, this city, bought a pint of wine for one dollar from Tingle at his home on South Lee Street and a half-pint of whisky from Younger for 1.75 on Wineow Street. Johnson testified as to the purchases.

Tingle and Younger both denied making the sales, and Tingle even denied seeing Johnson on the early morning of August 29.

But Mrs. Tingle was called as a witness and she related the damaging testimony that she had allowed Johnson to come into their house and see her husband.

Market Advances With Key Sections Strong And Active

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Key sections of the Stock Market were strong and active today, but the list as a whole was moderately higher.

The steels, aircrafts, and coppers were sharply higher, and many individual stocks made excellent progress, but the railroads were laggard and other major divisions were quietly mixed.

Gains of between 1 and 3 points were frequent, and some went beyond that in a few instances. Losses sometimes got to around a point, but they weren't concentrated.

Business generated by the recovery, however, has continued to remain low, and this development dampened bullish enthusiasm.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 50 cents at $131.90. It was up 90 cents on Friday. At its present level, the average is only $3.00 under the high of the year established Aug. 20. That was the best level in nearly 25 years.

The boost in the average today was accomplished mainly by the $1.40 increase in the industrial component. The railroads lost 10 cents while the utilities were up 10 cents.

The list remained narrow at 1,119 individual issues, ten more than Friday. Of these, 562 advanced and 299 declined. Fifty stocks hit new highs for the year and four touched new lows during the day.

Volume amounted to only 1,860,000 shares. That compares with 1,630,000 shares traded Friday. Both are considerably below the daily average so far this year.

County Board Plans To Meet With Delegates

Session Arranged For September 17

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has invited Charles M. See and other members of the county delegation to the General Assembly to meet with the board Friday, September 17, to discuss legislation of importance to the county.

Several of the bills being considered by the Legislative Council pertain to Allegany County and these, along with other matters such as county home rule will be discussed at the session.

The letter to See, who is chairman of the county delegation, states that the county commissioners will be faced with "certain serious financial and administrative problems" in 1955 and these are proper subjects of discussion with the county delegates.

Revenue Loss Cited

The financial situation referred to in the letter is the county's loss of at least $10,000,000 taxable basis resulting from two bills passed in the last Legislature, according to William H. Lemmert, board president.

These two bills cut the inventory tax on manufacturing plants and business houses and also a bill on tax exemptions for plant additions which had a retroactive clause.

Chairman See telephoned Lemmert yesterday to say that he would appear at the meeting of the board this coming Friday to discuss the matter in general and make plans for the September 17 session.

Lemmert's letter to See said "we are fully aware that any legislative program discussed by the present board with the present county delegation will necessarily be subject to the results of the election in November".

Proper For Discussion

"We do feel", Lemmert said, "that the problems we are now facing will be problems for the new board of county commissioners and likewise proper subjects for discussion with the county delegates regardless of who represents either group."

"In the past we have never formulated and presented to the delegation a legislative program. Our discussions with the delegation have been limited in most cases to a single meeting immediately prior to the opening of the Legislature," Lemmert stated.

The plan being considered by the county board is to meet on individual problems each week with the delegates over a period of time. Copies of the positions taken by the county commissioners would then be sent to each delegate and the state senator so that they could be studied long before the 1955 session of the General Assembly.

Rec Director Will Be Given Wage Boost

The Mayor and Council, with Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz dissenting, voted a salary increase for Robert E. Pence, city recreation director, at a meeting yesterday morning in City Hall.

Pence is a contract employe with the city in a similar status with Charles F. Owens, city smoke inspector, and George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company.

The city recreation director's annual pay has been boosted by this action of the council from $5,250 to $5,520.

Commissioner Buchholtz explained he felt Pence was doing an excellent job.

But he added that he could not support the order as it is singling out one person from the other city employes who requested pay increases.

In other financial matters, the request from the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association for a donation for its annual dance was referred to Finance Commissioner John J. Long for consideration and a report at the next meeting.

Three city owned lots, No. 60, 61 and 62 in the Camp Hill Addition on Niagara Street near Allegany High School, were appraised at $365.

Charles Steiner, of this city, had bid $150 for the three of them. The city held up acceptance of this bid pending an appraisal by Howard M. Spiker, local realtor.

Spiker's appraisal was reported yesterday morning and the council put a $365 price tag on the lots.

Sales Increasing

KEYSER—Keyser city parking meters accounted for a collection of $276.11, reported to the city clerk for the past week, ending Saturday. The previous week's collection amounted to $254.15. The collections for last week were the largest since the week of May 3 through May 8.

McKeldin Catches 65-Pound Marlin

OCEAN CITY, Md., Sept. 7 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin hooked and landed a 65-pound marlin today while on a fishing trip aboard the yacht Anne about 25 miles south of Ocean City.

The marlin was hauled in after a 25-minute battle. It was the governor's third attempt for a marlin, two previous trips resulting in not a strike. A third trip previously was rained out.

The Anne was piloted by William J. Ahtes, an Ocean City and Salisbury restaurant operator. Others in the party were Pat Roche of Baltimore, Ed McPhee of Annapolis, Avery W. Hall of Salisbury, a former member of the State Roads Commission, and Editor Oscar L. Morris of the Salisbury Times.

Men Convicted For Illegal Sale

Two unlicensed alcoholic beverage sellers were put out of business by two city detectives aided by another man when the pair was tried in Police Court yesterday morning.

Found guilty of selling alcoholic beverages without licenses were Alfred S. Tingle, 118 South Lee Street, and Walter Younger, 1014 Rolling Mill Place.

They were given their choice by Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason of $100 fine each or 30 days in jail.

Younger paid the fine, while Tingle was placed in jail when he could not pay the $100.

They were arrested on Sunday, August 29, by City Detectives Joseph Stitcher and Donald Smith.

Detectives Stitcher and Smith testified Alonzo Johnson, this city, bought a pint of wine for one dollar from Tingle at his home on South Lee Street and a half-pint of whisky from Younger for 1.75 on Wineow Street. Johnson testified as to the purchases.

Tingle and Younger both denied making the sales, and Tingle even denied seeing Johnson on the early morning of August 29.

But Mrs. Tingle was called as a witness and she related the damaging testimony that she had allowed Johnson to come into their house and see her husband.

Market Advances With Key Sections Strong And Active

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Key sections of the Stock Market were strong and active today, but the list as a whole was moderately higher.

The steels, aircrafts, and coppers were sharply higher, and many individual stocks made excellent progress, but the railroads were laggard and other major divisions were quietly mixed.

Gains of between 1 and 3 points were frequent, and some went beyond that in a few instances. Losses sometimes got to around a point, but they weren't concentrated.

Today marked the fourth straight advance for the market since its sharp break last week.

Business generated by the recovery, however, has continued to remain low, and this development dampened bullish enthusiasm.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 50 cents at $131.90. It was up 90 cents on Friday. At its present level, the average is only $3.00 under the high of the year established Aug. 20. That was the best level in nearly 25 years.

The boost in the average today was accomplished mainly by the $1.40 increase in the industrial component. The railroads lost 10 cents while the utilities were up 10 cents.

The list remained narrow at 1,119 individual issues, ten more than Friday. Of these, 562 advanced and 299 declined. Fifty stocks hit new highs for the year and four touched new lows during the day.

Volume amounted to only 1,860,000 shares. That compares with 1,630,000 shares traded Friday. Both are considerably below the daily average so far this year.

County Board Plans To Meet With Delegates

Session Arranged For September 17

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has invited Charles M. See and other members of the county delegation to the General Assembly to meet with the board Friday, September 17, to discuss legislation of importance to the county.

Several of the bills being considered by the Legislative Council pertain to Allegany County and these, along with other matters such as county home rule will be discussed at the session.

The letter to See, who is chairman of the county delegation, states that the county commissioners will be faced with "certain serious financial and administrative problems" in 1955 and these are proper subjects of discussion with the county delegates.

Revenue Loss Cited

The financial situation referred to in the letter is the county's loss of at least $10,000,000 taxable basis resulting from two bills passed in the last Legislature, according to William H. Lemmert, board president.

These two bills cut the inventory tax on manufacturing plants and business houses and also a bill on tax exemptions for plant additions which had a retroactive clause.

Chairman See telephoned Lemmert yesterday to say that he would appear at the meeting of the board this coming Friday to discuss the matter in general and make plans for the September 17 session.

Lemmert's letter to See said "we are fully aware that any legislative program discussed by the present board with the present county delegation will necessarily be subject to the results of the election in November".

Proper For Discussion

"We do feel", Lemmert said, "that the problems we are now facing will be problems for the new board of county commissioners and likewise proper subjects for discussion with the county delegates regardless of who represents either group."

"In the past we have never formulated and presented to the delegation a legislative program. Our discussions with the delegation have been limited in most cases to a single meeting immediately prior to the opening of the Legislature," Lemmert stated.

The plan being considered by the county board is to meet on individual problems each week with the delegates over a period of time. Copies of the positions taken by the county commissioners would then be sent to each delegate and the state senator so that they could be studied long before the 1955 session of the General Assembly.

City Will Ask Bids On Sewage Treatment Plant

Estimates Will Be Opened In December

The Mayor and Council yesterday authorized William H. Buchholtz, commissioner of streets and public property, to advertise for bids for the construction of a sewage treatment plant for this city.

The project, estimated to cost about $2,000,000, will include the installation of interceptor sewers linking the city's sanitary sewer system to the plant, and the construction of pumping facilities, where needed.

The plant will provide primary treatment of sewage and will be located on a city-owned site near the southeast end of Offutt Street in South Cumberland.

Bids for the construction will be received during December, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

Construction of the plant will be expedited since present Potomac River water would constitute a health hazard to workers of the $34,000,000 plant which Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company will build at North Branch.

Several months ago, engineers for the glass firm studied and approved the plans which were prepared for the city by Robert T. Regester, Baltimore, consulting engineer for the city.

Officials said delaying the time for submission of bids until December will allow adequate time for all interested construction companies to bid on the project.

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners recently met with the Mayor and Council to discuss plans for providing the sewage treatment facility and assured the city it will go along with any financial aid possible under the law if actual construction costs exceed $1,750,000.

Area MDAA Chapter Will Get Charter

The Allegany - Garrett County chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America will be chartered at a meeting today at 8 p.m. in the Siesta room of Central YMCA.

Charles M. See, president, said the charter for the newly organized chapter arrived yesterday and will be officially installed at tonight's session.

Business will include plans for area activities of the chapter and Western Maryland participation in the MDAA fund drive planned during November.

The Allegany - Garrett chapter was formed here several weeks ago by civic leaders at the urging of Robert Bennett, national representative of the MDAA.

Bennett spoke to a number of civic organizations during his visit to Cumberland late in July.

Salvation Army Needs Pianos, Fruit Jars

A call for several pianos and idle fruit jars was issued yesterday by the Salvation Army Citadel.

Capt. Daniel K. Biggs, commander, said three pianos are needed by the Salvation Army for its program, and that up to two dozen requests have been made for glass jars to be used for preserving food now in season.

He said the Citadel will pick up the needed articles.

Junior Firemen To Hold Fun Festival

The Short Gap Junior Firemen, composed of boys from 8 to 15 years of age, are sponsoring a Fun Festival Thursday, Friday and Saturday, at the fire hall, beginning at 5 p. m.

Proceeds are to purchase uniforms.

Union Meeting Set

The Executive Board of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union (CIO), will meet Thursday at 7 p. m. in the union hall.

Riveters Take Over Bridge Job

Riveting crews were busy yesterday on the new Valley Street Bridge which is being built in connection with the $18,000,000 Flood Protection program. When cross bridging is riveted to the huge girders to form the skeleton of the span, the American Bridge Company crews will move on to Riverside Park and begin the installation of the superstructure of the new bridge between Cumberland and Ridgeley. The bridge is seen as it appears from North Mechanic Street looking toward Wallace Street.

Social Security Broadened For Farmers And Domestics

Ministers, State And Local Public Employes Now Covered Under Law

Editor's Note—This is the second of a series of articles designed to detail the changes in the new Social Security bill, signed into law this month by President Eisenhower. Nine out of ten families in the area are affected, and this series is intended to inform our readers of their benefits and coverage under the law.

The largest group of gainfully employed people in the nation not heretofore covered by Social Security has now been brought in, according to James E. Robertson, district manager of the local Social Security office in the Post Office building.

This largest group is represented by 3,600,000 self-employed farm operators, Robertson noted.

Commencing January 1, 1955, these farm operators will be covered on the same terms as other self-employed people, except for a special provision which simplifies the reporting procedure for farm operators with low annual incomes.

Abolishing the old requirement that farm workers be regularly employed by one employer means that over two million additional farm employes will have Social Security protection for themselves and their families. The new provision simply requires that the farm hand be paid $100 cash wages in a calendar year by one employer, in order to be covered by Social Security and subject to the payment of taxes.

About 200,000 more domestic employes in private households will be covered by the law because of the removal of the former requirement that the domestic employe work 24 days in each calendar quarter in any one household. The requirement now is the payment of only $50 cash wages by one household employer in a calendar quarter.

About 3,500,000 employes of state and local governments, excluded up to now because they are under a retirement system, may now be brought under Social Security subject to a referendum.

Ministers, whether employed or self-employed, may come under the law as if they were self-employed persons. Included in this provision are Christian Science practitioners.

Other self-employed groups to be covered by Social Security as of January 1, 1955, are professional engineers, accountants, architects, and funeral directors.

Immediately effective is the increase in monthly payments to persons now getting benefits. These increases will show on the September checks which will be mailed early in October.

The present minimum payment of $25 to a retired worker has been raised to $30; the maximum of $85 has been increased to $98.50. Dependents and survivors now getting monthly benefits will get proportionate increases, with every family unit assured an increase of at least $5. The maximum family payment has been raised from $168.75 to $200.

Persons now receiving monthly payments do not have to take any action to get these increases, Robertson declared. They will be made automatically, and do not have to be applied for, he said.

Attendance At Fair Soars To 191,987

TIMONIUM, Md., Sept 7 (AP) — Attendance at the Maryland State Fair failed to break a record today for the first time since the annual exposition opened a week ago.

Some 14,944 persons braved a wilting heat to attend Grange and Homemakers Day and take in the races and the sights of the midway. Last year 16,236 were on hand. Every other day so far, crowds have been larger—often substantially—than on the same day last year or in previous years.

Total attendance so far is 191,987; last year's equivalent figure was 154,945.

Old Glory Flies Over City Hall

Old Glory will fly from the top of City Hall, according to William H. Buchholtz, commissioner of streets and public property.

He said the flagpole on top of the city building has been put in top condition and that the American Flag will be flown there in the regulation manner.

Central Fire Department, he added, will raise the flag at sunrise and lower it each day at sunset.

The commissioner said the flag which has been flown from the Liberty Street side of City Hall will also be displayed on special occasions.

Seven Navy Recruits Home On Furloughs

Seven area men who enlisted in the United States Navy here on June 8, have completed their boot training at Bainbridge and are now home on two weeks leaves, before reporting for permanent station assignments.

The group includes, John Russell Saville, Moorefield; Clifford William Gordon, Corriganville; Charles Luther Brown, 29 Lamont Street; George Thomas Gross, 503 Springdale Street; Frederick Ralph Hillagas, 38 Mary Street; Jackie Gleno Rawlings, Jane Frazier Village, and Robert Joseph Durst, Bedford Road.

Salvation Army Fund Campaign Is Progressing

Advanced Gifts Division Busy

The final report meeting of the Advanced Gifts Division and the kick-off of the Classified Section of the Salvation Army's fund raising campaign, will be held Friday at 6:30 p. m. on the third floor of the Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street.

Earl E. Manges, general chairman, said yesterday the Classified organization will be completed by the time of the kick-off dinner and only a few more volunteer workers are needed to round out the organization.

Paul D. Pickens, chairman of the Advanced Gifts Group said most of his workers have been diligently busy, and some have made very favorable reports. The long week-end holiday impaired activity somewhat, he noted, but by the time of the windup session for this group, it is hoped to have the job completed.

Manges noted that the Salvation Army needs $25,273 to operate its services and physical properties during 1955. From this sum, the Citadel Corps, the Red Shield Club for Boys, the Welfare Office, the South Cumberland Corps, the South Cumberland Recreational Center, and all the many and varied humane services of the organization must be financed.

The Salvation Army is a spiritual, service and relief organization, and has always maintained an important place in the life of this community, and in every community where it operates, Manges noted. To continue its social, spiritual, educational and general welfare work, the Salvation Army must have a little help from every citizen, he concluded.

Capt. Daniel Biggs, commander of the corps for Allegany County, said campaign headquarters is open at 125 North Mechanic Street, and volunteers there are doing an excellent job getting the county-wide campaign in shape.

Conference Held On Bus Problems

The operation of this city's bus service was discussed at a meeting of the Mayor and Council with Guy M. Davis, president of the Cumberland Transit Lines, yesterday morning.

Davis reported the school bus schedule went into effect yesterday and detailed a number of changes planned on the system.

The meeting was requested by William H. Buchholtz, commissioner of streets and public property, who said he had received a number of complaints about service.

Mercantile Group Names 14 Directors

The Mercantile Bureau of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce has elected 14 new directors to serve for terms of two years. All ballots were returned to the Chamber office on Friday and final tabulation of the results was completed yesterday.

The Mercantile Bureau Board of Directors is made up of 27 members, with elections being held each year. Fourteen are elected one year and 13 the next.

The new directors, listed alphabetically, are W. I. Burton, Edward L. Ewald, Ward N. Hauger, Adolph Hirsch, Mark Lazarus, Joseph H. Love, Woodward D. Pealer, Morton W. Peskin, Simon Rosenbaum, George A. Schwarzenbach, W. Donald Smith, Wilton Syckes, W. D. Timmons and Harry B. Williams.

Holdover directors, whose terms expire next year, are Milton Bernstein, Harry Beneman, John J. Coyle, S. Louis Curl, Lillian Dantzic, Frank A. Martin, Frank L. McCagh, James E. Printy, Carroll B. Pollack, Irwin Pariser, L. V. Shinnamon, F. D. Steiding and John F. Vandergrift.

A meeting of the new board will be held Friday morning for the purpose of organizing and electing officers.

Clarksburg Firm Offers Low Bid

BALTIMORE, Sept. 7 (AP) — The Keeley Construction Co. of Clarksburg, W. Va., was the apparent low bidder at $593,326 today for a major improvement job on U. S. 219 in Garrett County.

The project calls for the widening and surfacing of the road from a point near the Glendale Road 2.44 miles east to Deep Creek Bridge.

The Cumberland Construction Co. of Cumberland was second low bidder at $622,892.70. The highest of four bids received was $769,080.05.

CSMC Unit To Elect

Lurana Veteran Unit, CSMC, will meet today at 8:30 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Lindsal, 34 Boone Street. Business will include the election of officers, according to John G. Burke, corresponding secretary.

Fines Total $896

Arrests made by the Police Department during August brought in fines totaling $896, according to a report to the Mayor and Council yesterday. The Fire Department answered 22 calls, with major damages resulting only from the Fort Cumberland Motor Company fire.

Michigan Is Now Featured In Local Library Exhibit

Beautiful Michigan, variously styled the "Peninsula State," and the "Wolverine State," is the 26th star in the American flag. The state is now featured in the United States exhibit at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

Information compiled by Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, points out that the state was admitted to the Union in 1837, and it derives its name from an Indian word signifying "Great Lake."

The state seal bearing the Latin words "Si Quaeris Peninsulam Amoenam Circumspice"—(If you seek a pleasant peninsula look about you)—is an accurate description of Michigan, whose upper and lower peninsulas stretch along the Great Lakes and divide a great inland sea into Lakes Huron, Michigan, and Superior.

Michigan is 22nd in area among the states with 58,216 square miles. The 1950 census figures of 6,371,766 residents make the Wolverine State seventh in population rank.

Rich Hunting Ground

Before the coming of the white man 300 years ago, Michigan was a rich hunting ground for many Indian tribes, notably the Hurons. Michigan is the land of the mythical Hiawatha and the all-too-real Pontiac. In 1618 the French explorer, Etienne Brule', discovered the Falls of St. Mary's. He was soon followed by traders and trappers. Jean Nicolet came in 1634.

The territory was frequently visited by intrepid missionaries, and the first permanent settlement, Sault Sainte Marie, was established in 1668 by Pere Marquette. In 1701 Antoine Cadillac founded Detroit.

The treaty of 1763 which ended the French and Indian War gave Michigan to the British. This decision was unpopular with the Indians who continued a guerilla warfare for years. After 1783 Michigan became part of the United States. The Stars and Stripes were first raised on Michigan soil by General Anthony Wayne in 1796.

It was noteworthy that Stevens Thomson Mason, first governor of Michigan (1836-1840), was 25 years old when elected to that office and had just passed his 26th birthday when Michigan was admitted to the Union in 1837. Known as the "boy governor" he has become a romantic figure in Michigan history.

The progress of Michigan as a state has been rapid and contin-

Game Violators Heavily Fined In Court Here

Trio Apprehended On Labor Day

Heavy fines were imposed upon three local men yesterday in Trial Magistrate's Court after they were arrested early Monday morning for violations of the Maryland Game Commission laws.

Two of the men, Edward J. George, RFD 2, Williams Road, and Charley R. Piper, Wagoner Road, were committed to the Allegany County Jail in default of the fines, while the other man, Wesley James Lambert, 10 Utah Avenue, paid the fines and costs.

The trio was apprehended at 1:30 a. m. on Labor Day by Game Warden Joseph J. Keating. They were hunting on a farm on Wagoner Road.

All three were charged with hunting without licenses and spotlighting for deer with firearms in their possession. George and Lambert were also charged with having loaded shotguns in their automobile and Piper with having a loaded rifle in his car.

The men were fined $20 on the license charge, $25 for having the loaded firearms in their car, and $100 for deer hunting with spotlights.

The sentences of George and Piper total 105 days each.

The men all pleaded not guilty to the license and spotlight charges, while entering guilty pleas to the charge of having loaded firearms in their car.

Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason, who heard the case, returned a verdict of guilty on all of the charges.

Egg Hatchability Will Be Topic Of Poultry Meeting

Seek Encouragement Of State Industry

"Anything that can be done to help Maryland hatcherymen is a help to the State's poultry industry," says Wade H. Rice, University of Maryland extension poultryman. "It is for this reason that we have scheduled a hatcherymen's meeting as part of the Maryland Poultry Day program on September 15."

One of the speakers on this program is Dr. W. M. Insko, head of the University of Kentucky poultry department. He will discuss a subject of interest to every hatchery operator: how to improve hatchability of eggs through improved hatchery management.

"No Maryland hatchery operator should miss the opportunity of placing his problems before Dr. Insko," Rice says.

Since adequate supplie of good quality hatching eggs is a constant problem to all hatchery operators, another outstanding speaker has been secured to speak on this subject. He is Hollis Shomo, supervisor of the National Poultry Improvement Plan in Virginia. "Shomo is noted for his accomplishments in developing an effective program for Virginia hatcherymen to secure supplies of good hatching eggs the year round," Rice informs, "and he will discuss how this can be done by Maryland hatcherymen."

Dr. R. J. Price of Lederle Laboratories has been scheduled to speak on the common respiratory diseases which plague young and growing chickens. He will give particular attention to two questions constantly asked by hatcherymen: (1) Is mass vaccination of baby chicks to secure immunity to these diseases practical at this time? (2) What are the chances of spread of infection in the hatchery through mass vaccination of chicks?

Rice reminds local hatcherymen that Maryland is one of four states in the country which has no organization of its hatchery operators. He adds that the hatcherymens meeting will include a discussion on whether a hatchery association can fill a need in Maryland's poultry industry, and if interest and leadership is available and adequate at this time for such an organization of hatcherymen.

Leading this discussion will be Don Turnbull, executive secretary of the American Poultry and Hatchery Federation, Kansas City, Mo. Several leading Maryland hatcherymen are also oging to take part in the discussion.

"This is a rare opportunity for Maryland hatcherymen to get their problems before some of the nation's foremost authorities," Rice adivses. "They shouldn't miss it."

The hatcherymens program starts at 1 p. m. and runs for about three hours.

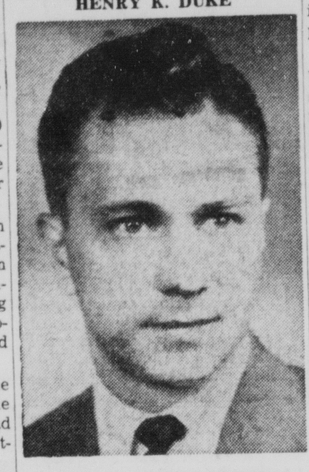
Spinning Arbitration Case Resumes Thursday

Hearings on an arbitration case involving work assignments in the Spinning Department at the Amcelle plant will be resumed Thursday at 9:30 a. m. in the Court House.

Sidney Wolff, New York City, opened hearings on the case here June 23.

The case involves a dispute between Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), and the Celanese Corporation of America on work assignments of jet wipers and floaters employed in the Spinning Department.

HENRY K. DUKE



WOODWARD D. PEALER

Businessmen To Head Sales Army Of Chest

Campaign Director Arrives In City

Henry K. Duke and Woodward D. Pealer have been named co-chairmen of the Sales Army for the 1954-55 Cumberland Community Chest campaign, it was announced yesterday.

Duke, manager of the Mutual Insurance Agency and Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company here, and Pealer, manager of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company Retail Store, will head the group that solicits campaign contributions from businesses and firms which employ fewer than eight persons.

Teams have also been appointed to help conduct the work of this important group. Heading these teams will be William E. Lawyer, Willis V. Smith, H. D. Barber, Kenton Farrell, Howard Buchanan, Carl Bachman, Glenn K. Davis, Ernest B. Treat, John Weber, Robert M. King and Robert E. Stallings.

The Sales Army has planned several meetings for the purpose of setting plans for the forthcoming fund drive. The goal for the 1954-55 chest campaign has been set at $97,999.23.

Yesterday the chest opened its campaign headquarters in Room 3 of the County Building on Union Street. The telephone number there is 3939.

Philip Miller of Aderton-Trostle Associates, Harrisburg, Pa., arrived in Cumberland yesterday to assume his duties as director of the chest campaign. William R. Carscaden, local attorney, will serve as general chairman of the campaign, which is expected to get under way early in October.

Carscaden will conduct training sessions this year which will be attended by members of the various chest committees and representatives of the chest agencies. Miller will assist the general chairman in holding these sessions.

Five County Men Enlist In Navy

Five men enlisted in the United States Navy and have been sent to Bainbridge for boot training.

The enlistees include James Ishmael Filer, RFD 2; Bousson Andrew Holsinger, RFD 2; Jack Gnagy Ewing, 108 Wood Street; and Francis Dale Smith, 41 Mill Street, all of Frostburg; and Arthur Edward Scarpelli, Eckhart.

All but Scarpelli enlisted for four years each, while his is a minority enlistment, according to Navy Recruiter, Chief E. J. Carey.

Barton Firemen Plan Carnival Parade Tonight

$100 In Prizes To Be Awarded

Prizes totaling $100 will be awarded tonight by Barton Hose Company for participation in the parade planned in connection with a week-long Firemen's Carnival.

The parade will form at 7 p. m. at Barton School and will move off at 7:30 p. m. on a route leading to the carnival on the lot adjoining the firemen's armory.

Dance Is Planned

Prizes will include $20 for the best appearing band, $10 for the second best appearing band, $20 for the best appearing drum and bugle corps, $20 for the best appearing fire company and $10 for the one with the most men, $10 for the best appearing ladies auxiliary unit, a like amount for the largest auxiliary unit, and $10 for the ladies unit with the most members.

Judges will be Rev. Elwood Carey, pastor of Barton Presbyterian Church; Rev. Byron Keesecker, pastor of Barton Methodist Church, and Harry Skelley.

Ernest Poland and David E. Kirk will be parade marshals.

A dance will be held at the firemen's armory following the parade.

Music for the parade will be furnished by Kelly-Mansfield Drum and Bugle Corps, of Piedmont; the Lonaconing City Band and the Barton Citizens Band.

Kiddies To Parade

In the line of march will be fire companies from Fort Ashby, W. Va., LaVale, Frostburg, Corriganville, Westernport, Lonaconing, Ridgeley, W. Va., District 16, Deer Park, Midland, Wiley Ford, W. Va., Grantsville, Bowmans Addition, Cresaptown, Shaft and Short Gap.

The Ladies Auxiliary of District 16 and the Ridgeleyettes will also paritcipate.

Jesse Kimble is general chairman of the carnival which opened yesterday. Events will include a kiddies parade on Friday night.

School Now Underway For Election Officials

Today and tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. a school of instructions for election officials will be held at the Allegany County Court House, according to William A. Wilson, president of the Board of Election Supervisors of the county.

On Friday evening, at the same time, the session will be held at the Bruce High School auditorium in Westernport while on Wednesday, September 15, the session will be held at the auditorium of Central Elementary School in Lonaconing.

In Frostburg, the school will be conducted at the Fire Hall meeting room on September 16. Purpose of the school is to instruct the election officials prior to the November election.

The Weather

The heat wave which has gripped the Cumberland area during the past few days is apparently losing its hold. The high official temperature in the city yesterday reached 91, compared to 96 the previous two days. The low was 62 and the relative humidity at 6 p. m. registered 60 per cent. Today's forecast is further indication that the hot spell, probably the last one of the summer season, is over. The weatherman says it will be partly cloudy and not as warm, with a chance of scattered thundershowers. The high temperature is expected to be in the 80s.

Miller Is Improved

The condition of Sanford Miller, 40, of 707 Columbia Avenue, was reported as somewhat "improved" last night by attaches of Memorial Hospital. Miller was admitted to the hospital Friday in critical condition after the truck he was driving was struck by a car driven by Richard O. Valentine, who was killed instantly.

Major Elmer Wall Assigned To Richmond Salvation Army

Former Commander Here Is Promoted

Senior Major Elmer Wall, who commanded the Salvation Army here for several years, has been appointed city commander of the organization in Richmond, Va., and assumed his duties there over the weekend.

Major and Mrs. Wall, who left here in February 1953, are now residing at 3208 Third Avenue in Richmond. He succeeds Senior Major Harmon B. Anderson who was transferred to Mobile, Ala. Major Wall conducted his first service in Richmond Sunday night at the Dunstant Memorial Citadel and spoke on the subject, "We Have Not Passed This Way Before."

Major Wall, a native of Tamaqua, Pa., has been a Salvation Army officer 33 years. Mrs. Wall, who was Lieutenant Edna Thompson, of Alexandria, was one of his classmates.

Former Cumberlander Named Swift & Co. Branch Manager

C. W. Whetzel has been appointed manager of Swift & Company's Sales Unit here, according to F. J. Townley, general sales manager in Chicago.

The assignment here is a homecoming for Whetzel who is a native of Cumberland. He first started to work for Swift at Clarksburg, W. Va., as a student salesman in 1933. Subsequent to that, he was assigned in Wheeling, W. Va., and the company's district office in Pittsburgh. He also worked at Swift units in Erie, Pa., and Norton, Va. His most recent assignment was as manager at Clarksburg, W. Va.

Mrs. Whetzel is the former Helen Conover of Pittsburgh. They have two children, Nancy, 13, and Dean, 10.

Whetzel has assumed his duties as manager of the local branch plant, and succeeds the late Bernard E. Burkey who died last month.

City Will Ask Bids On Sewage Treatment Plant

Estimates Will Be Opened In December

The Mayor and Council yesterday authorized William H. Buchholtz, commissioner of streets and public property, to advertise for bids for the construction of a sewage treatment plant for this city.

The project, estimated to cost about $2,000,000, will include the installation of interceptor sewers linking the city's sanitary sewer system to the plant, and the construction of pumping facilities, where needed.

The plant will provide primary treatment of sewage and will be located on a city-owned site near the southeast end of Offutt Street in South Cumberland.

Bids for the construction will be received during December, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

Construction of the plant will be expedited since present Potomac River water would constitute a health hazard to workers of the $34,000,000 plant which Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company will build at North Branch.

Several months ago, engineers for the glass firm studied and approved the plans which were prepared for the city by Robert T. Regester, Baltimore, consulting engineer for the city.

Officials said delaying the time for submission of bids until December will allow adequate time for all interested construction companies to bid on the project.

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners recently met with the Mayor and Council to discuss plans for providing the sewage treatment facility and assured the city it will go along with any financial aid possible under the law if actual construction costs exceed $1,750,000.

Area MDAA Chapter Will Get Charter

The Allegany-Garrett County chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America will be chartered at a meeting today at 8 p.m. in the Siesta room of Central YMCA.

Charles M. See, president, said the charter for the newly organized chapter arrived yesterday and will be officially installed at tonight's session.

Business will include plans for area activities of the chapter and Western Maryland participation in the MDAA fund drive planned during November.

The Allegany-Garrett chapter was formed here several weeks ago by civic leaders at the urging of Robert Bennett, national representative of the MDAA.

Bennett spoke to a number of civic organizations during his visit to Cumberland late in July.

Salvation Army Needs Pianos, Fruit Jars

A call for several pianos and idle fruit jars was issued yesterday by the Salvation Army Citadel.

Capt. Daniel K. Biggs, commander, said three pianos are needed by the Salvation Army for its program, and that up to two dozen requests have been made for glass jars to be used for preserving food now in season.

He said the Citadel will pick up the needed articles.

Junior Firemen To Hold Fun Festival

The Short Gap Junior Firemen, composed of boys from 8 to 15 years of age, are sponsoring a Fun Festival Thursday, Friday and Saturday, at the fire hall, beginning at 5 p. m.

Proceeds are to purchase uniforms.

Union Meeting Set

The Executive Board of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union (CIO), will meet Thursday at 7 p. m. in the union hall.

Riveters Take Over Bridge Job

Riveting crews were busy yesterday on the new Valley Street Bridge which is being built in connection with the $18,000,000 Flood Protection program. When cross bridging is riveted to the huge girders to form the skeleton of the span, the American Bridge Company crews will move on to Riverside Park and begin the installation of the superstructure of the new bridge between Cumberland and Ridgeley. The bridge is seen as it appears from North Mechanic Street looking toward Wallace Street.

Social Security Broadened For Farmers And Domestics

Ministers, State And Local Public Employes Now Covered Under Law

Editor's Note—This is the second of a series of articles designed to detail the changes in the new Social Security bill, signed into law this month by President Eisenhower. Nine out of ten families in the area are affected, and this series is intended to inform our readers of their benefits and coverage under the law.

The largest group of gainfully employed people in the nation not heretofore covered by Social Security has now been brought in, according to James E. Robertson, district manager of the local Social Security office in the Post Office building.

This largest group is represented by 3,600,000 self-employed farm operators, Robertson noted.

Commencing January 1, 1955, these farm operators will be covered on the same terms as other self-employed people, except for a special provision which simplifies the reporting procedure for farm operators with low annual incomes.

Abolishing the old requirement that farm workers be regularly employed by one employer means that over two million additional farm employes will have Social Security protection for themselves and their families. The new provision simply requires that the farm hand be paid $100 cash wages in a calendar year by one employer, in order to be covered by Social Security and subject to the payment of taxes.

About 200,000 more domestic employes in private households will be covered by the law because of the removal of the former requirement that the domestic employe work 24 days in each calendar quarter in any one household. The requirement now is the payment of only $50 cash wages by one household employer in a calendar quarter.

About 3,500,000 employes of state and local governments, excluded up to now because they are under a retirement system, may now be brought under Social Security subject to a referendum.

Ministers, whether employed or self-employed, may come under the law as if they were self-employed persons. Included in this provision are Christian Science practitioners.

Other self-employed groups to be covered by Social Security as of January 1, 1955, are professional engineers, accountants, architects, and funeral directors.

Immediately effective is the increase in monthly payments to persons now getting benefits. These increases will show on the September checks which will be mailed early in October.

The present minimum payment of $25 to a retired worker has been raised to $30; the maximum of $85 has been increased to $98.50. Dependents and survivors now getting monthly benefits will get proportionate increases, with every family unit assured an increase of at least $5. The maximum family payment has been raised from $168.75 to $200.

Persons now receiving monthly payments do not have to take any action to get these increases, Robertson declared. They will be made automatically, and do not have to be applied for, he said.

Old Glory Flies Over City Hall

Old Glory will fly from the top of City Hall, according to William H. Buchholtz, commissioner of streets and public property.

He said the flagpole on top of the city building has been put in top condition and that the American Flag will be flown there in the regulation manner.

Central Fire Department, he added, will raise the flag at sunrise and lower it each day at sunset.

The commissioner said the flag which has been flown from the Liberty Street side of City Hall will also be displayed on special occasions.

Seven Navy Recruits Home On Furloughs

Seven area men who enlisted in the United States Navy here on June 8, have completed their boot training at Bainbridge and are now home on two weeks leaves, before reporting for permanent station assignments.

The group includes, John Russell Saville, Moorefield; Clifford William Gordon, Corriganville; Charles Luther Brown, 29 Lamont Street; George Thomas Gross, 503 Springdale Street; Frederick Ralph Hillagas, 38 Mary Street; Jackie Gleno Rawlings, Jane Frazier Village, and Robert Joseph Durst, Bedford Road.

Hold Joint Session

The Men's Club of the Hagerstown Salvation Army Corps met here last night with the Cumberland Men's Club.

The get-acquainted session was held at the Citadel, headquarters for the newly organized Salvation Army organization for men.

Attendance At Fair Soars To 191,987

TIMONIUM, Md., Sept 7 (AP) — Attendance at the Maryland State Fair failed to break a record today for the first time since the annual exposition opened a week ago.

Some 14,944 persons braved a wilting heat to attend Grange and Homemakers Day and take in the races and the sights of the midway. Last year 16,236 were on hand. Every other day so far, crowds have been larger—often substantially—than on the same day last year or in previous years.

Total attendance so far is 191,987; last year's equivalent figure was 154,945.

Salvation Army Fund Campaign Is Progressing

Advanced Gifts Division Busy

The final report meeting of the Advanced Gifts Division and the kick-off of the Classified Section of the Salvation Army's fund raising campaign, will be held Friday at 6:30 p. m. on the third floor of the Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street.

Earl E. Manges, general chairman, said yesterday the Classified organization will be completed by the time of the kick-off dinner and only a few more volunteer workers are needed to round out the organization.

Paul D. Pickens, chairman of the Advanced Gifts Group said most of his workers have been diligently busy, and some have made very favorable reports. The long week-end holiday impaired activity somewhat, he noted, but by the time of the windup session for this group, it is hoped to have the job completed.

Manges noted that the Salvation Army needs $25,273 to operate its services and physical properties during 1955. From this sum, the Citadel Corps, the Red Shield Club for Boys, the Welfare Office, the South Cumberland Corps, the South Cumberland Recreational Center, and all the many and varied humane services of the organization must be financed.

The Salvation Army is a spiritual, service and relief organization, and has always maintained an important place in the life of this community, and in every community where it operates, Manges noted. To continue its social, spiritual, educational and general welfare work, the Salvation Army must have a little help from every citizen, he concluded.

Capt. Daniel Biggs, commander of the corps for Allegany County, said campaign headquarters is open at 125 North Mechanic Street, and volunteers there are doing an excellent job getting the county-wide campaign in shape.

Conference Held On Bus Problems

The operation of this city's bus service was discussed at a meeting of the Mayor and Council with Guy M. Davis, president of the Cumberland Transit Lines, yesterday morning.

Davis reported the school bus schedule went into effect yesterday and detailed a number of changes planned on the system.

The meeting was requested by William H. Buchholtz, commissioner of streets and public property, who said he had received a number of complaints about service.

Mercantile Group Names 14 Directors

The Mercantile Bureau of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce has elected 14 new directors to serve for terms of two years. All ballots were returned to the Chamber office on Friday and final tabulation of the results was completed yesterday.

The Mercantile Bureau Board of Directors is made up of 27 members, with elections being held each year. Fourteen are elected one year and 13 the next.

The new directors, listed alphabetically, are W. I. Burton, Edward L. Ewald, Ward N. Hauger, Adolph Hirsch, Mark Lazarus, Joseph H. Love, Woodward D. Pealer, Morton W. Peskin, Simon Rosenbaum, George A. Schwarzenbach, W. Donald Smith, Wilton Syckes, W. D. Timmons and Harry B. Williams.

Holdover directors, whose terms expire next year, are Milton Bernstein, Harry Beneman, John J. Coyle, S. Louis Curl, Lillian Dantzic, Frank A. Martin, Frank L. McCagh, James E. Printy, Carroll B. Pollack, Irwin Pariser, L. V. Shinnamon, F. D. Steiding and John F. Vandergrift.

A meeting of the new board will be held Friday morning for the purpose of organizing and electing officers.

Clarksburg Firm Offers Low Bid

BALTIMORE, Sept. 7 (AP) — The Keeley Construction Co. of Clarksburg, W. Va., was the apparent low bidder at $593,326 today for a major improvement job on U. S. 219 in Garrett County.

The project calls for the widening and surfacing of the road from a point near the Glendale Road 2.44 miles east to Deep Creek Bridge.

The Cumberland Construction Co. of Cumberland was second low bidder at $622,892.70. The highest of four bids received was $769,080.05.

CSMC Unit To Elect

Lurana Veteran Unit, CSMC, will meet today at 8:30 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Lindsal, 34 Boone Street. Business will include the election of officers, according to John G. Burke, corresponding secretary.

Fines Total $896

Arrests made by the Police Department during August brought in fines totaling $896, according to a report to the Mayor and Council yesterday. The Fire Department answered 22 calls, with major damages resulting only from the Fort Cumberland Motor Company fire.

Michigan Is Now Featured In Local Library Exhibit

Beautiful Michigan, variously styled the "Peninsula State," and the "Wolverine State," is the 26th star in the American flag. The state is now featured in the United States exhibit at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

Information compiled by Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, points out that the state was admitted to the Union in 1837, and it derives its name from an Indian word signifying "Great Lake."

The state seal bearing the Latin words "Si Quaeris Peninsulam Amoenam Circumspice"—(If you seek a pleasant peninsula look about you)—is an accurate description of Michigan, whose upper and lower peninsulas stretch along the Great Lakes and divide a great inland sea into Lakes Huron, Michigan, and Superior.

Michigan is 22nd in area among the states with 58,216 square miles. The 1950 census figures of 6,371,766 residents make the Wolverine State seventh in population rank.

Rich Hunting Ground

Before the coming of the white man 300 years ago, Michigan was a rich hunting ground for many Indian tribes, notably the Hurons. Michigan is the land of the mythical Hiawatha and the all-too-real Pontiac. In 1618 the French explorer, Etienne Brule', discovered the Falls of St. Mary's. He was soon followed by traders and trappers. Jean Nicolet came in 1634.

The territory was frequently visited by intrepid missionaries, and the first permanent settlement, Sault Sainte Marie, was established in 1668 by Pere Marquette. In 1701 Antoine Cadillac founded Detroit.

The treaty of 1763 which ended the French and Indian War gave Michigan to the British. This decision was unpopular with the Indians who continued a guerilla warfare for years. After 1783 Michigan became part of the United States. The Stars and Stripes were first raised on Michigan soil by General Anthony Wayne in 1796.

It was noteworthy that Stevens Thomson Mason, first governor of Michigan (1836-1840), was 25 years old when elected to that office and had just passed his 26th birthday when Michigan was admitted to the Union in 1837. Known as the "boy governor" he has become a romantic figure in Michigan history.

The progress of Michigan as a state has been rapid and contin-

Game Violators Heavily Fined In Court Here

Trio Apprehended On Labor Day

Heavy fines were imposed upon three local men yesterday in Trial Magistrate's Court after they were arrested early Monday morning for violations of the Maryland Game Commission laws.

Two of the men, Edward J. George, RFD 2, Williams Road, and Charley R. Piper, Wagoner Road, were committed to the Allegany County Jail in default of the fines, while the other man, Wesley James Lambert, 10 Utah Avenue, paid the fines and costs.

The trio was apprehended at 1:30 a. m. on Labor Day by Game Warden Joseph J. Keating. They were hunting on a farm on Wagoner Road.

All three were charged with hunting without licenses and spotlighting for deer with firearms in their possession. George and Lambert were also charged with having loaded shotguns in their automobile and Piper with having a loaded rifle in his car.

The men were fined $20 on the license charge, $25 for having the loaded firearms in their car, and $100 for deer hunting with spotlights.

The sentences of George and Piper total 105 days each.

The men all pleaded not guilty to the license and spotlight charges, while entering guilty pleas to the charge of having loaded firearms in their car.

Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason, who heard the case, returned a verdict of guilty on all of the charges.

Egg Hatchability Will Be Topic Of Poultry Meeting

Seek Encouragement Of State Industry

"Anything that can be done to help Maryland hatcherymen is a help to the State's poultry industry," says Wade H. Rice, University of Maryland extension poultryman. "It is for this reason that we have scheduled a hatcherymen's meeting as part of the Maryland Poultry Day program on September 15."

One of the speakers on this program is Dr. W. M. Insko, head of the University of Kentucky poultry department. He will discuss a subject of interest to every hatchery operator: how to improve hatchability of eggs through improved hatchery management.

"No Maryland hatchery operator should miss the opportunity of placing his problems before Dr. Insko," Rice says.

Since adequate supplie of good quality hatching eggs is a constant problem to all hatchery operators, another outstanding speaker has been secured to speak on this subject. He is Hollis Shomo, supervisor of the National Poultry Improvement Plan in Virginia. "Shomo is noted for his accomplishments in developing an effective program for Virginia hatcherymen to secure supplies of good hatching eggs the year round," Rice informs, "and he will discuss how this can be done by Maryland hatcherymen."

Dr. R. J. Price of Lederle Laboratories has been scheduled to speak on the common respiratory diseases which plague young and growing chickens. He will give particular attention to two questions constantly asked by hatcherymen: (1) Is mass vaccination of baby chicks to secure immunity to these diseases practical at this time? (2) What are the chances of spread of infection in the hatchery through mass vaccination of chicks?

Rice reminds local hatcherymen that Maryland is one of four states in the country which has no organization of its hatchery operators. He adds that the hatcherymens meeting will include a discussion on whether a hatchery association can fill a need in Maryland's poultry industry, and if interest and leadership is available and adequate at this time for such an organization of hatcherymen.

Leading this discussion will be Don Turnbull, executive secretary of the American Poultry and Hatchery Federation, Kansas City, Mo. Several leading Maryland hatcherymen are also oging to take part in the discussion.

"This is a rare opportunity for Maryland hatcherymen to get their problems before some of the nation's foremost authorities," Rice adivses. "They shouldn't miss it."

The hatcherymens program starts at 1 p. m. and runs for about three hours.

Spinning Arbitration Case Resumes Thursday

Hearings on an arbitration case involving work assignments in the Spinning Department at the Amcelle plant will be resumed Thursday at 9:30 a. m. in the Court House.

Sidney Wolff, New York City, opened hearings on the case here June 23.

The case involves a dispute between Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), and the Celanese Corporation of America on work assignments of jet wipers and floaters employed in the Spinning Department.

HENRY K. DUKE

WOODWARD D. PEALER

Businessmen To Head Sales Army Of Chest

Campaign Director Arrives In City

Henry K. Duke and Woodward D. Pealer have been named co-chairmen of the Sales Army for the 1954-55 Cumberland Community Chest campaign, it was announced yesterday.

Duke, manager of the Mutual Insurance Agency and Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company here, and Pealer, manager of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company Retail Store, will head the group that solicits campaign contributions from businesses and firms which employ fewer than eight persons.

Teams have also been appointed to help conduct the work of this important group. Heading these teams will be William E. Lawyer, Willis V. Smith, H. D. Barber, Kenton Farrell, Howard Buchanan, Carl Bachman, Glenn K. Davis, Ernest B. Treat, John Weber, Robert M. King and Robert E. Stallings.

The Sales Army has planned several meetings for the purpose of setting plans for the forthcoming fund drive. The goal for the 1954-55 chest campaign has been set at $97,999.23.

Yesterday the chest opened its campaign headquarters in Room 3 of the County Building on Union Street. The telephone number there is 3939.

Philip Miller of Aderton-Trostle Associates, Harrisburg, Pa., arrived in Cumberland yesterday to assume his duties as director of the chest campaign. William R. Carscaden, local attorney, will serve as general chairman of the campaign, which is expected to get under way early in October.

Carscaden will conduct training sessions this year which will be attended by members of the various chest committees and representatives of the chest agencies. Miller will assist the general chairman in holding these sessions.

The Ladies Auxiliary of District 16 and the Ridgeleyettes will also paritcipate.

Jesse Kimble is general chairman of the carnival which opened yesterday. Events will include a kiddies parade on Friday night.

School Now Underway For Election Officials

Today and tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. a school of instructions for election officials will be held at the Allegany County Court House, according to William A. Wilson, president of the Board of Election Supervisors of the county.

On Friday evening, at the same time, the session will be held at the Bruce High School auditorium in Westernport while on Wednesday, September 15, the session will be held at the auditorium of Central Elementary School in Lonaconing.

In Frostburg, the school will be conducted at the Fire Hall meeting room on September 16. Purpose of the school is to instruct the election officials prior to the November election.

The Weather

The heat wave which has gripped the Cumberland area during the past few days is apparently losing its hold. The high official temperature in the city yesterday reached 91, compared to 96 the previous two days. The low was 62 and the relative humidity at 6 p. m. registered 60 per cent. Today's forecast is further indication that the hot spell, probably the last one of the summer season, is over. The weatherman says it will be partly cloudy and not as warm, with a chance of scattered thundershowers. The high temperature is expected to be in the 80s.

Miller Is Improved

The condition of Sanford Miller, 40, of 707 Columbia Avenue, was reported as somewhat "improved" last night by attaches of Memorial Hospital. Miller was admitted to the hospital Friday in critical condition after the truck he was driving was struck by a car driven by Richard O. Valentine, who was killed instantly.

Former Cumberlander Named Swift & Co. Branch Manager

C. W. Whetzel has been appointed manager of Swift & Company's Sales Unit here, according to F. J. Townley, general sales manager in Chicago.

The assignment here is a homecoming for Whetzel who is a native of Cumberland. He first started to work for Swift at Clarksburg, W. Va., as a student salesman in 1933. Subsequent to that, he was assigned in Wheeling, W. Va., and the company's district office in Pittsburgh. He also worked at Swift units in Erie, Pa., and Norton, Va. His most recent assignment was as manager at Clarksburg, W. Va.

Mrs. Whetzel is the former Helen Conover of Pittsburgh. They have two children, Nancy, 13, and Dean, 10.

Whetzel has assumed his duties as manager of the local branch plant, and succeeds the late Bernard E. Burkey who died last month.

C. W. WHETZEL
